St. John Globe

ST. JOHN, N. B., AUG 29 1896.

TO-DAY'S PAPER.

In the extra sheet is the London Times's account of the great tidal wave in Japan by which thirty thousand lives were lost; a letter from our Paris correspondent on current events; an illustrated sketch of Henry Guy Carleton, the playwright; base ball gossip from O. P. Caylor; the latest news about cyclers and cycling, a story, poetry, music and other attractive features. The GLOBE to day contains twenty-nine columns of reading matter.

THE GOVERNOR GENERAL'S COURSE.

The correspondence between the Governor General and the late Premier submitted to the House on Friday will make a mild sensation. Of course the public were aware of the main facts, viz., that the Governor General would not approve of a large number of senatorial and judicial appointments made by the Conservative government after its defeat. Lord Aberdeen took the ground that the administration was defeated and that it should therefore leave to its successor all appointments that were not absolutely necessary. Sir Charles Tupper bombarded His Excellency with precedents to show that in England and also previously in Canada after the defeat of the administration at the polls, appointments had been made, but His Excellency remained firm in his opinion that the matter could wait and that it was not wise to do anything which might embarrass the incoming administration. As in the Senate there were seventy-eight members, only five of whom were Liberals, there was surely no pressing need for the addition of more Conservatives. In this matter the country will be with the Governor General and very largely with him. In an old country like England, where the crown has the right to appoint Peers whenever it pleases, there may be no serious objection to the outgoing ministry appointing its friends to the House of Lords, but in Canada the second chamber being limited in point of numbers and its ranks filled an incoming administration has no recourse but to await the slow process of death before it can get even reasonable support in the chamber. Of course the responsibility for the action of the Governor General will fall now upon Mr. Laurier, but no doubt he will gladly assume that responsibility. His Excellency makes a keen thrust in regard to one of the proposed appointments. A vacancy at Quebec had not been filled for two years and His Excellency concluded that it could wait a few weeks longer. No doubt this constitutional correspondence will excite considerable comment, but the common sense view of the matter taken by the Governor General will be appreciated by the country.

THE CIVIL SERVICE AND POLITICS.

In an interesting discussion which took place in the House of Commons on Friday on the subject of the dismissal of civil servants, Hon. Mr. Davies, the GLOBE learns from Ottawa, laid down the principle which is to govern. No civil servant will be deprived of his office because of his political leaning, or because he may have voted against members of the present government or their supporters. Men who were active partisans, who attended and took part in political meetings, served on committees and worked at the polls in opposition to the party now in power have taken their official lives in their hands and cannot complain that they are unjustly treated if their places are vacated and other men appointed to fill them. To bring about action in such case elaborate investigation is unnecessary. When the evidence is so clear and plain that he who runs may read, when the interference and partizanship was so open and undisguised that the minister or the member was fully aware of it by the evidence of his own senses, there was ample ground upon which to act. Mr. Davies was certainly very conservative in the position which he took.

UNION NECESSARY.

It seems to be an open question whether the Irish leaders will avail themselves of the splendid opportunity that will be afforded them next week to unite their forces in the common cause. The convention of the Irish people which has been summoned at the suggestion of Archbishop Walsh, of Toronto, will meet at Dublin in a few days and will be attended by representatives of the race from all parts of the world. But, unfortunately, while Canada, the United States, Australia, South Africa and other distant portions of the globe will be represented at this parliament of the Irish people, some of the men who have been foremost in the public life of the country will not only be conspicuous by their absence, but will be more conspicuous by reason of their efforts to destroy the work of the convention. The meeting has been called by Mr. Dillon, the leader of the Irish Parliamentary party. For that reason it is most violently opposed by Mr. Redmond, who leads the Parnellites, and by Mr. Healy, who, with some followers, objects to Mr. Dillon's leadership, and denounces his plans and procedure. While the Redmondites and Healyites have not united in the House of Commons they are bending their best energies to paralyze the action of Mr. Dillon and the majority of the Irish party. With the continued existence of such breaches in the party it will be, of course, impossible to achieve anything for their country. Even when the land bill was before the House of Commons the Irish members were unable to present a united front. No doubt the efforts of the convention will be seriously devoted to putting an end to this state of affairs. The men in whom the great mass of the people have confidence, Mr. Dillon, Mr. Davitt, Mr. Wm. O'Brien, Mr. Blake and others, are heartily in favor of the convention and will eagerly work to make it produce good fruits. Should the gathering fail to secure a fusion of the warring elements the Irish cause will receive a blow from which it will take a long time to recover. If the people directly interested cannot come to an agreement it can hardly be expected that the race s attered in other lands will continue to afford them the assistance they have so generously given in the past. The moment seems propitious for a settlement of the existing differences, and for a movement that would lead to success. The country is in a peaceful state. There has been no coercion law in operation for four years. The land laws have been modified. The industrial condition of the people has improved. Every thing seems favorable, except the overweening ambition of man, and a false step now may be utterly ruinous. That wise counsels shall prevail will be the general wish of the well-wishers of that unfortunate country.

