PHILANTHROPIC PROBLEMS.

Every little while the question of what to do with the poor confronts the thinking members of any large city and as yet remains unanswered or only partially so at best. Those needing assistance can be divided into three classes: those unfortunate ones who owing to sickness or old age are really unable to do anything whatsoever toward their own support; those who are willing to work if the work found is such that would not be considered degrading—a class hard to deal with and whose best remedy will be in the raising of a social and moral standard under which all work shall be, as it is, far less degrading than loafing or begging; and the third class are the tramps and beggars, those wandering, irresponsible, utterly shiftless souls, whose reclaiming is a problem with which college settlements, reform schools and the Salvation Army are all struggling.

With the first class, those who are helpless, the question is not a vexed one, and as the number of these people is happily a small one, its solution is neither a tax on the energies nor the purses of the city. With the second it is more difficult to deal. False ideas have to be uprooted, the word "charity" has to be blotted from sight; the feeling that it is an absolute wrong to accept aid without an adequate return must be instilled. The Associated Charities carry on their work on this plan, and are entirely successful. Money is never given under any circumstances; no meal is allowed, no aid supplied, until some given bit of work is an accomplished fact; wood is sawn, a room cleaned, streets swept, coal put in or something done to create in the breast of the applicant a sense of honest pay honestly and honorably earned. It is with the poor who feel that poverty is a disgrace, that working day by day to keep soul and body together see only the bitter side of life, that the college settlements have been most successful. By their constant showing that clean rooms, whole garments, properly cooked food cost no more than the untidiness supposed to go hand in hand with poverty, they have gained many converts to their belief. Discouragement and lack of appreciation do very much in breaking up the homes and lives of the poor. The charwoman who, after a hard day's work in house or office, receives only her money with no word of greeting or of praise for the order she is leaving behind, will not do her work as well or as heartily the next day as she would if a cheery word of encouragement had accompanied her dollar. No city ever had a better exemplification of what interest and sympathy will do than is daily given by the street cleaning brigade of New York since they have been under the direction of George S. Waring. So delighted were the men with their corps and with their own appearance that they voluntarily contributed $1,600 to the getting up of a parade so that the whole city might see to what and to whom she owed her clean streets. The wages of these men average $2.00 a day. And so with any department of work—if George Herbert's words could be impressed upon every mind,

> "Who sweeps a room as for Thy law > Makes it and the action fine," the solution of the problem would be not far off.

With the third class, the tramp and professional beggar, it is very difficult to deal; indeed, those who have made a study of this branch of the question feel that it is only through the children belonging to these people that anything at all can be done. With the older ones the habits of idleness and the utter freedom from care and responsibility have taken too deep a hold to be loosened. Josiah Flynt, who spent three years with the tramps and beggars that roam from the Atlantic to the Pacific, says it is impossible to reclaim them; "Once a tramp, always a tramp;" but he also says that Canada is considered the poorest "feeding ground" on this continent, which, while it may not elevate the country in the eyes of the tramp, is rather encouraging from another point of view. With the children, however, everything can be done: free kindergartens, manual training schools, fresh air associations supply the needs created by their free upbringing. Of course here, or with any of the classes of the poor, constant watchfulness is necessary to attain satisfactory results. It is useless to give out work unless encouragement and attention go with it. Left to themselves they will fall into the old round of shiftlessness, idleness and discontent. Here it is that the Associated Charities and the college settlements succeed, and here it is that the Salvation Army, with its system of watchfulness and constant attendance, is enabled to do so much good. The idea, then, is to create a healthy desire for work; to systematically put down any attempt at false appearances; to everywhere enforce the idea that good honorable work of any kind is better than half-learned "accomplishments;" that the disgrace is in sitting idly by "while others work for you," not in doing vigorously that which the hand finds to do.

ELECTION OUTRAGE.

The frauds by which the electors of Queens county, N. B., were deprived of their rights a few years ago have at least been equalled in the constituency of North Ontario. Major McGillivray was the Conservative and Mr. Graham the Liberal-Patron candidate. Mr. McGillivray was declared elected by the returning officer. Graham demanded a recount, and when this took place it was found that somebody who had access to one of the ballot boxes had removed twenty-one Graham ballots and substituted the same number of McGillivray ballots. The County Court Judge rejected the spurious ballots, but declared McGillivray elected, because he had a majority of votes. Had the twenty-one Graham ballots been in the box from which they were stolen, Graham would have had a majority. Notwithstanding this barefaced and undoubted fraud, McGillivray is considered the member-elect, and can take his seat at the coming session of Parliament. It is announced, however, that he will resign.

