INFORMATION WANTED.

Mr. John T. Richards, boarding house keeper, has received a letter from Mrs. Marshall, Winesburg, South Africa, asking for information regarding her husband, Albert S. Marshall. Marshall shipped on the steamer Bernu at St. John, but failed to join the vessel. It is supposed he went to Sackville. Mr. Richards would be pleased to hear from Marshall. Mr. Richards also has a letter for Marshall, which can be had on application.

A NEW CABLE.

North Sydney Herald: What will be one of the finest and by all means the most important cable in the world will shortly be laid from Penzance, Eng., to St. John, N. B. Several days ago Messrs. D. Lynch, cable engineer of New York, D. C. Dawson, of St. John, N. B., and superintendent of the eastern division of the Western Union Cable Company, and J. B. Dunham, cable manager of the Western Union Cable manager for Carboneau, Nfld., to locate a landing for the new cable. The latter will weigh about seven hundred pounds to the mile and will be laid from the aforementioned port on the southwest coast of England, thus making three cables for that place, two touching at Carboneau and one at Canso. The two already laid have been out of commission, through a fault, for nearly six months, but those will at once be repaired.

CONSULAR NOMINATIONS.

A Washington despatch says: Among the nominations just sent to the Senate are those of two Virginians, William Henry Robertson and William P. Kent, for important promotion in the consular service. Mr. Robertson was at one time consul at Yarmouth, N. S., and afterwards at Port Hope, Ont. He has recently been holding a similar position at Tangiers, Morocco, at a salary of $2,500 and is now nominated by President Taft for promotion to the consular generalship of Peru, with headquarters at Callao, at a salary of $4,500. Mr. Kent was the unsuccessful gubernatorial candidate of the republican party in Virginia at the last election, and was appointed to the consulate at St. John, N. B., at a salary of $3,000. He is now recommended by the President for promotion to the consulate at Newchwang, China, at a salary of $4,500.

TOURIST ASSOCIATION.

The New Brunswick Tourist Association is about to revise its lists of boarding places in the city and throughout the province. In order that the lists may be as full and complete as possible, all in the city and throughout the province who are prepared to give accommodation to summer visitors are requested to make known the fact to the Secretary, 85 Prince William street, St. John, N. B. Registration forms have been sent out and a request personally or by mail will bring one of these, which when filled out will put the Association in possession of information that may prove valuable and profitable to boarding house keepers in both city and country. It is desirable that those in the country who take boarders should give information about drives, boating, bathing and fishing, and other attractions in the vicinity. An early answer to this appeal will be appreciated.

THE RECENT FAILURES.

It is now considered settled at St. Stephen that there will be no call on the shareholders of the St. Stephen's Bank. The latter, however, are expected to lose all the money they put in, but nothing definite will be known until the annual meeting on May 16. It looked a short time ago as if there would be some differences of opinion at this meeting, but it is now reported from the border that harmonious relations will be preserved. It is supposed Mr. R. B. Kessen will be continued in charge of the winding-up proceedings, with a supervising committee of three shareholders. The assignment made by Mr. G. S. Cushing the other day to the Eastern Trust Co. was not a general assignment, but the assignment of specific assets. The mills, logs, etc., had been taken over by the Union Bank of Halifax to keep the industries going. Estimates of the liabilities place the figure at more than a million dollars, but no statement has been made by the bank.

ST. MARTIN'S MAN A VICTIM.

Mr. Geo. A. Smith, of St. Martins, was one of the victims of a shocking double fatality at Concord, Mass., on Tuesday last. Mr. Smith, who was employed on Mr. Benjamin Pope's stock farm, Stonewall, was sent with another employee, Oswald Rauscher, aged 18, to start an auxiliary gasoline engine, which was used to pump water when the windmill did not work. They did not return for some time, and Mr. Smith's brother, J. S. Smith, who is manager of the farm, went to search for them, and found the two men lying dead at the foot of the windmill tower. It was supposed that they had been struck by lightning, a steel tower acting as an excellent conductor. The deceased, who was 47 years old, was a native of St. Martins, and lived there until going to Concord. The

MYSTIC SHRINERS.