The inefficiency of the system of auditing commonly employed is exposed in two recent instances. One of them is the case of the Baptist educational institutions. The treasurer, a worthy man in his way, was interested in farming and shipping, and he mixed the educational financial affairs with his own in a way that ended in a loss of $10,000 to the church, a large portion of which sum, however, he after wards made good. In the years that this deficiency was accumulating, his books had been "audited" year after year, and pronounced correct. The second instance is supplied by the city of Guelph, Ont. There the treasurer was found to be short in funds in a given period. Then it was decided to extend enquiry back a number of years, and examination of the books showed that the treasurer was over $12,000 behind. His books had been annually audited, and the taxpayers had the assurance that the accounts were all right. In both the Nova Scotia and Ontario cases the auditors had simply taken things for granted.

The next electoral struggle will be in Quebec, the only province in the Dominion having a government entirely Conservative. There is to be another session of the Legislature, and then an appeal to the people, for which the provincial Liberal leader is now making preparation. Mr Marchand is a man of ability, and he will probably be the next premier of Quebec Mr. Flynn at present leads the Quebec administration. He was a member of the provincial government which Mr. Joly led, but afterwards went over to the tories.

BALFOUR AND GLADSTONE

CONSERVATIVE CHIEF VISITS THE EX-PREMIER.

What Does It Mean?—The Liberals and Education—Chamberlain's South African Move.

LONDON, Aug. 29.

The ministers are resting from their labors and their works will not follow them till the recess campaign begins. Mr. A. J Balfour seems fated to be the first member of the cabinet to open the campaign, by appearing before his Manchester constituents. Prior thereto he will visit Mr. Gladstone at Hawarden. His visit will begin to-morrow, and he will remain Mr. Gladstone's guest for several days. Considerable interest pertains to the meeting and everybody is asking why the Conservative leader should thus seek out and be received by the one statesman who is still regarded as a sort of spiritual head of Liberalism. Mr. Balfour's friends assert that both statesmen have much in common in their range of studies apart from politics, and can certainly point to the fact that Mr. Gladstone has received Mr. Balfour at Hawarden once already, after the election of 1874, when metaphysics was more likely to be their subject of discussion than politics. But Mr. Balfour has become leader of the House since then, with a policy on education which he already has asked Mr. Gladstone to support publicly, knowing he sympathises with it privately. The conference in well-informed Liberal quarters is believed to refer to how far Mr Gladstone will give open support to the government proposals in aid of sectarian education.

