UNITED STATES POLITICS.

The great Democratic meeting in New York on Wednesday night testified to the strength and enthusiasm of the party in the present contest, even with the division in the party ranks. The candidates, Messrs. Bryan and Sewall, received a hearty welcome, and Mr. Bryan, as was expected of him, made an eloquent speech, dealing almost entirely with the currency question, but putting forward no new views. The meeting was more notable, however, because of the absentees than because of the prominent men present. Senators, congressmen, officials, leaders of thought and action in the Democratic party were among the missing, and there were no new recruits to make up for their loss. In the national committee, too, which met at New York the other day, there were many vacant places. Some of the committeemen had bolted, some sent word that they had retired from politics, some just stayed away without explanation or excuse. This necessarily must have a bad effect on the campaign. While disintegration is thus going on the sound money Democrats are pushing forward their plans for an independent ticket. What is called the "gold democracy" was informally launched into existence at a meeting in New York on Wednesday. The meeting was attended by Charles Fairchild, a former secretary of the treasury; Gen. Chas. Tracey, a former congressman; Corporation Counsel Francis Scott; District Attorney Macfarlane, a former St. John man, and other leaders. It was decided unanimously to support the third party and send delegates from the state to the convention in Indianapolis. The feasibility of putting a full state ticket in the field on the third party platform was discussed, but no conclusion was arrived at. That there will be two national Democratic tickets in the field seems now to be a foregone conclusion.

CONSERVATIVE PLANS.

The Montreal Star's information regarding the caucus of Conservative Senators and members of the Commons called for Wednesday next at Ottawa is that the business to be transacted includes the selection of a leader of the opposition, the decision of the question whether any opposition shall be offered to the government's nominee for the Speakership of the Commons, and a discussion of the policy of the party, amounting possibly to the formulation of a modified policy. There seems to be some difference of opinion on the last mentioned matter. Mr. Foster, at Gagetown a few days ago, said the Conservative party were now done with remedial legislation, and Mr. Geo. Taylor, M.P., Conservative whip, made a somewhat similar declaration at North Grey within a few days, but it will be recollected that Sir Charles Tupper, speaking after the election, did not discard that plank in the party platform. He definitely said he adhered to it. This is probably why the Toronto Telegram, independent Conservative, calls for the immediate deposition of Sir Charles, and the appointment of a younger man as leader.

BOUND TO LOSE.

Judging by advices from Queens and Sunbury counties the politicians who were instrumental in bringing Mr. Wilmot out in opposition to the Minister of Railways and Canals will have reason to regret their action. They have nothing to gain, for they know they cannot elect their candidate, and they are sure to lose in prestige and in public opinion. For eighteen years the people of Queens and Sunbury, in common with the people everywhere in Canada, have suffered from misgovernment. They have become tired of corruption and extravagance, and can have no desire at the very outset of a new condition of things to place themselves on record as reactionaries. The country has had enough, for a decade anyhow, of the Tuppers, Langevin, Caron, McGreevy, Haggart, Foster et al, and the electors of Queens and Sunbury will most certainly express approval of the action of the electorate of Canada in hurling them from power by returning the Liberal candidate.

SIR JOHN MILLAIS.

By the death of Sir John Millais, reported in yesterday's Globe, England, and indeed the world, loses a great painter. Millais was descended from a Jersey family and was born in 1829 at Southampton. He exhibited great talent for drawing at a very early age, winning his first medal at the Society of Arts when only nine years old. When seventeen years of age he exhibited his first picture at the Academy. This was "Pizarro Seizing the Inca of Peru," and ever since he was a regular contributor. With Hunt and Rosetti he was prominent in what has been called the "Pre Raphaelite school," which exercised a great influence among British painters in the direction of studying from nature as it appeared to them. Millais acquired world-wide fame from his works. He received the Legion of Honor in 1878. He was made a baronet in 1885, and he has been President of the Royal Academy for some time. The marriage of the great painter created a great sensation when it took place. A biographer narrates that thirty years ago Lady Millais, a woman of rare beauty, whose features are reproduced in many of Sir John's most celebrated pictures, was the wife of John Ruskin, Millais at the time being a pupil in his studio. An attachment sprung up between young Millais and Mrs. Ruskin, which resulted in Ruskin permitting his wife to bring against him in the court at Edinburgh a suit of such a nature that it enabled Mrs. Ruskin to contract a matrimonial alliance a few months afterward with John Millais under her maiden name of Euphemia Gray. Ruskin remained the good friend of Mr. and Mrs. Millais, just in the same way that Hans von Bulow remained the best friend of his ex-wife and of her second husband, the great composer, Richard Wagner. Indeed, the finest portrait ever painted by John Millais is that which he did of Ruskin years after Mrs. Ruskin had been transformed into Mrs. Millais. Society, however, until a few years ago did not open its doors to Lady Millais, and it was only within a few months that the Queen would receive her.

