St. John Globe

ST. JOHN, N. B., SEPT. 12, 1896.

TO-DAY'S PAPER.

The GLOBE to-day contains twenty-nine columns of reading matter. In the extra sheet there is correspondence on live subjects, poetry by Alfred Austin and others, music, a story, and general reading of varied interest.

THE WESTMORLAND TRAGEDY.

There appears to be no room for doubt that a crime of the most atrocious character was committed at Meadow Brook, Westmorland county. The latest news from the scene of the tragedy to-day dispels any hope that the loss of life and the burning of the Dutcher house were due to accident. It seems to be certain that the dreadful crime was deliberately planned and carried out, but why or by whom is not yet clear. Two lives were taken, and a third young life is hovering on the borders of death, making a tragedy which has been unequalled in savagery in this province for very many years. So far as is suspected robbery was the motive of the murderer and incendiary, but investigation may disclose other reasons for the crime. The tragedy is one that calls for prompt and energetic action on the part of the authorities. The guilty parties should not have the slightest opportunity to escape.

FAIR PLAY FOR LABOR.

Hon. Mr. Laurier was very outspoken in a matter that was brought to his attention by a delegation of railway employes the other day. The case was that of the employes of the Gatineau Valley and Pontiac Pacific Railway, hundreds of whom have claims for back pay and cannot get satisfaction. It was stated that the road was a paying undertaking. Mr. Laurier, after listening to all that had been said, declared it was a blot upon the institutions of Canada that laboring men of any class should be kept out of their just pay for months at a time, and said if a company is not able to pay its hands their daily remuneration, it will not be tolerated,—a remedy will have to be found. This is only a reasonable view of the matter, and Mr. Laurier is likely to see that the men receive justice.

STREET PREACHING.

It has long been a puzzling question with earnest Christians how to present the truths of religion to the large number of persons who do not attend church. The Salvation Army has solved it by going to the people, and in time they have found that they could attract enough non-church-going people to make a permanent organization. It is worthy of note that the Roman Catholic church in England has taken up street preaching. Work of this kind is now being done in London under the guidance of Rev. John Vaughan, brother of the cardinal archbishop. The Catholic World, directing attention to this new movement, says the method adopted is to "secure professional Catholic laymen, who have an attractive presence and are good talkers, and on Sunday afternoon gather a crowd of listeners in some of the open parks and address the crowd on vital topics of religious interest. The report of the work indicates that the addresses have been received with uncommon interest; certain classes have been reached who would not have been reached otherwise, and the truths of religion have been brought home to many estranged from church organizations." Only a few years ago Archbishop Ireland, the eloquent western divine, speaking at Baltimore when a church congress was held there, declared that if the people did not go to church it would be necessary to send the preachers to the people in the streets and in the lanes and by-ways. His British co-religionists appear to have adopted this view and put it into active practice.

THE SITUATION IN CUBA.

The news regarding the conflict in Cuba generally comes from two sources—either from Madrid, which gives the Spanish side, or from Key West, which gives the rebel version of affairs. On the one hand the newspaper reader learns that the Spanish troops are constantly winning victories, and on the other hand that the decisive engagements always end with rebel successes. The London Times, however, has a correspondent who is believed to be able to judge accurately, and to state without prejudice the situation on the island, and he writes favorably to the revolutionists. After careful study for four months, he says, he is convinced that, despite serious losses, the rebels are holding their own against the troops. He says the wealthy agricultural districts are completely under rebel control, and the whole sympathy of the islanders is with the rebels. Even Havana, which is more Spanish than any other town or district, is permeated with animosity toward Spanish rule, and is honeycombed with intriguers on behalf of the rebellion. He declares that it is quite false to call it a color struggle. In the fighting ranks of the insurgents the proportion is 70 per cent. of whites to 30 per cent. of negroes. The correspondent adds:

Another fallacy is the rebel contention that Spanish misrule originated the rebellion. The crisis in the sugar trade was much more formidable in fomenting the revolt. The struggle is prolonged by the facility with which the insurgents obtain ammunition and stores of all kinds from abroad, and from every town in Cuba under the noses of the Spanish officials with impunity, the seizure of contraband being more rare.