The President of France and the ex-President of San Salvador were both attacked on Tuesday by would-be assassins. In both instances personal motives animated the offenders; but danger is certainly none the less to the possible victim no matter what may be the impelling motive of the attacking party.

The interesting composition in to-day's Globe from Mr. I. Allen Jack's graceful pen, ought to be read by every citizen concerned in the welfare of the Park, and that should mean every citizen.

GENERAL NEWS.

Capt. John Edwin Jacobs, of Portland, Me., died on Sunday evening in his 85th year. He was born at St. Andrews, N. B.

Sardou is said to be writing a play for Sir Henry Irving with Robespierre for the central figure.

In a household at Greensboro, Ga., a widow, her two daughters and one son are all to be married at the same time and by the same preacher.

One of the battle cries of the forthcoming Presidential election is likely to be the concluding words of Mr. Bryan's famous oration: "You shall not press down upon the brow of labor a crown of thorns; you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold."

It is said that the bicycle craze is responsible for the decline in the dancing school which supplies the Paris Opera with its stock of ballet dancers. The masters declare that girls who have machines are defiant of the rules, and that discipline which has turned out many fine ballerinas has gone by the board.

Experiments with a new alcoholic cure at Bellevue hospital have been crowned with success. The new cure is still a hospital secret, but it is known to be medicine, and after a few more trials it will be available for all sufferers. What effect it will have on the gold cures and sanitariums remains to be seen.

A Danbury (Conn.) man has decided upon an original plan of committing suicide. He intends to enter a cage containing a live lion, and allow himself to be eaten by the beast. He proposes to charge an entrance fee of $5 to those who wish to see the tragedy, the proceeds to go to his family.

Jules Simon was converted to Catholicism, according to the Paris La Verite, shortly before his death by his little granddaughter, who had been attending the catechism class at the Madeleine. She brought him a confessor and he received the sacraments while in full possession of all his faculties.

A health paper says that the great increase in heart complaints is due largely to the way in which those who depend on trains in getting to and from their places of business rush to the depots and aboard the cars. It says that where suburban towns contribute humanity to the cities each morning, this growth of heart troubles is most marked.

Paterson, biscuit manufacturer, 57; Sir Henry Joly, lawyer, 67; W. S. Fielding, journalist, 48; Wm. Mulock, lawyer, 53; Dr. Borden, physician, 40; J. I. Tarte, notary and journalist, 47; Sydney A. Fisher, farmer, 46; R. W. Scott, lawyer, 71; A. G. Blair, lawyer, 52; Chas. Fitzpatrick, lawyer, 43.

How great the growth of ritualistic practices has been in the Church of England during the last fourteen years is shown by some figures compiled by the Tourists' Church Guide. In 1882 daily communion was administered in 123 churches in Great Britain, in 1896 in 474 churches. Incense, used in nine churches 14 years ago, is now used in 307. The figures for churches using lights on the altar are 581 and 3,598; for those where vestments are employed, 336 and 1,632; and for those where the worshippers face the east, 1,662 and 5,964.

The Boston Herald vouches for the story that there is a horse in Ansonia, Conn., which takes a hosepipe in his mouth and holds it there until his thirst is quenched. Several days ago one of the stablemen while fooling with him offered him the end of the hosepipe, through which the water was flowing, and, to his surprise, the horse took it in his mouth and held it there until he got a good drink. The next time the horse was led to the trough he, of his own accord, took hold of the pipe and succeeded in getting the end in his mouth and had a good drink, and continues to do so day after day.

The "trial at Bar," which is to be the form of prosecution of Jameson and his co-raiders, is a rare event in English legal procedure. The last "trial at Bar" was that of Arthur Orton, the Tichborne claimant, over twenty years ago. All "trials at Bar" take place before the Lord Chief Justice and two of the senior judges of the Queen's bench division of the High Court of Justice. The inconsiderable length which has invariably marked such trials may have been among the inducements leading Dr. Jameson to offer to plead guilty and cut the thing short. He gets the credit of urging his counsel to this effect, but the bar won't lose the opportunity of a long, protracted trial.