Halifax is rolling up a magnificent civic debt. In April, 1895, the total amount of the funded debt was $2,757,366, which included expenditures on water works, schools, etc. During the year the large sum of $374,150 was added to the civic liability, which makes the present total $3,131,516. The city auditor, not unnaturally, remarks that the "funded debt is without doubt assuming proportions which contrast very strikingly with the debt of the city, say fifteen or twenty years ago, and the question is often asked what we have to show for such large indebtedness." He answers this by pointing to the water works, public buildings, sewers, etc., but even after appraising these properties he admits that there is a considerable nominal shortage. No doubt everybody sees that $3,000,000 is too large a debt for a city of between 40,000 and 50,000 people, yet it seems impossible to cease making large expenditures. The "times" demand it, and, as we know in St. John, the demand cannot be resisted, even by the most heroic exponents of the platform of retrenchment and reform.

NEW YORK GOSSIP.

TRAGEDY AND SPECTACLE OF THE HEAT-STRICKEN CITY.

Babes Gasping in the Parks — Water Plentiful

New York, Aug. 10.

Fighting heat with water has been the only practicable relief for the multitude in the past seven days of oppression. It was an interesting novelty in city life when a watering brigade was formed of the boys that live in the district included between the Bowery, Division, Houston and Pitt streets. Lloyd Collis, son of General Collis, commissioner of public works, got from his father the use of 15 men from the department of public works, from the fire department 1,200 feet of hose and from the mayor a permit for the use of hydrants and started in on a four hour watering bee at Grand and Chrystie streets.

He split the boys up into three gangs, who worked east up and down the asphalted streets from Division to Houston. Their business was to cool the asphalt pavement, which retains the heat of the day, and incidentally to wet everything in sight between curbs.

They did their work thoroughly. Not an urchin escaped, nor did any want to. Those that were not hauling on the hose like veteran firemen were standing in the stream or lying flat on their stomachs in the streets.

The work cooled the streets and cleaned them so as to make life more tolerable in that densely populated territory. The only objection made was when some pushcart pedlar or bread vender got his wares soaked, and then the Russian or Jewish vocabulary was heard in all its richness.

The daily consumption of water in the city has been about 245,000,000 gallons. The amount of stored water is about 25,000,000,000 gallons.

The rush to the fifteen free baths along the water front of the city has been so great that the attendants have been almost unable to keep the crowds in check at times.

At the public bath at Duane street, from 5 a. m. till noon on Sunday there were 4,000 men who availed themselves of the privileges of the bath. The men who use this bath are principally longshoremen, although there are many market laborers and others who are employed in packing-houses and wholesale produce stores. Among the men, women and children who use this bath are many Italians who live in the neighborhood of the Five Points.

There is no means of telling how far the successful struggle to live has impaired the constitutions of the babies who have entered life during these August days; many have succumbed. Twelve infants died yesterday who had not lived a week. The heat was the cause of their deaths as directly as of 50 adults who were sun-struck and died in spite of ice bags and stimulation.

If the present weather conditions continue to prevail thousands of those who are suffering from childish ailments will go as the twelve have gone.

Every East Side pier, every East Side house top and all the parks have seen the streaming lines of baby carriages passing perpetually day and night, and have heard the wailings of the little ones whose struggles to live have almost ceased.

Park policemen overlook the little sleepers on these nights and overlook, too, the mothers, who find the cool grass comforting to bared feet that have been worn with trudging in the babies' service.