Dr. J. R. McIntosh returned to the city Sunday after a four weeks' trip to the South, the chief object of which was the annual meeting of the Imperial Council of the Order of Mystic Shriners. The council met at New Orleans on April 12 and 13, and it was estimated that it drew 30,000 persons to the city. A day of festivities preceded and followed the two days of meetings. The celebrated Mardi Gras festival was repeated for their benefit. In the afternoon the streets were filled with masked merrymakers, and in the evening an immense procession and pageant took place. Dr. McIntosh made the trip from New York to New Orleans by steamer, but returned by train, spending a week at Washington, another at Philadelphia, and another at New York and Brooklyn. The other Maritime representatives present were Mr. D. A. Morrison, of Amherst, and Mr. J. H. Thompson, of Charlottetown. The proposal to have a separate temple for Nova Scotia was brought up and was decided against.

EARLY CLOSING.

The early closing movement in the North End is making great headway in gaining the sympathy of the buying public. The following appeal in the form of a circular is being distributed: Ladies and Gentlemen: On behalf of the North End clerks we would appeal to you for your hearty support and co-operation in the early closing movement which has had a very encouraging start. Twenty stores beside the grocers (who close at 7 p. m.) have acceded to the humble request for an 8 o'clock closing from April 1st till October 1st (Saturdays excepted). We would respectfully ask you to do your shopping early. Buy! But buy before 8 p. m., and see that your merchant is an eight o'clock closer. Feeling sure of your sympathy in our efforts for relief from long hours, we remain yours, For a Bigger and Better St. John. The North End Early Closing Association.

The deceased, who was 47 years old, was a native of St. Martins, and lived there until going to Concord. The remains passed through the city today, going to St. Martins for interment. Accompanying the body were his brother, Mr. James D. Smith; two sisters, Miss Eufie and Mary Smith, of Boston, and his uncle, Mr. Alex. Paul, of Boston. He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Daniel Smith; one brother, Daniel, and two sisters, Miss Lizzie, at home, and Mrs. Jas. Long, all of St. Martins.

THURSDAY'S STABBING AFFRAY.

Two arrests were made this morning as a result of the stabbing affray on the West Side on Thursday night. Shubal Carvill and Edwin Olsen, aged 36 and 37 respectively, both of the West Side, were unexpectedly arrested by Sgt. Jacob Ross, about 10.30. The sergeant suspected these men as being participants ever since the affray took place, but could not locate them. This morning Carvill and Olsen were going to the police court to consult Mr. J. B. M. Baxter, when they were nabbed on King Street East. The arrest came as a surprise, and the prisoners made a strong protest against it, but all in vain. Carvill will face the more serious charge of fighting, cutting and wounding R. K. Tufts with a knife, while Olsen is charged with fighting. Others were engaged in the fight, but have not as yet been rounded up. The men were intoxicated at the time and while going over on the ferry boat they got into an altercation with Tufts and others. On Union street, West Side, blows were exchanged and finally Carvill, it is alleged, plunged a knife into Tufts, inflicting two wounds. They had dispersed before the police arrived, but Tufts, it is understood, has charged Carvill with doing the stabbing.

The court will go into mourning for six months, and the Lord Mayor has ordered that the great bell of St. Paul's shall be tolled throughout the day. So sudden was the King's death that most of the high government officials were absent. Premier Asquith, who is in Spain, cannot reach London before Monday.

It is the duty of the members of both Houses of Parliament to meet without summons as soon as they can assemble, to take the oath of allegiance and receive the message of the King.

All religious bodies issued calls for special prayers, and special services had been arranged for tomorrow for intercession for the King. The Catholic archbishop of Westminster, Mgr. Bourne, before King Edward's death, said the King's critical state called for special services in the churches of his diocese on Sunday, while the head of the Congregational, Baptist and other denominations, requested services and family prayers.

The Archbishop of Canterbury presided at a large charitable meeting between his visits to the palace. He said impressively: "Sickness and sorrow and the great issues of life and death, level all earthly barriers. I ask you, as Christians, to stand for a few minutes and say your prayers for our Sovereign, hanging this moment between life and death."

The audience rose, and after a minute of silence joined in the Lord's Prayer.

The tolling of church and fire bells on Friday night between 8 and 9 o'clock announced to the people of St. John that King Edward had departed this life. The fact was announced in the Opera House and received with deep silence. At the Nickel the announcement was followed by the immediate closing up of the house and the dismissal of the audience.

The King's Daughters and Sons were in annual session in the guild rooms when the sad news was telephoned in and the meeting was instantly adjourned.

