ANCIENT SALIC LAW.

IT PREVENTS WOMEN FROM BEING QUEENS IN SOME COUNTRIES.

No Other Law Has Caused So Much Bloodshed—Through This Code the Kingdom of Hanover Lost Its Independence and Was Absorbed by Prussia.

A relic of prehistoric barbarism, of times when women were regarded as soulless beings but one remove superior to the brute creation, is that Salic law which debars the fair sex from all rights of succession to most of the thrones of Europe. No one knows with any degree of certainty the origin of this law, although many theories and arguments have been advanced regarding it, yet there is no law that has been the cause of so much bloodshed and desolation throughout the last 800 years.

Nearly all the historic wars that have taken place in Europe since the days of the first crusade may be attributed to the existence of this law, and even in the present century sanguinary struggles have taken place on its account. Great Britain and Russia are the only two countries where it has never secured any foothold.

Spain, Portugal and Holland have within the last 100 years erased the law from their statute books, and have benefited by the change, while since the reign of Maria Theresa and the seven years' war it exists only in a modified form in Austria, and, perhaps, not at all in the kingdom of Hungary.

But it is still in force in Denmark, in Sweden, in Prussia and all the other federal states of the German empire, as well as in Belgium, Italy, Roumania, Servia, Bulgaria and Greece, the national constitution of which, being of a more mushroom character and drawn up by enlightened statesmen of the present century, might reasonably be expected to be more up to date and free from such narrow mediæval prejudices and doctrines.

It is precisely in the three countries which are now ruled by women—England, Holland and Spain—that the greatest degree of peace and prosperity prevails, the three royal widows displaying far more common sense, enlightened statesmanship and political sagacity than any of their brother monarchs.

Under the circumstances it must be a matter of regret that the Salic law should debar a number of beautiful, charming and clever princesses from succeeding to thrones. Thus there is the pretty Princess Pauline of Wurttemberg, the only child of the present king and a young girl whom it is no exaggeration to describe as the national idol.

Yet, notwithstanding the fact that all the affection of the people is centered in her, she is compelled by the Salic law to stand aside and to permit her father's crown to descend to a distant cousin, born and bred not in Wurttemberg, but in Austria, and who, in addition to being regarded as a foreigner, has the supreme disadvantage, in the eyes of the Lutherans and Protestants, constituting the vast majority of the nation, of being a Catholic.

Although King Oscar of Norway is one of the most enlightened and accomplished of man, endowed with a character that can only be described as unblemished, he has not proved a successful ruler.

The fact is that the king, in spite of all his talents and his perfections, moral and otherwise, is entirely wanting in that personal magnetism, and, if I may be permitted to coin the expression, that public tact which distinguished his homely, genial and by no means so intellectual brother, King Charles XV.

The latter had only one daughter, Princess Louisa, who inherited his qualities, and who, in spite of her plainness, was just as much the idol of both the Norwegians and Swedes as Princess Pauline of Wurttemberg is at Stuttgart. Over six feet high, and far from being endowed with intellect above the average, she possesses the best temper in the world and an inexhaustible fund of merriment and good humor, and a heart as big as her laugh, which has been compared to that of a horse.

Had she been permitted to succeed her father as queen regent of Sweden and Norway it is doubtful whether the present conflict in the sister kingdom would ever have arrived at the acute stage, and certainly the loyalty to the throne on both sides of the border would not have reached its present low ebb. But, being debarred from her father's throne by the Salic law, she married the crown prince of Denmark, carrying out of the country of her birth all the vast wealth which she had inherited, partly from her father, and partly, too, from her Dutch granduncle, which is estimated at £5,000,000.

It is to the Salic law that the kingdom of Hanover is indebted for the loss of its independence and for its absorption by Prussia, with all the disadvantages which that entails, economic, political and social. Had Queen Victoria not been barred by this statute from succeeding to the throne of Hanover at the time when she ascended that of Great Britain there is no doubt that Hanover would have been enjoying at the present moment the same commercial prosperity and manifold advantages which have fallen to the lot of the English since the beginning of the Victorian era.

But instead the Salic law made necessary the separation of the crown of Hanover from that of England, and it passed in 1837, not to Victoria, but to the Duke of Cumberland. His very first act on succeeding to the throne was to repeal the grant of all the popular liberties conceded by his younger brother, the Duke of Cambridge, who had been acting as viceroy, and until 1836 Hanover, although free from the obligation of compulsory military service and unhampered by any Prussian restrictions upon trade, remained a hotbed of feudalism and one of the most retrograde states in Europe.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

CANADIANS PUSHING TRADE.