Sir Edward Bunbury's magnificent collection of Greek coins was sold for over $42,000 in an eight days' sale lately in London. Among the highest prices were $995 for a Syracuse demarateion of 450 before Christ, with a head of Nike, crowned with olive, commemorating the great victory at Himera, the rarest of Greek coins; $600 for a dekadrachm of Kimon, with a head of Persephone; $605 for a stater of Elis, having on it an eagle with a hare in its claws. A tetradrachm with a head of Arethusa brought $402; a gold stater of Tarentum, with the head of Demeter, $350; a tetradrachm of Thurii, with head of Athena, having her helmet adorned with the figure of Skylia, $325; one of Agrigentum, with two eagles standing over a supine hare, $450.

AN INSANE MAN'S ACT.

Paris, July 15.

The entire press of the city reprobate the act of Francois, the man who presumably made the attempt to shoot President Faure yesterday, but most of them are inclined to the belief that it was the act of an insane man. The Matin urges the public not to magnify the inoffensive act of a poor lunatic.

RENOVATING OLD GARMENTS

[From the Philadelphia Inquirer].

There is hardly a living woman, unless she is ruthlessly extravagant, who does not delight in renovating half-worn out garments, and revel in the sense of newness her energy has obtained for her.

Of course this does not apply to the woman with her millions. Indeed, fashion talks are not intended for her; she has no need of them, for she can call in the aid of the best modistes in creation, and knows no necessity for contriving, although I do believe she loses half the charm of living, by her very surplus of money.

Even the best dressed women will find times when there are weak spots in their armor—or, to be exact, their clothing—and instead of launching out for anything absolutely new and fresh, they seek to revive old friends with new faces. Men may sneer at women's economy, but I wonder if one of them ever troubled himself to try the little makeshifts women are so apt to do. The most fascinating of all renovations are in the small trifles of the toilette, which after all count for so much in the general make-up.

A clever girl of my acquaintance has remodelled an old street gown into a smart tennis costume. The material was a soft cadet blue wool, which, after a thorough sponging, was as good as new. The skirt was a trifle worn at the bottom, but as the tennis skirt was to be a trifle short, the worn parts were cut directly off, and the bottom finished by a wide hem, heavily stitched. The bodice had formerly been a tailed coat. It was refitted, the tails cut off so as to form a round waist, and the whole appearance changed. A smart finish of rows of narrow black silk braid gave the finishing touch to a really pretty tennis costume.

LOCAL NEWS.

MASONIC ENGAGEMENTS.

July, 1896.

Meetings will be held at Freemasons' Hall, Germain street, during the month of July at 8 o'clock in the evening, as follows:

Wednesday, 15th—Carleton Royal Arch Chapter.
Thursday, 16th—The Union Lodge of Portland, No. 10.
Tuesday, 21st—New Brunswick Lodge, No. 22—Emergency Communication.

Steamer St. Croix from Boston to-day brought 187 passengers.

This Evening.—Strawberry festival and social at St. Jude's church, Carleton.

Social, sale and festival at Rothesay under the auspices of the Ladies' Sewing Circle.

The C. P. R. Train was over two hours late this afternoon. The American portion of the train was brought from Vanceboro as a special.

Royal Templars.—Mr. W. L. Macfarlane, of Fredericton, grand secretary of the Royal Templars, is in town, and will visit the St. John Council in Finch lodge hall, Germain street, this evening.

Collision.—Messrs. Taylor & Dockrill's team, driven by two boys, and an electric car collided at the corner of Princess and Sydney streets at noon to-day. The delivery team was slightly damaged.

Granted Certificates.—The Marine Board of Examiners to-day granted mates' certificates for foreign trade to Daniel N. Campbell, of Auckland, N. Z., and George Kierstead, of Alma, Albert Co., N. B.

Picnics.—The Germain street Baptist church picnic was held to-day at Watters' Landing.

One of the best and most enjoyable picnics of the season is scheduled for Friday. It is that of the Main street Baptist church and will be held at the new resort, Hodgson's Grove. It should be liberally patronized.

The Monkey Theatre.—Somerby's monkeys are drawing great houses and the performance is well worth seeing. The little human-like actors cause lots of merriment, and their agility is truly marvellous. To night at the Opera House the performance will be given and many new features will be introduced. The monkeys and dogs give an exhibition each afternoon and evening.

Accident.—An old man, whose name a reporter could not learn, was run over to-day at the corner of Charlotte and Duke streets by Messrs. C. Flood & Sons' delivery team. He was bruised and shaken up, but not seriously injured. He was taken into Mr. Hazen J. Dick's drug store, where he soon recovered, and scorning all offers of further assistance he disappeared into a neighboring grocery store.