Mrs. Mary O'Brien told a terrible story. The heat had killed her Nora, a pretty child of four, and the little body lay uncoffined in a squalid room at 2,053 First avenue. John O'Brien is a laborer and very poor. His child fell ill Sunday morning and her mother ran for a physician. The physician wanted his fee in advance, and as the O'Briens had lived a little less narrowly than they might, there was no money on hand to pay him.

In the afternoon the frantic mother found another physician who went to her rooms, looked at the child and said, "She is dying." Then he went away. He had scarcely entered the room when he made the diagnosis. Nora did die, but nothing will ever convince the mother that she was then dying. She lingered 12 hours, and when she passed away her mother could only be glad that the suffering was over.

Mamie Carroll was 24 years old. She lived in an East Side street. She had no relatives, but when she was found dead in bed friends swarmed about this victim of the heat and out of narrow purses employed an undertaker and prepared for funeral services.

These friends "waked" her in the heat yesterday, and the temperature of torment last night stilled the liquor-dulled brains of two, who now lie in Bellevue Hospital and may die.

The hot weather has had a telling effect upon the pet animals of the city.

The demands made upon the veterinary surgeons have been unprecedented. One of them says: "These pet dogs go under easily when the weather becomes hot. Its their owners' fault. They are all over-fed.

"Fits among dogs and cats are most common in heated weather, and if proper care and precaution be taken there is no reason why a valuable animal should be lost. Fits come from overfeeding and fleas. The symptoms are barking, frothing at the mouth, running wildly about and refusing water. The first precaution in hot weather is to use care and see that a dog has little of meat, vegetables and bread. The more vegetables you can get a dog to eat the better. Dogs can go three or four days without eating and never mind it. Let them have all the water they want to drink. If a dog is taken with a fit in the street an excellent remedy is common table salt. Put a lot of it in his mouth. The effect will be to make the dog vomit, and this will at once relieve his condition.

"Cats are affected by the heat in the same manner as dogs. Fits trouble them more than anything else. Cats are more dangerous to handle than dogs. It is necessary to handle with a cloth or bag. Then you cannot make a cat take medicine in liquid form. For cats we have a cure called 'fitaline.' It comes in a paste, and is rubbed on the lips and nose of the cat. The cat does the rest by licking it off and swallowing it. Cats should be lightly fed in hot weather. Let them have fish.

"Parrots and canaries stand the hot weather all right, and we are seldom called upon to treat them for disorders. Many people have monkeys for pets, but these enjoy a hot spell. Meat must never be fed to a monkey. If it is, dire will be the result. A monkey that once learns to like meat will take to eating off its own tail."

"When a horse is prostrated," says the veterinary, "we send out a mouth injector and a dose of medicine with the ambulance the first thing. We follow this up by a thorough sponging with cold water when the horse is brought in. I often find it a good thing to use a little alcohol in the water I give them after they begin to pick up."

CLAIMS SHE WAS HYPNOTIZED.

Mr. Harley Seeks Law to Get Back His Mother's Watch.

Portland, Me., Aug. 12.

Sylvester Harley, of Ashburnham, Mass., came here to-day and placed in the hands of a Portland attorney a civil action against Rev. Dr. A. B. Simpson, of New York, the famous Christian Alliance leader, who, at Old Orchard last Sunday, raised over $100,000 for foreign missions.

The suit will be brought in the United States court to recover a gold watch contributed by Mr. Harley's mother to the Christian Alliance cause. The watch was an heirloom, and when the donor repented of her act and sought to recover the watch her pleading was in vain. Mr. Harley claims his mother was hypnotized by Dr. Simpson.

A. O. H. Divisions from Milltown, Calais and Eastport are to unite in a grand picnic at St. Andrews on Wednesday next.

Joined the Redemptorists.—At St. Mary's church, Annapolis, Md., last week, C. McCormick, of St. John, took the religious vows of the Redemptorist order.

This Evening.—Meeting of the Ship Laborers' Union.

Fusiliers' battalion parade at the drill shed.

To Horsemen.—Mr. T. T. Lantalum will sell on the Market Square, at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning, a valuable mare and some fine harness. The sale should attract horsemen.

