We refer our readers to an advertisement in this weeks Gazette, announcing the establishment of a Regular Passage Boat, to ply between this place and Woodstock. We were much gratified on witnessing the commodious, clean and airy construction of the Boat, and her appearance, both inside and out, reflects great credit on the enterprising owner.—This cheap and expeditious mode of travelling, will afford to strangers, and to those who have never overstept the precincts of the seat of Goverment, a favorable opportunity of traversing several of the richest and most delightful districts of the Province; and at a very small additional expence, may have their curiosity gratified with a sight of Mars Hill and the disputed territory, so long the subject of contention between the British and American Governments. We wish the undertaking may fully compensate the Proprietor and cordially recommend it to public notice and encouragement.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Much as I deprecate, on all occasions, appeals to the public, through the press, yet, as much interest has been excited on false information circulated in some anonymous publications which have appeared in the Newspapers, relating to the recent violation of Quarantine Law; I deem it my duty, as the Visiting Physician, who inspected the vessel in Quarantine, to place before the public the whole of the correspondence and circumstances connected with the transaction. I have purposely avoided controversy, and have taken the shorter and more satisfactory method of meeting mere assertions by authentic and official documents.

On the 11th June, the Brig Feronia, Captain M'Kee, having on board 120 passengers from Ireland, arrived at this port. On examination of the passengers, I found that one child, about 9 years of age, had had the Small Pox on the passage, but was quite recovered—the recent pits were visible; all the other passengers were apparently in perfect health. Judging it expedient, I detained the vessel at Quarantine. After the expiration of three days, I recommended that the passengers should be landed on Partridge Island, which was accordingly done, in order that they might wash and purify their clothing and bedding. The Overseers of the Poor were directed by His Worship the Mayor to supply them with provisions. (The vessel having been whitewashed and fumigated was discharged.)—Tents made of some boards, over which were spread sails, constituted their covering; the weather having been extremely wet and cold, they afforded very imperfect shelter. As there were not any buildings on the Island for their accommodation, this could not be avoided. On the 18th, some cases of Small Pox appeared, which being reported, His Worship the Mayor of the City issued the following notice, thereby declaring the Island to be Quarantine Ground, and interdicting all communication.

"NOTICE.

"As Small Pox has broken out among the passengers on Partridge Island, Notice is hereby given to all persons to keep from approaching it, as if they do, and land, the Constables in charge will detain them until the whole invalids may be pronounced well by the Visiting Physician.

(Signed) L. DONALDSON,
St. John, 18th June, 1830. Mayor."

Additional Constables were sent down to enforce the above regulation, and a Building was ordered to be erected for the accommodation of Emigrants, with as little delay as possible.

As the weather continued to be rainy, the clothes and beds of those poor people were continually wet or damp; and as I did not consider the food which was sent, as proper for persons so situated, but as likely to induce Fevers and other dangerous complaints, I repeatedly applied to the Overseers of the Poor for other food, but they did not feel authorised to furnish any other.

On Wednesday the 23d, the Constables informed me that the provisions were all expended, and that some of the people had not eaten any thing since the day previous.—Business having required Mr. Cook, the other Health Officer, to be absent from Town, it fell often to my lot to visit the Island, and to correspond on the subject. As soon as possible, after returning from the Island, I wrote the following Letter to his Worship the Mayor:

"Dear Sir,—I am quite aware that those unfortunate people on Partridge Island have caused you a great deal of trouble, and the Public some expence, but as they have been prevented from going to their several destinations, and since it is necessary for the public safety still to keep them there, I hope and trust that some plan may be adopted to insure a regular supply of provisions.

"When I visited them to-day they had had nothing to eat since yesterday, being out of every thing except a barrel of mackarel—just as I was leaving the Island a boat arrived with some articles, but without any meal.

"I do not pretend to possess extreme sensibility, but a heart more obdurate than mine would have bled to see an old man, upwards of seventy years of age, who was remarkably cheerful and well when he arrived here, burst into tears in attempting to describe his complaints, superinduced by exposure to wet and cold, and the sufferings of his large family (one of whom has small pox) from want of shelter and food.—This is one case. There are one hundred and fourteen persons on the Island—fourteen of them are under seven years of age, and it would be very easy to calculate the quantity of provisions they would require.

"If it is necessary to raise a subscription to render them more comfortable, I will with my whole heart double the sum that any individual will give, rather than again be obliged to witness the scene I have to-day. The people behave very well under the circumstances at present, but there is a point beyond which human nature cannot forbear, and if something is not done, I cannot answer for the consequences."

I am, Sir, your obedient Servant,
JOHN BOYD.

To His Worship the MAYOR.

In answer to the above his Worship immediately replied that he had forwarded my Letter to the Overseers of the Poor with an urgent request that the matter should instantly be attended to in all respects.

Having been frequently asked how those people were, I described their situation as very distressed, upon which some benevolent individuals collected a few pounds among their friends, and furnished them with fresh beef, bread, oatmeal, rice, tea, sugar, milk, oranges (for the sick,) &c.

On visiting the Island on the 25th, the Constables reported to me that two of the Aldermen had been down the day before, and landed Dr. Bayard, who after visiting a tent where three lay sick with small pox, returned to the boat, and departed from the Island.