Pioneer Lodge, I. O. O. F., which was in session, also decided to postpone consideration of the business before the meeting to a future occasion. Before

DEATH OF KING CAME SUDDENLY

His Majesty Passed Away About Midnight on Friday.

SURROUNDED BY HIS FAMILY

Cause of Death Not Announced— Reception of the News in St. John.

LONDON, May 7.—King Edward VII., who returned to England from a vacation ten days ago in the best of health, died at 11.45 o'clock to-night in the presence of his family, of illness of less than a week, which was seriously hardly more than the days.

The Prince of Wales succeeded to the throne. His first official act was a despatch to the Lord Mayor of the announcement of his father's death, in pursuance of custom. His telegram read: "I am deeply grieved to inform you that my beloved father, the King, passed away peacefully at 11.45 o'clock to-night."

Pneumonia, following bronchitis, is believed to have been the cause of death, but the doctors, thus far, have refused to make a statement. Some of the King's friends are convinced that worry over the critical political situation which confronted him, with sleepless nights, aggravated, if it did not cause, the fatal illness.

Besides the nearest relatives in England, the Duke of Fife, and the Archbishop of Canterbury were in the death chamber. The King's brother, the Duke of Connaught, with his family, is at Suez, hastening home from Africa; the King's daughter, Queen Maud of Norway, will start for England tomorrow. The intelligence that the end of King Edward's reign had come was not a surprise at the last. The capital received the death news without excitement, but sadly, for the King was unquestionably one of the most popular rulers in the world. They regarded him as one of the strongest forces making for the stability and peace of the empire.

The fashionable restaurants were just emptying and a few groups of late theatregoers were making their way homeward through the rain, while a small crowd still hung about the palace, when the streets were filled suddenly with newsboys shrilly crying: "Death of the King!"

The papers were quickly sold, and the people discussed the momentous event, and soon dispersed. The streets were deserted by 1 o'clock.

All who knew the King anticipated that his death would be sudden, and it would not have occasioned great surprise if it had occurred without warning at some social function, as a result of heart trouble. Almost to the end he refused to take to his bed, and was sitting up yesterday, in a large chair, so the palace stories go.

The Queen and others of the royal family and four doctors had been constantly in the sick room throughout the day. Several hours before death the King was in a comatose condition, but he rallied slightly between 9 and 10, appearing to recognize his family. Then he lapsed into unconsciousness, which ended in his passing away.

Experts were held in readiness to administer an anesthetic, but there was a fear that the weakness of the King might result in a fatal issue, and an operation was set aside as a last resort.

The body lies in the King's chamber in the northwest wing of the Buckingham Palace, which is brilliantly lighted, while the rest of the great gloomy building, except Lord Knollys' office, is entirely darkened. It was half an hour after the King breathed his last when Lord Knollys walked into the office and said to the waiting reporters: "His Majesty is dead."

The people outside the palace learned the news only when boys appeared with papers. In the evening the Prince and Princess of Wales took leave of the other members of the royal family at the main entrance, soon after midnight. They drove direct to Marlborough House. Princess Victoria, who is her mother's constant companion, remained with the Queen. The others of the family followed the Prince and Princess of Wales.

the gathering broke up, Past Grand Master Dr. James Christie, Deputy Grand Master Dr. A. D. Smith, C. N. Skinner and W. Frank Hatheway delivered addresses, giving expression to their sorrow at the sad news.

Lieutenant Governor Tweedie, who was in the city on Friday, his way home from Fredericton, sent the following telegram on behalf of his government, himself, and the people of New Brunswick, through the Governor General:

ST. JOHN, May 6th, 1910. On behalf of my government, myself and the people of the province, I beg to tender most heartfelt sympathy to the Queen and Royal Family, in their bereavement, and to assure them that in no part of the British Empire the death of His Majesty be more sincerely deplored.

Lieut. Governor of New Brunswick.

QUEBEC, May 6.—News of the King's death was sorrowfully received in the Legislature, which adjourned on receipt of the sad news.

MONTREAL, May 6.—The city is in mourning for the King. Service for the dead was said at the English Cathedral on Friday night.

Archbishop Bruchesi sent a message of deepest regret to the Governor General.

TORONTO, May 6.—The news of the King's death was received with universal sorrow. Mr. Forbes Ericson, the English actor, playing at the Alexandra, paid a touching tribute last night and called off the performance.