The Ambulance.—The ambulance is to be presented to the city on Friday morning at nine o'clock in the presence of the Mayor and Common Council. On Friday afternoon from 3 until 5 30 it will be on exhibition in St. Andrew's rink, and again in the evening from 8 to 10. Members of the hospital staff and trained nurses will be in attendance to exhibit the working of the ambulance. A band will also be in attendance and ices will be served during the evening. This entertainment should be liberally patronized.

An Early Morning Wedding.—Among the guests at the Royal Hotel on Tuesday were Dr. J. G. Owens, of Millville, son of Mr. John Owens, of Fredericton, and Miss Harold, of Centreville. This morning the young couple were married at the Cathedral in the presence of the mother and sister of the groom, who are summering at the Bay Shore. Dr. and Mrs. Owens left by the early train for the States, where they will spend their honeymoon, after which they will reside in Millville.

The Amateur Oarsmen who are practicing for the Halifax regatta have kept faithfully to work, and will have a strong crew. The race is now so near that they should absolutely determine who of the eligible men shall constitute the four, and all further rowing should be done by these men in their respective positions. This is absolutely necessary, and the crew should be settled on to-night. The crew, if wisely chosen, will no doubt give a good account of itself, but the best results can only be obtained by continuous practice with every man in place.

The Rothesay School for girls, Netherwood, has issued a very neat and attractive calender. The school, under the able management of Mrs. J. Simeon Armstrong and an efficient corps of teachers, has done excellent work. The next term will begin on Wednesday, September 9. The school gives a thorough course in English, history, geography, mathematics, science, Latin, German, French, drawing, physical and vocal culture, and music and art, and is in every respect a comfortable, well-managed and efficient boarding, home and day school—a school the claims of which all desiring to send their daughters away from home should investigate.

Grecian Art Tableaux.—Those who attended the entertainment given last evening in the Institute by the Grecian Art Tableaux Company were delighted with the variety and beauty of the performance. The violin and piano playing alone were worth the price of the ticket, and the groupings and posings were simply exquisite. The story of little nine-year old Patsey was rendered in such a truly pathetic manner as to bring tears to the eyes of all, and the humorous description of the stage villain who "will be a villain" evoked hearty laughter. The illustrated singing of "The Brook" was charming, as was also "The Suwanee River" and "Teckle's Cortin'," and "Home Sweet Home" touched many chords of feeling. Those who failed to see the performance last night should make it a point to be at the Institute this evening. It is first class.

Got His Diploma.—Mr. Wm. H. Love, of Messrs. Scott, Lawton & Love, was a happy man when a reporter met him to-day. He was carrying a large parcel and, in answer to the reporter's salutation, he held it up and announced that the package contained the bronze medal and diploma awarded him at the World's Fair, Chicago, for his collection of military buttons. Mr. Love, it will be remembered, sent his collection to the fair in 1892, and was awarded first place over exhibits from England, France and Belgium. The diploma is handsomely engraved on parchment and contains the following words of commendation:

"Award for a large and unique collection representing many years of patient labor. The exhibit is artistically displayed."

The medal is a beautiful bronze one, in a most attractive aluminum case. The medal and diploma will be shown in Mr. Wm. Brucknof's window this week.

Golden Wedding.—The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Powers, corner of Sewell and Dorchester streets, was the scene of a very pleasant gathering Tuesday night, the occasion being the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of the couple. There were present eight children and twenty-eight grandchildren, and also two sisters and one brother of Mrs. Powers, besides a number of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Powers were the second couple married in St. Luke's Episcopal church, the late Canon Harrison performing the ceremony. There were born unto them six sons and six daughters, and of these eleven are living. Three were unable to be present last night. Two reside in Boston and one in Montreal. Mrs. Powers' maiden name was Yardy, and her brother, Edward Yardy, came from Boston to be present. He is in his eighty-fourth year, and is quite hale. For a great many years Mr. Yardy conducted the Royal Gazette at Fredericton. His sister, Mrs. Woodill, wife of the late John Woodill, was also present. The evening was a pleasant one, and Mr. and Mrs. Powers entered with zest into the spirit of the entertainment. The children and grandchildren presented the aged couple with a purse, and Mr. Powers returned thanks for the congratulations, etc. Rev. Dr. Wilson delivered a felicitous address, and during his remarks stated that although he had been on this circuit for thirty-seven years it was the first golden wedding he had the pleasure of attending. One of the coincidences about the gathering was that while it was the fiftieth anniversary of Mrs. Powers' wedding, it was also the 70th anniversary of her birth. Mr. Powers is nearly 73 years of age. Mr. Powers is the last living member of his own family. As a temperance worker he is well known to the citizens of St. John, and for that matter all over the province.