It is now too late to compromise by granting reforms. The Cuban insurgents would not now accept full autonomy as the price of yielding their arms. I say this advisedly, after a careful examination of the situation from all points of view. Spain will be compelled to conquer or to abandon the island. This irreconcilable attitude of the rebels is largely due to the wholesale execution of rebels after summary trial. These drastic measures only increase the hatred of Spain without deterring recruits from joining the rebellion.

Another reason is the hopeless prospect of any rehabilitation of Cuban credit while the island is under Spanish dominion. Taxation must be heavily increased to pay the burdens of the war. Hence the people with vested interests prefer the risk and uncertainties of independence coupled with the earnest hope that at no distant date Cuba will become a state in the American Union.

Notwithstanding the depressing condition of things Spain is determined to carry on the struggle. Forty thousand more troops are to be forwarded, and if these are not sufficient to quell the rebellion twenty five thousand additional men will be sent to the island. The end of the rainy season is approaching and energetic measures are promised to suppress the rebellion. But they may be as futile as the operations of the last year and a half, with all their loss of life and vast expenditure of money.

Ontario Conservatives have not yet commenced to throw stones or decayed fruit at the Governor General, but they are seeking to have revenge in other ways. The conduct of the Conservative aldermen of St. Thomas is a case in point. A meeting of the City Council was called to consider the presentation of an address of welcome to Lord Aberdeen, who was about to visit the town. Six of the seven Conservative aldermen absented themselves, and as there was no quorum a meeting could not be held and no address could be presented. It is to be hoped Lord Aberdeen will not resign because of the slight put upon him by the loyalists of St. Thomas.

The peculiar manner in which the late government transacted business is shown in the matter involving the payment of $5,000 for the purchase of the patent rights to Oliver's infantry equipment. One of the administration's last acts was to order the purchase of this equipment. Now there comes a recommendation from Gen. Gascoigne that as tests are being made in England, and as improvements are also being made in the equipment, it is inadvisable to make any purchase at present. The result is that the order-in-council will not be carried out and the country will benefit to some extent.

HIS PRISON LIFE.

John Daly, Released Dynamiter, Speaks of His Experiences.

LONDON, Sept. 12.

John Daly, the Irish dynamiter who was released from Portland prison on August 20, returned from his visit to Paris to-day and will go to Limerick to-morrow. In an interview Daly said that he was getting stronger, but he is still afflicted with nervousness. Speaking of his prison experience, he said: "My prison life was too dreadful to think about. The English prison system is brutal at the best, but it is applied to Irish prisoners with the fullest severity. The officers of Portland prison were for a long time aware that Gallagher and Whitehead were insane, and the six Irish political prisoners who are still confined in Portland are all ill. One of them I believe to be already insane, and if these men are not released soon they will only come out into the world finally useless and shattered. I went to prison in good spirits as a sufferer for a great cause, but the terrible system observed there soon destroyed my natural buoyancy, enfeebled my body and wore out my mind. Though the hope of regaining my liberty remained, my heart got sick. I was twice at the point of death from illness due to the treatment to which I was subjected. Once I fainted while on my way to work in the carpenter shop, and was conveyed to the hospital, where I was confined at the time of my release. At the time of the hearing before the Parnell commission, emissaries of the government came to Portland prison to try to induce me to give testimony before that body, advancing a suggestion of my regaining liberty if I acceded to the proposals they made. The notorious spy and informer, Piggott, was one of these emissaries. I could not exactly understand from him what was wanted, but I was on my guard and refused to say anything. An inspector of the prison afterwards told me that these persons had no right or authority to hold out hopes of my release. Daly, in conclusion, said that he was still confident of the ultimate triumph of the Irish cause.

PROVISIONING A HOTEL.

Great Quantities of Food Required—Destruction of China-Ware — Coffee-Making.

