Number of Young Women Disappear—A Doctor Arrested.

CHICAGO, Sept 26.

A morning paper says startling developments surrounding the mysterious death of Emma Bartels at the home of Dr. C. W. Winters, 108 South California avenue, Sept. 10, resulted yesterday in the arrest of the physician on the charge of murder and his indictment by the grand jury. The evidence now in the possession of the police bids fair, Lieut. Beard, of the Warren avenue police station, says, to develop conditions at the California avenue house similar to those of the Holmes Castle in Englewood, with the swindling motive omitted. Ever since the death of Emma Bartels letters have been coming to the police and the relatives of the dead girl, bearing upon the alleged criminal practices of Dr. Winters. In them he was charged with crime, and the names of some of his supposed victims were signed to the missives. The police have found two young women who entered Dr. Winters' home under similar conditions, it is supposed, as Miss Bartels did, and it was upon their testimony before the grand jury yesterday that the indictment was returned. One of these is Tilly Taddy, who now lives at 99 West 26th street, and the other is Bertha Clayton, an inmate of the Industrial School for Girls at Evanston. When their experiences with Dr. Winters were related to the police Lieut. Beard made formal charges against the physician before the grand jury for the murder of Emma Bartels. The latter was found in a dying condition in the house shortly before midnight, on Sept. 10, under mysterious circumstances. She had gone to Dr. Winters' house in search of employment, Dr. Winters having advertised for a servant. It has also been learned by the police that Dr. Winters has taken young girls from employment bureaus in the city. Neighbors along California avenue say that the home of the Winters's has been regarded with suspicion. Before the mysterious death there of Miss Bartels young girls made frequent visits. Since then, however, only one has continued to call, and yesterday a police officer watched the house all day in order to get a talk with her, but she did not come. The doctor at first took his arrest very coolly, but when the warrant charging him with murder was read to him by Detective Buggie he quailed and whitened. He was not told that he had also been indicted for two alleged crimes. He refused to make any statement to the police or the reporters. Dr. Winters is forty years of age. Where he lived before locating on California avenue is not known to the police.

STORMS IN EUROPE.

Many Wrecks on the Spanish Coast—Damage to English Crops.

LONDON, Sept. 26.

Violent gales prevailed along the Spanish coast last evening and many wrecks, chiefly of small craft, are reported. The gale is subsiding in the North Sea to-day, but tugs and trawlers continue to bring to Lowestoft and Yarmouth the crews of foundered fishing vessels, several of which are still unaccounted for. The gale did not reach Scotland, but heavy rain falls prevailed throughout that section. The heaviest damage inflicted by the high winds is reported from the west of England, where serious injury was done to the crops that were still standing. All of the crops were beaten down and in many cases washed out of the ground by the heavy rains. A landslide at Ponty Pridd burst the banks of the Glamorgan canal and carried the railway embankment into the River Taff.

GALE ON THE BANKS.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Sept. 26.

The steamer Coban, from Montreal, reports passing, on Thursday, the schooner Marie Fannie, of St. Pierre, abandoned sixty miles off Cape Race, right in the track of shipping. A severe gale has been raging here. A number of boats and fishing establishments along the coast have been destroyed. It is thought that the storm swept the Grand Banks, and that it has done much damage among the fishing fleet pursuing the fishery there.

THACHER MAY NOT RUN.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 26.

Hon. John Boyd Thacher returned this morning to Albany from Altamont, his home on the Helderberg mountains. A close friend of Mr. Thacher said to a representative of the United Associated Press this morning that Mr. Thatcher would possibly decline the nomination for governor of New York State at the Hotel Kenmore this afternoon, where he will be officially notified of the nomination by the committee appointed by the Democratic State committee, which left New York this morning.

CONCERNING TURKEY.

WHAT WILL THE GREAT POWERS DO?

British Press Discuss Russian Occupation of Constantinople—Turkish Soldiers Unpaid.

LONDON, Sept. 26.

The Times publishes a despatch from Constantinople saying that much uneasiness prevails there. Mohammedans who can do so are sending their families away from the city. The despatch adds that it is reported that the town of Kharput has been burned and that there have been slaughters at Cæsarea and Ghemerek.

The fact has been learned that no conclusive change in the treatment of the Porte by the European powers will be visible till after the Czar's visit to Paris. The greater freedom of action shown by the English Ambassador, Sir Philip Currie, in dealing with the Sultan is in the meantime valuable as an indication of the English government's drift. Lord Salisbury has determined upon either the deposition of the Sultan or the practical administration of Turkey through the Council of Ambassadors as has already been outlined. The deposition of the Sultan with the appointment of a successor under the sanction of the powers would be equivalent to the proposed European protectorate. There is high authority for stating that just prior to going to Balmoral the Czar caused his ambassador, M. Nelidoff, to report to him specially on the Sultan's moral and mental condition. At the time the order was given M. Nelidoff was absent on leave from his post at Constantinople. The Czar's request pointed to a consideration of questions whether Abdul Hamid could be trusted to resign quietly under new conditions or must be deposed.

The English Liberal press discusses with equanimity a permanent Russian occupation of Constantinople, accompanied with "guarantees" of free passage of the Dardanelles. With Russia in possession of "guarantees" there would soon be war cataclysms. The Balmoral conferences cannot go that way. The real Salisbury lead is a European protectorate over Turkey. Lord Salisbury and M. De Staal, the Russian Ambassador, are both at Balmoral for the purpose of consulting with the Czar. M. De Staal is a strong Anglophile and will give great assistance to the British government in the direction of convincing Russia of the disinterestedness of the Turkish policy of Great Britain. Many prominent Conservatives are strongly opposed to any plan which would hand Constantinople over to Russia.