Orders for Furniture Booked in Irish Cities.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.

Consul James B. Taney writes the Department of State from Belfast, Ireland, that Canadians are making great efforts to introduce household and office furniture in all parts of the kingdom. One agent of an Ontario firm within a week took orders for about $5,000 worth of furniture in Belfast, and in Dublin for about $10,000 worth Mr. Taney says that Canadians are making vigorous efforts to divert the export trade from other countries to their own and are quite successful not only in many branches of manufactured goods, but also in products of the farm. Each successive year finds the Canadian people elbowing their way more extensively into foreign trade and successfully competing with the exporters of other countries.

Feed the Nerves

Upon pure, rich blood, and you need not fear nervous prostration. Nerves are weak when they are improperly and insufficiently nourished. Pure blood is their proper food, and pure blood comes by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is thus the greatest and best nerve tonic. It also builds up the whole system.

HOOD'S PILLS are the favorite family cathartic, easy to take, easy to operate.

The Distinction.

[Washington Times.]

Tom—Then you disapprove of whiskers Miss Gushingly?

Miss Gushingly—Oh, no; not at all.

Tom—But didn't you just say as much?

Miss Gushingly—I only said, "It was a fashion that I invariably set my face against."

Luck still abides with Marcus Daly, the western horseman. The victory of his colt in the race for the Futurity stakes at Sheepshead Bay on Saturday amply demonstrates that fact. This is reckoned the greatest prize of the American turf, and it was won by a colt that was not thought of before the race by anybody except Mr. Daly, who is reported to have taken in something like $150,000 in wagers on his colt, in addition to the rich stakes.

MUNYON.

The Talk of the City.

GREAT TEST BEGINS.

3,964 Persons Suffering from Rheumatism Call for Munyon's Wonderful Cure.

Free Distribution Now Going on at

THE GLOBE OFFICE.

If you are interested do not fail to obtain a Free Sample of this Wonderful Rheumatism Cure, as the Distribution Closes at 6 p. m. To-day.

From 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. the GLOBE office was crowded with citizens of St. John and surrounding towns who wished to obtain a free sample of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure.

The throng was composed of people from all the walks of life. The banker, the minister, mechanic and farmer, one just as anxious as the other to obtain relief from the dreaded disease. During the day could be seen on the street, in the stores, cars and offices, men and women carefully counting out their dose of the wonderful little pellets, fearful that they should miss one hour in the forty-eight, in which time Munyon's Remedy usually cures.

Professor Munyon's representative was seen last night and in answer to a reporter's inquiries said: "We have no doubt whatever as to the result of the test, having passed through the most searching investigations in Montreal, Toronto, Quebec, Hamilton, Ottawa, London and all the principal cities in the United States made by the leading papers in those cities and in no case have we failed to cure less than 90 out of every 100 who used the remedies as directed. Oh yes," he remarked, "this company puts a cure up for every disease just as efficacious as this one and by the time this investigation is finished we expect to have at least 25,000 people converted to this school of medicine."

Munyon's Remedies are radically different from those used by the regular school of homeopathy. There is no experimenting, no guess work, no danger, no loss of time. If you have a disease, Munyon has a cure.

TESTIMONIALS.

Cured With One Vial of Munyon's Rheumatism Remedy.

Michael Martin, 845 St. James street, Montreal, says: "For the last four years I have been a sufferer from rheumatism, and although I have tried several so called remedies, I never received any benefit until I secured a bottle of Munyon's Rheumatic Cure. I found the good effects of this remedy after taking three doses, and was completely cured before I finished the bottle."

I purchased one vial and before I finished using it my pains vanished and to day I am a cured man and have no hesitation in recommending Munyon's Remedies."

J. Usherwood Joins the Converts' Ranks.

Mr. J. Usherwood, residing at 148 Lusignan street, Montreal, upon being interviewed, said: "Put me down as one of Munyon's admirers. I suffered rheumatic pains and could obtain no relief until I tried Munyon's Remedy. The result has been excellent, and I am confident that I am a cured man."