"Americans are great coffee-drinkers, and good coffee must be had at every hotel that finds favor," writes John Gilmer Speed in an article on "Conducting a Great Hotel," in the Ladies' Home Journal. "I was curious to learn how the great quantities were kept constantly on hand, and, at the same time, always fresh. The coffee-pot is a huge affair in which several gallons could be made at once. It is upon the French plan, and boiling water is poured over finely-ground, freshly-parched coffee. One man is kept making coffee all the time. He makes it in six-quart quantities, using for breakfast coffee six quarts of water to four pounds of coffee; for dinner coffee the water is reduced to five quarts to four pounds, and for after-dinner or black coffee to four quarts. The coffee pot is enameled inside because this can be kept clean, which tin cannot, as the coffee eats off the tin in a little while, and then in that pot it is next to impossible to make satisfactory coffee. I have mentioned these proportions and this matter of cleanliness of the pot because good coffee is just as easy to make as bad, if the material and the utensil be right. Boiled coffee is no longer served at first class hotels and restaurants. There is a tremendous breakage of china and glass in the kitchen and dining-rooms, and on the wash-tables. For many years past the proprietors of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York, have had to spend ten thousand dollars each year in new china. * * * To supply the hotel with potatoes the entire product of a fertile field of forty acres would be needed. Cranberry sauce is made regularly twice a week and on each occasion a half barrel of cranberries is used. For Thanksgiving Day a whole barrel of cranberries was required as sauce for the two hundred turkeys cooked. Eighty quarts of ice cream is generally consumed for a dessert at dinner daily, frequently more is required. Of the substantial edibles—meats—roast beef is the most called for."

At Toronto the loss to the Street Car Company owing to the bicycle is set down at $300 per day. Thousands who would ride bicycles, if they were cheaper, still patronize the cars, but as wheels come within reach of workingmen the receipts are expected to futher decrease. When the company got its charter the bicycle was not thought of as a rival. But worse still is alleged to be in store. A moter cycle is in progress of manufacture that will, it is said, carry half a dozen persons with the same noiseless rapidity that the bicycle now carries one.

It is actual merit that has given Hood's Sarsaparilla the first place among medicines. It is the One True Blood Purifier and nerve tonic.

McAvity's was represented by a crew of six, and under the conditions gave the Fleming four-oared crew five seconds start. The Fleming crew won by four or five lengths.

HAVE BECOME VALUABLE.

Prices Asked for the Properties at Sand Point.

The efforts of the city to get possession of certain properties in Carleton owned by the city but under lease have shown that the properties have wonderfully increased in value. One of the properties sought is the Ring blocks—just one lot. It was leased from the city on May 1, 1878, for 14 years which have now expired, and it is running for seven years in equity. For this lot a yearly rental of $20 is paid. Mr. Levi F. Ring, who now operates the blocks thereon, also had a small house on the property. The property was assessed for $1,500 and the city offered this amount to Mr. Ring, but it was declined. He has not made any formal offer to the city to sell, but it is said is willing to accept between $5,000 and $6,000. The city on its part claims the property is not worth as much because Mr. Ring did not own the properties on either side of him and was only able to use his blocks because the city allowed him to use the wharves free of charge. The property was formerly in the possession of Mr. Ring's father. He has had the use of the house and the revenue of the blocks, but when the sale is made will have to give one-half to a brother.

The property held by Mr. G. S. Mayes consists of two lots. Mr. Mayes purchased them from Mr. Otis Small for $3,200. They were leased on May 1, 1888, for ten years, and therefore the lease is only good for a year and a half longer. Mr. Mayes pays a rental of $12 for each lot. The property is assessed at $3,200, and Mr. Mayes was tendered that sum by the city. Since acquiring the property Mr. Mayes has built on it a wharf costing over $5,000. He therefore declined to accept the city tender. Mr. Mayes has not placed a price on his property, but is known to have told friends that he should get $20,000 or $25,000 for it.

Mr. W. Frank Hatheway has ten lots and pays $10 a year for each, a total of $100. His lease runs for 21 years from May 1, 1888. When Mr. Hatheway leased the property there was a wharf on it, and the city stipulated that if the property was taken the wharf was to stand for $1,000, to be deducted from any purchase price. Mr. Hatheway has built on the property a flour shed worth about $500. The property is assessed at $1,000. The city deducted the $1,000 value of the wharf and tendered Mr. Hatheway $500, the value of his shed, which he declined. Mr. Hatheway has made some counter proposals. He has offered to sell the city five of the lots for $10,000, and a renewal lease for the remaining five, without the $1,000 wharf clause. He has not set a price on the whole ten lots, but it is presumed expects $20,000 or more for them. He has also offered the city a 30 foot strip for $1,000, or a 60 foot strip for $2,000, or for $1,800 if the city will pile up the lumber, etc., torn from the end of his wharf. It is said that a few years ago, when the celebrated J. D. Leary had on hand his monster scheme of dry docks, wharves, etc., Mr. Hatheway offered to sell him the whole ten lots for $5,000.