The eminent foreign expert, Frederick Greenwood, published an article in the Pall Mall Gazette yesterday in which he predicted that if the European powers should give Constantinople to Russia that empire would become in a few years the irremovable master of Europe.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 26.

The military commander of Erzingjan has wired to the war office urgently requesting the minister of war to send money with which to provide the troops with rations. Unless the necessary supplies of food are immediately provided, the commander says, he will not undertake to answer for the conduct of the troops in his district. It is reported that disturbances have taken place at Kemanat, in the district of Erzingjan.

RED HOT POLITICS.

MASSACHUSETTS DEMOCRATS AT WAR.

Electricity Causes a Politician's Death.

BOSTON, Sept. 26.

One of the most remarkable political incidents in the history of Massachusetts was enacted in Music Hall last night and this morning. Acting under the direct advice of Hon. George Fred. Williams, the free silver leader of the State, his friends seized the hall and took possession of it after the adjournment of the rally at which Candidate Bryan had spoken. Their purpose, as openly announced, was to remain in possession of the hall until the convention assembled this forenoon, this determination being the result of a charge made by Mr. Williams that the state committee leaders intended to pack the hall in the interest of men opposed to the Chicago platform and candidates. The Democratic state central committee tried to have the delegates to to-day's convention and their friends ejected by the police, but the latter could find no authority for taking such action, and as a result about five hundred men remained in the hall all night and were still there this forenoon. They declared they would remain until the convention was called to order and thus insure their admission to the hall. Leading members of the state committee indignantly deny the charges made by Williams and declare that his statements as to their intention to freeze out the silver men from the convention are utterly false.

About three o'clock parties who were looking out from the balcony on the north side of Music Hall, where the Williams followers had remained after the Bryan rally in order to gain possession of the hall at to-day's convention, discovered a man's body lying in the alleyway which leads from Bromfield street. A physician, who was in the hall, was called and pronounced the man dead. A deep bruise in the palm of the right hand showed that the fatal current from an electric wire had killed him. The man was identified as James Hughes, a married man, living in Somerville. He was a delegate to the convention and had gone out of the hall, and was undoubtedly trying to re-enter by way of the fire escape when he was killed.

At 12.30 a. m. Mr. Mudgett, agent of the hall, took the platform and announced that the lease of the hall to the Bryan-Sewall-Williams club, under whose auspices the Bryan rally had been held, expired at 12 o'clock, and he asked that the hall be vacated. His remarks were greeted with yells of protest and the delegates did not vacate the hall.

The delegates remained in possession all night—food being passed in through windows.

It was revealed this morning that young Cole, Munro Bros.' boy, who was robbed of $250 yesterday while en route to the bank on a bicycle to deposit it, was privy to the scheme. Kelly, the man who assaulted and robbed him, was arrested by detectives this morning. Cole was also taken into custody.

CORNWALL, Sept. 26.

Dr. Bergin is much better to-day. The cut in his side is regarded as the most dangerous feature. He lost much blood. Sir Wm. Hingston, who has been here, returned to Montreal, saying everything possible was being done.

THE MEADOW BROOK TRAGEDY.

MONCTON, Sept. 26.

In the Meadow Brook murder enquiry, Friday afternoon, Bruce McDougall continued his evidence in regard to his movements on the night of Thursday and Friday morning. He said he had been on a big drunk for a week, but was sober when he met the man who said he was Sullivan.

Policeman Scott testified to seeing McDougall early in the morning after the Dutcher tragedy, but he said no person was with him. About one or two o'clock in the morning he walked down street with McDougall, who asked him if he could get a drink anywhere, saying he was afraid he was going to die. McDougall wanted to sit down and rest on the post office steps, but he advised him not to. McDougall could walk, but had evidently been on a big booze.

The other evidence was unimportant.

FREDERICTON NEWS.

[SPECIAL TO GLOBE.]

FREDERICTON, Sept. 26.

The 71st battalion broke up camp this morning. The men got in twelve days good drill, but were disappointed in the non-arrival from Ottawa of the new Lee-Enfield rifles, which prevented them from getting any practice in the use of these weapons.

J. N. Sutherland, freight agent of the Atlantic Division of the C. P. R., is here to-day. A meeting of the Board of Trade was called this morning to talk over freight rates with him. Mr. Sutherland said the Star line did half of Fredericton freight business during the navigation season and intimated that his road would offer a considerably reduced rate on all year freight carrying contracts. Only a few members of the Board were present and action was deferred until a larger meeting could be held.

THE BRITISH TURF.

LONDON, Sept. 26.

At Manchester to-day the Gerard Nursery handicap of 200 sovereigns for two-year-olds, six furlongs, was won by Chack Bird. Bemersyde was second and Izette third. Mr. A. Belmont's Terpsichore II. was not placed.

STORIES OF MILLAIS.

When the late Sir John Millais was in the Scottish mountains making studies for his "Chill October," a braw Scotsman came up to him, and, watching him as he painted, asked: "Man, did ye never try photography?" "No, never," answered Millais. "It's a deal quicker," continued the braw Scotsman. "Yes, I suppose so," admitted Millais. "And," wound up the braw Scotsman, "its a deal liker the place."

One day Thomas Carlyle went with Millais to look at the latter's house, and, after gazing with wonder at all its splendors, its marble pavements, its white marble columns, its stately staircase and beautiful dodos, he turned to Millais and asked him in his brusque manner: "Has paint done all this, Mr. Millais?" The painter laughed and replied: "It has." "Then," rejoined the dweller in the modest house at Chelsea, "all I have to say is there are more fools in the world than I thought there were."