Business Sale.—W. H. Talbutt, the manager of Mr. L. Green's cigar store on Barrington street, Halifax, is negotiating for the purchase of the business and will probably be the owner in a few days.

The Pictou Presbytery on Monday last ordained Mr. Humphrey G. Gratz, B. A., as a missionary to the Tobique. Rev. James Ross, of this city, was present and conveyed the thanks of the Presbytery of St. John. The services were impressive.

The Guests at the Belleveau Hotel, Rothesay, are arranging for a grand illumination of the grounds for to-morrow evening. The spectacle will be a grand one and will well repay a visit to Rothesay to witness.

Y. P. S. of C. E.—At a meeting of the executive, last evening, it was arranged that the next quarterly meeting of the St. John Local Union of Christian Endeavor would be held in the Carleton Presbyterian church at 8 p. m., August 27th.

Excursion to Portland.—A cheap trip to Portland, Me., is advertised by the International Steamship Company, in connection with the New England Fair. Tickets will be issued Aug 17 and 21st, good to return until Aug. 25 and 28 h.

The Country now looks its best, and the trip to the garden party and concert at Hampton next Tuesday ought to be largely patronized by those who enjoy an afternoon under the trees. Special fares and suburban train extension give everyone an opportunity to have a breath of country air. See advertisement.

Lost His Papers.—One of the city constables is mourning the loss of a bundle of city court papers, which dropped out of his pocket on Thursday. The papers are valueless to anyone but the constable, and he will feel grateful to anyone leaving them at the police station.

St. Jude's Church will be formally opened for public worship on Sunday next. There will be services at 11 a. m. and 4 p. m., with appropriate music. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Withycombe, will preach in the morning and Venerable Archdeacon Brigstocke in the afternoon. The collections will be in aid of the church building fund.

At the Opera House.—A large audience greeted Messrs. McAuliffe and Greene and their company at the Opera House Thursday evening, when "The Vendetta" was presented. To-night "The Train Robbery" will be the attraction. The company will conclude its engagement here Saturday, playing "The Westerner" in the afternoon and "For Cuba" in the evening.

Bicyclists will be interested in a novelty on exhibition in the Ira Cornwall Co. store, King street. It is a liquid that is pumped into the tires and which immediately flows into a puncture, repairing it instantly and without the loss of any air. A tire was shown the Globe in which over two hundred knife and pin holes had been made, but it was as hard and solid as when first pumped up.

A Good Athlete.—F. W. Coombs should be flattered if called a "dead game sport." Fred was wheeling in P. E. Island, and on the day of the Summerside sports he and his companion, W. McDonald, rode thirty-five miles to the city, getting there at noon and going to the track after a hasty meal. Despite his great exertions Fred was able to capture two first prizes and a second.

The Orinoco.—This vessel, before reported wrecked and sold at Harbor-au-Bouche, N. S., is lying in an easy position, her stern being afloat. Her decks are burst up a couple of feet by the swelling of the pulp cargo. Efforts now being made to get her off will likely prove successful, in which case she will be taken to the Marine slip at Hawkesbury, where the cargo will be removed. Offers for the purchase of the pulp have already been received by the owners.

Furness Line.—The Halifax City left Halifax at six o'clock this morning and will be due here to-morrow. Her inward cargo will be discharged at the Pettingell wharf and after taking on board a quantity of canned lobsters, cheese, and other general cargo there she will move over to the C. P. R. wharf in Carleton to load a quantity of asbestos from Thetford mines, Que. Mr. McKean and Mr. Mackay also intend shipping some birch and spruce deals to London this trip.

Dalhousie has a Street Car.—This is certainly a century of progress when a small town like Dalhousie can afford to run a street car on its main street. Much credit is due to Mr. Murphy, the progressive proprietor of Murphy's hotel, for this addition to our town. The car was used in the city of Halifax before that city adopted the system of electric cars. It has a very fine appearance, and carries twenty-five passengers. It weighs about 3 000 pounds, and its first cost was $1,000. It is principally used for conveying passengers from the steamer Admiral to the lower end of the town.—Enterprise.