The city recently acquired another property—that of Messrs. Wilson & McLachlan—which was wanted in connection with the harbor improvements. This property was a very valuable one, consisting of blocks for large vessels and a timber pond. For the whole property $10,000 was accepted by the owners. Since the city acquired the property interest has been earned on the expenditure.

Some interesting questions are coming up in connection with the expropriation of the Mayes and Hatheway properties needed for the West side harbor improvements. The legal representatives of Mr. Mayes will, it is said, take objections to the appointment of Mr. D. J. McLaughlin. The act providing for the expropriation of property is a special one passed last year and is very brief. According to the contention of Mr. Mayes's lawyers the city had no power to appoint a new arbitrator when Mr. Sime resigned, but was bound to investigate anew the proceedings for the expropriation. The act, it is said, does not provide machinery for the appointment of an arbitrator if one retires, though it does if one is disqualified by the courts. Some lawyers who were consulted by the GLOBE admitted that the question would admit of a nice legal argument. They said the law was not very clear in its provision, but inclined to the view that the courts would hold the appointment of Mr. McLaughlin was legal. An objection to Hon. Mr. Pugsley as arbitrator for Mr. W. Frank Hatheway may come from the city, on the ground that Mr. Pugsley is not a disinterested party, and is therefore disqualified for acting. Mr. Pugsley's interest is alleged to be in the fact that he is one of Mr. Mayes's legal advisers. Whether or not this would be sufficient to disqualify him may raise another nice argument.

THE EXHIBITION.

Entries for all kinds of exhibits will be received at the office of the secretary during the coming week, ending 19th inst. Later applications will be received if space admits.

Owners of last year's exhibit erections must remove them at once to make room for the new ones, otherwise they will be torn down by the workmen of the association.

The London Art Union display for the exhibition arrived in the steamer City of Saint John, and will be placed in the exhibition art room. There are quite a number of pictures and works of art. One excellent picture is valued at fifteen hundred dollars.

The stockyard of the fair is nearly ready for the reception of live stock. The superintendent, Mr. Frost, will be on the grounds next week to award boxes and stalls. Live stock entries are now being received in considerable numbers.

Circumstances have prevented the provincial government from purchasing and exhibiting live stock at the coming exhibition. Owners of valuable stock exhibiting at the fair will have an opportunity to offer their animals at auction without incurring expenses, at the stock sale, on the exhibition grounds, on Wednesday, 30th inst.

All passengers by rail and steamer from all points in Prince Edward Island can procure return tickets at one fare from all stations. Similar tickets will be issued at stations on the I. C. Railway and all connecting railways. One fare tickets will be issued at all principal stations between Boston and St. John. A commuted ticket will be issued by the I. S. S. Co., particulars of which have not yet been received.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Sutherland arrived home in the Prince Rupert to-day. Mrs. Sutherland will receive her friends on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday next at her home, 134 Paradise Row.

Mr. S. Schofield has gone to Ottawa.

Senator Baird, of Perth, and Mr. F. B. Robb, Amherst, are at the Aberdeen.

POLICE COURT.

Frank Hamm, drunk in a vacant lot off Prince Wm. street, was fined $4.

Michael Kelly, drunk on Prince Wm. street, was fined $4.

Fred Treadwell, a young lad with a very dirty face, appeared for protection. As he has been sleeping in the cells for several nights the court thought it was getting stale, and had the boy put on the bench. He said he had been living at Belleisle Point on a farm, but they had called him names and he ran away. He landed in St. John without a cent and has no home. He is densely ignorant, not even knowing the months of the year, although he is 16 years of age. He has previously served a term in the reformatory. He was sent back to his home in Belleisle.