A Japanese gentleman who is visiting in Washington is greatly surprised to read in the newspapers about the people who died in America from excessive heat. In Tokio, he says, "we have three months of very hot weather, just about the sort that you have in Washington, but it is a rare thing for any of my countryman to expire from sunstroke. I think one reason that such deaths are less frequent in Japan is that the people dress in much lighter clothing than they do in the United States. They also are more temperate in the matter of food and drink, eating no meat and drinking no very ardent spirits. The rice beer that the natives make contains some per cent. of alcohol, but it isn't enough to do much hurt."

There are, says the Figaro, at least 200 horse-butcher shops in Paris. The first one dates from July 1, 1866, since when the consumption has grown continuously. In 1872, 5,034 horses were eaten in Paris; in 1878, 10,000; in 1894, 21,227; in 1895, more than 30,000. A still larger growth of the hippophagic habit is possible, as automobiles and bicycles take the place of horses.

REVENGE OF A DAUGHTER.

CELIA ROSE, CHARGED WITH KILLING THREE RELATIVES, WAS INFATUATED WITH A YOUNG NEIGHBOR.

They Chided Her For It—Angry, It is Said, She Set About the Execution of Her Plans for Their Death—Now Denies Her Confession.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, Aug. 15.

No crime in the history of Richland county compares with the alleged poisoning of the Rose family by a daughter who seems to be a moral monstrosity. She is apparently utterly devoid of sentiment or sympathy and she is as violent in infatuation as in anger.

George Berry, a neighbor, first called the attention of David Rose to the fact that the girl, Celia, was associating with his son more than he thought proper, and warned Mr. Rose that if trouble came of it he (Berry) would not be held responsible.

Celia at that time was in the fields with Guy Berry, eighteen years old, with whom she had become infatuated, although he was five or six years her junior, and to whom she insists she is engaged to be married. Mr. Rose, who was violent in his speech when angered, and from whom the girl seems to have inherited the same trait, brought his daughter home and berated her with unusual severity.

His only clemency was a promise not to tell Mrs. Rose if Celia would cease her overtures, it being well known that she sought Guy's society, despite his seeming indifference. But Rose told his wife, and she also scolded the girl harshly, which intensified Celia's hatred against her parents.

SYSTEMATIC POISONING.

It was June 24 that the poison was administered in cottage cheese prepared for the family breakfast. All ate of the poisoned food except Celia, who took a spoonful from the dish, but left it on her plate uneaten. In a few hours Mrs. Rose became sick. Mr. Rose, while on his way to Newville, the nearest village, for a physician, also became ill. The brother, Walter Rose, who was about thirty years old, went to a neighbor's home to work and then suddenly became ill.

The father died five days later, the brother five days after his father, and by that time Mrs Rose was almost recovered, when she was given another dose of poison from which she died in a few days. During the sickness and the death of her parents and brother Celia manifested such stolid indifference that the neighbors who had assisted in caring for the victims suspected her.

The community in which the Rose family resided and was well respected is one of the best in Ohio. No neighbor had any ill-will toward the family, so that the only one, apparently, who had a motive for revenge was the daughter, who showed no signs of grief at her relatives' decease.

A woman friend, by pretending to confess to Celia that she had once committed a crime, gained Celia's confidence and thereby extracted a confession from her, which was afterward reported in the hearing of concealed witnesses, but Celia now denies that she ever made a confession to anyone and protests that she is innocent.

DENIES HER GUILT.

She told this confidante, whose name has not been made public, that when her mother was suffering from the second dose she could hardly keep from laughing at her mother's agony. She made several such remarks, evincing an utter lack of remorse or regret.

Prosecuting Attorney Douglass, who has been at work on the case ever since the death of David Rose, is firmly convinced of her guilt, and the people of the neighborhood all believe her guilty. Celia Rose is about twenty-three or twenty-four years of age, of average height and weight, with small, gray eyes, deeply sunken under a prominent forehead, and a heavy crop of coarse flaxen hair. She is not repulsive, but wholly unattractive. She denies her guilt emphatically, but delights in talking about Guy Berry and her probabilities of marrying him some time.

Princess Li, the wife of Li Hung Chang, is 50 years old, but is said to look twenty years younger. Her feet have been fashioned to such smallness that she cannot walk, and has to be carried about in a chair—a magnificent one, of course—yet she owns 1,000 pairs of shoes. Her husband's wealth enables her to have nearly 1 000 silk dresses, and she can select from 500 fur garments in winter.