It is a Fake.—The following note encased in a bottle was picked up by Daniel O'Leary near Kouchibouguac beach, Kent county, one day last week. It was written in pencil on a leaf of a memorandum book. The writing is quite legible:

> On board the bark John Horncastle, 9 days out from St. John, N. B., bound for Swansea. Our good bark is in a sinking condition and I do not expect to see land again. If this falls into the hands of the proper person I hope he will let my aged mother know my fate. She resides in New Bedford, Mass. May God have mercy on our souls is the prayer of yours sincerely,
>
> Charles Perkins.
>
> Nov. 10, 1895.

No vessel named the John Horncastle sailed from St. John last year.

Good Work.—Those who claim that the C. P. R. is a big road, which does its business in a prompt and satisfactory way, make no mistake. The manner in which its American rivals are distanced is shown by the arrival here, on August 6th, of two lots of tea for C. H Clerke, one coming by C. P. R., the other by the Northern Pacific. Both were shipped from the same port in China, that by the Northern Pacific leaving on June 8th, that by the C. P. R. on June 29th. Both arrived here on the same day, an advantage of twenty-one days for the Canadian route. Canada is a long way ahead in its railway facilities, as it has proved itself of late in many other departments.—St. Croix Courier.

Badly Scalded.—An accident occurred this morning about 7.30 o'clock in Messrs. Fowler & Rankine's foundry on City road. The machinery had only been going a short time when one of the boiler tubes dropped out of place, and a cloud of scalding steam burst from the door of the furnace. The engineer, Fred McLean, was just putting some coal on the fire when the accident occurred. His right arm was very badly scalded, from the elbow to the hand being literally cooked. The sound of the escaping steam made a commotion in the foundry, but the panic only lasted a short time. The injured man was attended by Dr. Inches. The foundry was shut down until noon on account of the accident.

Hymeneal.—A Bowmanville, Ontario, despatch gives the following particulars of a wedding in which many St. John people are interested: "In St. Paul's Presbyterian church Wednesday night, R. Cruikshank, merchant, of St. John, N. B., and ex Mayor W. F. Allen's fourth daughter, Miss Marion, were wedded in the presence of a large audience. Rev. R. Douglas Fraser officiated. The newly wedded couple left in the evening train for the seaside, thence they will return to St. John, their future home." The groom, son of Mr. Robert Cruikshank and nephew of the late Governor Boyd, is connected with Messrs. A. Miller & Co. The bride is well known here, having visited at Mr. A. H. Hanington's. She made many friends who will welcome her to permanent residence here.

Munyon's Remedies to be Distributed.—Mr. D. Buist, who represents the world renowned Munyon's homœopathic remedies, is in St. John perfecting arrangements to introduce these famous preparations. Unlike the great majority of manufacturers, the company Mr. Buist represents have supreme faith in the high curative powers of their medicines, and as an evidence of this faith they will distribute 10,000 bottles free on Tuesday and Wednesday from the office of the St John Globe, 143 Prince William street, after which they will be placed on sale in the drug stores. Here is what the Chicago News said shortly after the great distribution had taken place in that city: "The most positive proof ever given to the public that Munyon's new school of medicine is indeed a wonderful one comes from this astonishing fact. Chicago citizens for twenty years past have never experienced such severe weather as during the last two weeks, and yet in face of this, such diseases as pneumonia and rheumatism have decreased rapidly. Over 37,000 people in this city alone are to day using Munyon's cures instead of employing a physician. To this fact alone can we attribute this remarkable falling off of these dread diseases."

A Petition is being largely signed in favor of the appointment of Walter Low, of Carleton, as driver of the ambulance.

MR. COOMBS' VIEWS.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Aug. 12.

To the Editor of the Globe:

Sir,—By late St. John papers I see it is proposed to oppose the return of the minister of railways. In appointing a Maritime Province man as minister of railways the government took a very proper step, and while doubtless there were others of the members elected with prior claims for a cabinet position, still, Mr. Blair having got the appointment, it would be well to return him by acclamation, and in that way have him know that he was expected so to administer his department as to serve the best interests of the whole province. For better or for worse the Liberals will govern Canada for a longer or shorter period, and it is desirable that no factious opposition be offered.