What you want when you are ailing is a medicine that will cure you. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla and be convinced of its merit.

CHANGE OF PROGRAMME.

ALDERMEN DISCUSS WEST SIDE IMPROVEMENTS

And Propose that the Corporation Do the Work Itself.

The city fathers this morning decided to refund to the contractors their deposits in connection with the Carleton improvements and they will endeavor to do the new work. This course was decided upon at a meeting of the Board of Works and Winter Port committee, comprising every member of the Board excepting Ald. McArthur, who was present at the deliberations by invitation. The meeting was held in the Mayor's private office behind closed doors, and lasted over two hours.

The meeting is understood to have thoroughly considered the position of affairs. It was the opinion of all that neither Mr. Mayes nor any other of the contractors was in a position to carry on the work, because none had given satisfactory assurances of their ability to secure a dredge to handle the work. In view of this fact the motion to refund the deposits was carried, only Ald. Wilson voting nay. He took the ground that the C. P. R. should be interviewed, and, if that body was satisfied with the offer of Mr. Mayes, he being the lowest tenderer, should secure the work.

The Mayor and Recorder were appointed a special committee to interview the C.P.R. and see if it is possible to make satisfactory arrangements so that the city will receive the C. P. R. bonus even if the time limit is exceeded. As Mr. Timmerman is away the committee at once entered into negotiations by telegraph with Vice-President Shaughnessy, and hope to satisfactorily settle the matter.

The work is to be done according to the plans of Engineer Barker, of the C. P. R., but the difficulty will be to secure dredges able to do the necessary work. It is understood the city will apply to the Dominion government for permission to use or to hire the government dredges, and it is said they will stand a much better chance of getting them than would any private contractor. None of the government dredges can dig deep enough, so the City Engineer has been hustled off to Lubec, Me., to interview Messrs. Moore & Wright, and see what arrangements can be made to hire or purchase their big dredge. He left at 2 o'clock this afternoon and will likely return to-morrow.

The city expects if it undertakes the work to have the two berths ready for use this winter, and the belief is that they can do the work quite as quickly and somewhat more cheaply than any contractor.

A Globe reporter had a short conference with Mr. G S. Mayes this morning. Mr. Mayes feels that the city has acted in a very unfair manner in deciding to do the work itself after getting and making public the estimates of the contractors. He believes he could have completed the work in the specified time, and said he was prepared to hire from the Dominion government both the Dominion and St. Lawrence, and also from Messrs. Moore & Wright the largest dredge they had. These he said he would use, but he would also spend $30,000 in the construction of a new dredge capable of dredging forty feet deep. This boat he would build at once, and said he could have her afloat and at work in seventy five days. She would, he said, be more powerful than any dredge now in Canada.

EXHIBITION REFRESHMENTS.

The directors of the Exhibition Association have called for tenders from persons anxious to manage the refreshment stalls at this fall's exhibition. The subject of refreshments is one that should receive greater consideration at the hands of the management than it has at previous exhibitions. It might be well to consider if it would not pay to keep this department under direct control of the directors. A want in the past has been satisfactory lunch counters where good plain food could be obtained cheaply. Perhaps it would pay to give more space to this and less to the large dining room. Another want is a building to which those who take their own lunches can retire and eat in comfort. This structure can be rough so long as it is roomy and does not leak, but it should be furnished with some drinking stands. A little enquiry will convince the directors that an improvement in the method of serving food to visitors to the exhibition is an imperative necessity.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. J. Macgregor Grant and Miss Grant left this morning by the "Flying Yankee" en route to the White Mountains.

Mr. H. W. White to-day went on duty as head clerk of the Aberdeen.

Mr. J. D. Veber Neales, of the Northumberland News, Newcastle, is in town.

Hon. C. H. LaBillois is at the Victoria, on his way to Fredericton to attend a meeting of the Local government.

J. F. Shatford, Esq., Halifax, is in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. McClellan, of New York, are at the Dufferin.

FREDERICTON NEWS.

Fredericton, July 14.

Of the 115,000,000 of logs which were got into the corporation limits this season, 112,000,000 have already been safely landed in the booms, and it is expected that the remaining three millions, which are at Grand Falls, will be got through in the course of a few weeks.