Nothing is fixed as to the programme of the Liberal leaders during the recess. The old difficulty continues of each man for his own hand, so that the party will hear the variant voices of Harcourt, Rosebery and Morley, each somewhat in unison, but with a note of discord running through their declarations.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, prior to his departure for America, appointed Mr. William Conyngham Greene, now secretary of legation at Teheran, special agent to represent Great Britain at Pretoria. There is special significance in this step. The new envoy will have direct relations with the colonial office instead of acting through the high commissioner of the Cape and will have a salary of, it is said, £1 500 per annum paid from the imperial exchequer. The appointment of such a minister is a kind of recognition of the independence of the Transvaal, and is obviously designed to conciliate the Boers, but is not likely to induce the party of independence, headed by Dr. Leyds, to abate their demands a jot. According to some leading English papers there is really no such party. The Transvaal government coincides in the maintenance of the London convention. It will allow Great Britain to retain its veto on treaties concluded by the Transvaal, and, finally, the Boers are now arming and want to fight. The British agent, Cloete, at Pretoria, proving himself a better man than his predecessor, Sir Jacobus De Wolf, sends such details of Boer armaments as amply show that they mean a prolonged campaign with a strong power. If the British government adopts the plan of sending gradual reinforcements the Boers will strike at once. Probably within a year the matter will be settled by British recognition of the Transvaal as an independent power.

The House of Commons committee on South Africa will not meet till Parliament resumes in January, but there will be a crisis meeting of the chartered company before Parliament opens and Rhodes must be present.

ARMENIANS MASSACRED

LONDON, Aug. 29.

A despatch from Constantinople under date of Thursday says that besides the bombs which they possessed the seizers of the Ottoman Bank had sixteen pounds of dynamite. Only nine of the number forming the party that seized the bank were alive when the decision to surrender was reached. Fearful scenes were enacted on Wednesday night, especially in Topanes, Hasskeni and Kissim Pasha districts, where mobs of Lazes and Kurds of the worst character looted shops and residences and murdered everybody whom they suspected of being an Armenian or a sympathizer with the Armenians. A moderate estimate places the number of killed at between 3,000 and 4,000.

WILDE'S RELEASE PROBABLE.

LONDON, Aug. 29.

Since the death of his mother, Lady Wilde, the health of Oscar Wilde has broken down. There appears to have been deep affection between them. The Home Secretary recently decided there should be no remission of the sentence. That decision is now under revision and Wilde's release is probable in October.

It is actual merit that has given Hood's Sarsaparilla the first place among medicines. It is the One True Blood Purifier and nerve tonic.

The speculators who for several years have been buying up and draining the small lakes of Iowa are in hard luck. The heavy rains have flooded their possessions, and the lakes are again doing business at the old stand, with more water than in many years before the drouths came on.

FIRE AT NEWCASTLE.

Ritchie's Mill and a Quantity of Lumber Burned.

Insurance men to-day received word of the destruction by fire last night of Messrs. D. & J. Ritchie's steam saw mill at Newcastle, together with a quantity of lumber. No particulars were given as to how the fire originated, or as to the quantity of lumber destroyed. The mill was a large and valuable one and the loss will be considerable. The insurance on the mill is $12 000. divided as follows: Lancashire, $2 700; Imperial, $2 400; Liverpool & London & Globe, Æ na and Northern, $1,800 each, and Union, $1 500

Our Newcastle correspondent telegraphs: Fire broke out in D & J Ritchie's mill here about 11 o'clock last night. The fire was discovered by the watchman about one of the gangs in the mill. He immediately gave the alarm, but within a very few minutes the whole mill was ablaze. The town turned out and did what they could to save the property and most of the lumber on the wharf was saved Two vessels loading at the wharf, the Valona, belonging to the firm, and the Svea, a Norwegian barque, were towed to safe anchorage by the steamer Rustler, Capt. Russell. The Valona is badly damaged. The two vessels had on board about $20,000 worth of lumber. The mill and all the machinery was destroyed and considerable damage was done to the wharf. The total loss is between $40,000 and $50 000; insurance, $12 000. The companies insured in are the Liverpool & London & Globe, Hartford, Lancashire, Æ na, Imperial, and Union. The fire throws out of employment about 400 men.

CHARGES AGAINST REV. MR. HENDERSON.

Mr. Hamilton Presents Them to the Bishop—Reports to the A. M. E. Conference on Literature, Education, Etc.