While in the past politically opposed to the late Premier of New Brunswick, still in his new field he is entitled to a fair trial. He may do better than his predecessor. As far as some of us are concerned he can scarcely do worse. In re protests, in this province of P. E. I., with one exception, every seat is reported protested. The members elected are good average citizens. Protests after an election should be the exception and not the rule, for they stir up bitter feelings and injure trade.

Those of us who are not after an office, and would not get one if we were, want trade to get back to a normal condition as quick as possible.

Yours respectfully,
H. F. Coombs.

GENERAL NEWS.

A snowfall four inches in depth is reported from Shell Creek, Big Horn county, Wyoming.

They say Sir Edward Clarke's retainer on receiving the Jameson brief was 500 guineas, while every day he had a refresher of 100 guineas.

Mr. McDonald, a Cincinnati millionaire, has built a magnificent structure at Tracadie, P. E I, and is expected to spend $20,000 a year on the island.

When Charles G. Cabanne decided to elope with Miss May Martin from Bardstown, Ky., he sent a friend with a tandem to invite the girl for a ride, and later met the couple a few blocks from the house, took his friend's place on the machine and wheeled off with his lady love to the parson.

According to report the Emperor of Japan has been presented with another daughter; but his highness is anxious to have a son. Only two sons have been born to him, although he is blessed with nine wives. The first son died in infancy, and the present Prince Imperial is in such poor health that he is not expected to live long enough to reach the throne.

The woman burglar who takes her baby along while she burgles is the very newest thing in fresh and novel femininity. Her name is Catherine Holt, aged eighteen, and she and the baby, aged six months, are in jail at Portsmouth, Ohio. With her younger sister, Lizzie, Catherine walked thirty-four miles, from Sinking Springs to Pond Creek, broke into a farmhouse in the absence of the family, stayed all night, and stole $52 and some jewelry.

George Haven Putnam propounds a curious explanation for the poor quality of the paper used in recent European books. He says it is due to the decline of Moslem fanaticism on the eastern shores of the Mediterranean. Myriads of pilgrims used to cross those dreary deserts on their way to Mecca, every one clothed in fine linen. Thousands died by the wayside, and it was a profitable business to strip the bodies of their linen for the use of European paper mills. Now the Moslem is losing his faith and the publishers are losing their supply of the best grade of paper.—Washington Star.

At the Halifax Board of Trade the other day a communication from the Winnipeg Board of Trade asked the co-operation of the Halifax Board with a view to the appointment of agents in northern Europe for the purpose of encouraging immigration to Canada. Senator Power suggested that measures to keep Nova Scotians at home would be more opportune. An animated discussion followed. J. A. Chipman moved, seconded by G. J. Troop, that the resolution be referred to the Maritime Board of Trade, which meets in St. John next month. Mr. Chipman's motion carried unanimously.

For some time past, says the St. John's Herald, in a certain section of the east end, it has been said that ghostly visitors have taken possession of a vacant house. Lately neighbors have heard strange noises about midnight, for which they can attribute no cause. To one family it appears as if some heavy body were taken and thrown with great violence against the building, making it shake and shiver from the contact. The first of this week one woman had occasion to look out in her yard at a late hour, and positively asserts that something supernatural was distinctly seen by her crossing the vacant land in rear of the building. In another dwelling the lady of the house was taken suddenly ill, and all power of speech left her for three days, and her daughter, on the night of the regatta, was also stricken suddenly, so that medical advice had to be obtained in all haste. They both say it was caused from fright received several evenings ago by what they had seen.

WAR!

Protect Our City and Its Manufactures!

The fight is over Cottons, and to be more particular it's over what is known as FLANNELETTES or Fancy Shaker Flannel.

Some few months ago the "Parks Cotton Mills," of this city, commenced the manufacture of a superior quality in fast colorings and choice new designs of Flannelettes; at once placed them on sale throughout the Dominion at honest, fair prices to consumers. Their superiority in colors and wear soon put other Canadian makes of these lines in the background, and now the goods are being put below prices ever before named, for the purpose, can we think, of putting our city mills out of business.

This cannot be done. Let our City and Provincial customers buy only PARKS MILL FLANNELETTES, and have the best as well as the cheapest.

All the new designs and best colorings will be sold by us until further notice at

6¾ CENTS PER YARD.

☞ Remember, they are best 10c. goods, 32 inches wide.