The rafting operations at the booms have been pushed energetically this season. There have already been rafted 67,000,000, and if the work continues at the same progress as has been maintained since the commencement of the operations, the remaining 38,000,000 will be rafted many weeks before the close of navigation.

The rafting of the outside lumber at Springhill is about completed. Nearly eight millions have been rafted at that place this season, not quite so many as last year.

The steamer Aberdeen brought over 400 excursionists to town this afternoon from Bellisle and points along the river. The excursion was under the auspices of Court Bellisle, Independent Order of Foresters.

The Clipper base ball club, of West end, has amalgamated with the Y. M. C. A. club, and a team will be formed from the two clubs, which will endeavor to wrest the local championship from the Tartars.

POLICE COURT.

John Curran, Michael Foight and Henry Watson were fined $4 each for drunkenness.

James Adams, drunk on Pitt street, was fined $8.

Kate Jeffrey, wife of John Jeffrey, the umbrella mender, her daughter Catherine, and Sarah Owens, engaged in a fracas on Pitt street on Tuesday, and all three appeared in court this morning showing signs of the encounter. Sarah Owens was able to show that she was only acting in self-defence and she was allowed to go. The Jeffreys were fined $20 each.

Robert Hicks, charged with using abusive language to Thomas Givens, was let go, as the latter did not appear to prosecute.

AT SO MUCH PER PRAYER.

Christian Science Treatment in Hamilton—A Jury's Denunciation.

Hamilton, Ont., July 13.

The inquest on the death of Charles Embury, the eight-months-old child of Hedley J. Embury, who was treated by Christian Scientists for diarrhœa, was resumed at No. 3 police station before Coroner White. The father of the child testified that the child was taken ill a week ago Thursday and died last Tuesday.

Its mother had said the child had diarrhœa. Christian Science treatment from Mrs. Wilson, who prayed for the child and charged $1 per visit, was the only treatment the child received. The mother testified that the treatment given the child was silent prayer, no medicine having been given nor change made in the child's diet.

Mrs. Wilson, the Christian Scientist, testified to giving the child more than the ordinary treatment, which was half an hour, the case being serious. She and her husband had a good practice in the city, and they had more recoveries than the doctors. Christian Science could mend bones, she said. She referred to a case of dislocated shoulder in Toronto which the science had cured. The death of the Embury child was due to metaphysical causes.

Drs. Farewell and Anderson testified that the child's death was due to diarrhœa.

Following is the verdict of the jury: "We are of the unanimous opinion that Charles H. Embury died from inflammation of the bowels, aggravated by lack of proper medical treatment, and we believe the parents of the child were culpably negligent. We recommend the Crown Attorney to make further inquiries in the matter. We also strongly denounce the practices of the Christian Scientists, as brought out in the evidence at this inquest."

THE FRENCH CENSUS.

[New York Herald.]

The first details of the recent French census show some unexpected results. Generally speaking the big towns have ceased to grow at the expense of the country, but the Mediterranean ports have gained enormously to the prejudice of all the other seaboard places. Bordeaux, Havre, Cherbourg and Dunkirk have been practically stationary, while Nantes, Brest and Calais exhibit serious losses. This is accounted for by protection, which has crippled French trade with the civilized European states and with America, while Marseilles and Toulon have increased by twenty per cent. because they are the gates through which all the new French colonial energy is poured, and they profit by the expeditions to Asia, Africa and Madagascar, which the republic is continually sending forth. The fact that all this activity costs France money, whereas the now diminishing trade of the Atlantic and Channel ports used to bring in money, appeals to a few thoughtful statesmen and economists, but they cannot get the French public to listen to them. It is estimated that in another five years Marseilles will have displaced Lyons as the second city in the country.

How to Organize a Church.

During the last twenty-five years we have organized most successfully over 200 churches, and we are happy to say that no note of discord is ever heard within their portals, where sweet harmony only prevails, to the delight of their congregations. The cause of our success is the simple fact that we have supplied them with suitable Organs. Our ESTEY CHAPEL ORGANS, costing from 100 to 200 dollars, never fail to give the best satisfaction in churches of moderate means, while our VOCALION ORGANS, for larger churches, are simply magnificent. They are a perfect imitation in tone and power of a large Pipe Organ, at less than one half the cost and space. With such material, and our long practical experience, we feel confident that we can, better than ever, organize, or re-organize, churches to the entire satisfaction of congregations.