At the afternoon session of the A M E. conference on Friday, Rev. Dr. J. A. Johnson, who was pastor of St. Philip's church twenty years ago, was introduced to the conference as the able pastor of the church at Washington. He spoke briefly to the conference.

The committee on circuits and stations submitted its report. It recommended that there be no changes in the stations excepting that the Liverpool and Shelburne circuits be formed into one. It also recommended that Fredericton, Prince Edward Island, Kingsclear, Annapolis and Maroon Hill be supplied with one missionary. The report was adopted.

At the evening session Rev. L. J. Coppin, of the Bethel church, Philadelphia, preached a very able sermon, Bishop Grant spoke a few words, and Rev. Dr. Johnson told of his pastorate in St. John twenty years ago. After singing and prayer the meeting adjourned.

At this morning's session a great deal of time was given to reports. Church literature and education was discussed, and excellent addresses were delivered by Rev. Dr. L J Coppin of Philadelphia and Rev. Dr. Albert Johnson of Washington. The latter is a most fluent speaker. The committee on education stated that much literature was needed to fit the ministers to stem the torrent of racial distinction which now exists. In the Maritime Provinces the public schools are all open to the youth regardless of race or color. The committee spoke of the negligence of parents in not sending their children to school, and presented a resolution that all ministers keep abreast with the times. The report was adopted.

Bishop Grant referred at length to many of the colleges controlled by the A. M E church in the States, for which over $80-000 had been paid out in four years for their maintenance.

The committee on memoirs referred to the losses the church had sustained, particularly by the death of Bishop Wayman.

The rest of the morning was taken up in discussing the dead and Bishop Grant gave some interesting reminiscences of colored men who had taken a front rank in the United States, dealing notably with Frederick Douglass and Bishop Ward.

Mr. Charles Hamilton placed in the hands of the Bishop, in writing, his reasons for not attending to his official duties in St. Philip's church, and the matter will be investigated to night. Mr. Hamilton prefers two distinct charges against Rev. Mr. Henderson and states why he should not preside over the congregation of St. Philip's as pastor. Mr. Hamilton says that Rev. Mr. Henderson, shortly after his arrival here, became complicated in matters which led to his imprisonment and which have never been satisfactorily explained. Mr. Hamilton further states that more recently Rev. Mr. Henderson, although a married man, was discovered in Agate's saloon on Prince William street conducting himself in an unseemly manner with another woman, not his wife. This latter charge, Mr Hamilton declares, can be substantiated by an eye-witness.

On Sunday there will be a love feast at St. Philip's at 9 30 a. m.; preaching by Rev. Mr. Coppin at 11 a. m.; preaching by the Bishop with the celebration of the Holy Communion at 3 p. m., and preaching by Rev. Dr. Johnson at 7 p. m.

WONDERFUL REFRIGERATORS.

Messrs. Slipp & Flewelling, the well-known pork packers, are bound to be up with the times. All summer they have been making extensive improvements to their factory and they have crowned the improvements by putting in two large refrigerators which are chilled by the ammonia refrigerating process. This is the first time this process has been used in the Maritime Provinces. The large cooler is 22 x 34 feet and the other one about half this size. Around the walls are coils of iron pipes through which flows condensed ammonia. This chills the air and lowers the temperature to 34 degrees, just above the freezing point. It also absorbs all moisture from the air, and meats placed in these coolers would keep any length of time, perfectly fresh. The plant was procured by Messrs. Slipp & Flewelling from the celebrated firm of Westinghouse, Church, Kerr & Co. Their engineer, Mr. Axel L.tberg, is here placing the plant in operation. The plant consists of a condenser and coils of pipes running from the condenser to the coolers. The plant is charged with 150 lbs of ammonia, and the condenser is easily operated by the ordinary steam power of the factory The ammonia is pumped from the condenser to the coolers. By the time it circulates through them it absorbs all the warmth and it flows back through another set of pipes and is cooled by passing through a coil over which cold water flows, and from thence it goes back to the condenser to begin again. Messrs. Slipp & Flewelling have now ample cold storage accommodation for their extensive business and will not in future be obliged to use ice.