The following is a statement signed by the Constables:—

WE, the undersigned, Constables of the City of Saint John, stationed on Partridge Island for the purpose of preventing persons landing, and having communication with the Emigrants there, do most solemnly declare, that soon after sunrise on Thursday the 24th ult. seeing a boat with a number of persons approaching too near to that part of the Island where those people are encamped, we ordered them not to advance any further, that thereupon we were ordered by the Aldermen, who were in the boat to allow Dr. Bayard to land, which he did; that he visited and had communication with persons afflicted with Small Pox, one of whom was lying dangerously ill—that during the time he was so employed, not only the Aldermen, but all the other persons, (who we believe were Dr. Bayard's apprentices,) landed on the Island, and there awaited Dr. Bayard's return from the infected tent, and that they then embarked and departed from the Island.

(Signed) LEWIS FAIRWEATHER,
WILLIAM MUNFORD,
Constables.

I reported the circumstance verbally to His Worship the Mayor, on my return, and on the following morning wrote officially on the subject, as follows:—

St. John, N. B. 26th June, 1830.

SIR,—From a deficiency in the Provincial Law, made to prevent the spreading of Infectious and contagious distempers in the City of St. John, it appears that individuals may, with impunity, land and communicate with the infected persons, who have been placed under Quarantine on Partridge Island; as in the instance which came to your knowledge of two of the Aldermen of the City having landed Dr. B. on the Island, and brought him away again after he had communication with Patients lying dangerously ill with confluent Small Pox, in open defiance of Public Notice, given by your Worship, warning the Publie not to land there.

I request your Worship to call a Meeting of the Common Council, and enact a Law, by which offenders may be punished in future.

I remain, Sir, your obedient Servant,
JOHN BOYD, M. D. Visiting Physician.

To which I received the following reply:—

"My dear Sir.—Your official Letter of to-day, I carried immediately to the Common Clerk, whence the notice was issued warning parties to keep off from the Island, I was perfectly aware that the Law would not bear out such an order, but I did it with the best intentions—As to the Common Council making a Law to prevent parties from this City from Landing on the Island, I have no doubt that such a Law is beyond their power, as Reed, the Military, the Commissioners of Lights, &c. have power, by Law of the Province to go there, and I have doubts if any and all parties may not go there as often as they please, so long as the Province Law remains as it is.—I notice the memorandum in this day's paper, I gave no authority to Dr. Bayard as you may naturally suppose, that Gentleman is at Fever heat on the subject, saying he did not go at night, that the Aldermen never landed, that he wrote to them for leave and obtained it, and that he did so, not from thinking it necessary, as he had seen the Law, but out of delicacy to you and Cook, and that he will do a dreadful act among you this week, and he assured he will keep his word. Your's truly, Saturday Evening. L. DONALDSON."

Having read a Publication in the Weekly Observer of 29th June, dated from Police Office, reflecting on us as Health Officers, we addressed the following Letter to His Worship the Mayor:

June 29, 1830.

We, the undersigned, Visiting Physicians of the Port of St. John, demand to know whether your Worship and the Corporation have authorised the Communication which has appeared in this day's Paper, addressed to the Editor of the Courier, and dated from the Police Office, or not?

JOHN BOYD, M. D. } Visiting
HENRY COOK, Surgeon, } Physicians.

To this Letter no written answer was returned, though at an interview with the Mayor, he expressed a wish that it should be withdrawn, leaving ground to conclude that the document to which it referred was an official assurance that the two Aldermen did not land on the Island.—It may perhaps be urged that this notice, though dated from the Police Office, was not signed, and may be a forgery. If so, it became the duty of the Police at once to discover and punish the impostor. This however, has not been done, and I have therefore been compelled to shew that the statement it contains is at variance with facts and is fully refuted by the declaration signed by the two Constables.

Having laid before the Public the above documents, I shall leave them to appreciate the motives which could have prompted any Medical person of character to have treated with so much disregard the authority of the Chief Magistrate, and the safety of many of his fellow-citizens.—Whether Dr. Bayard had the address to persuade the City Authorities that the disease was not small pox, or that the Health Officers were deceived, as to its real nature, scarcely deserves a moment's enquiry, and it is only to be regretted that they should, without hesitation, consent to a breach of the Regulations, they themselves had established.

That the visit was intended to be secret is very evident from the time and circumstances chosen—very early on a thick foggy morning. The object cannot be doubted, since he was bound by a solemn promise to one of the Aldermen, not to divulge it, if he discovered any thing, until he (the Alderman) gave him leave;—and that it failed, is proved from Dr. B. having informed His Worship the Mayor, immediately on his return from the Island, that it was Small Pox that existed there, and of the confluent kind.

JOHN BOYD, M. D.
St. John, July 9, 1830. Visiting Physician.

PROSPECTUS

For an Association to be formed of the principal Ship Owners, Merchants, Ship Builders, and other inhabitants of the Province, for the purpose of advancing the improvement of Naval Architecture, and the general protection of the Shipping Interests of the Country:—under the name of the "Shipping and Commercial Association of New-Brunswick."

IT will require but very few observations to satisfy every candid mind, of the value and necessity of establishing such an Association here. For it has been long observed, with much concern by every well wisher of the country, with what unmerited zeal attempts have been made in various quarters, (British and Foreign,) to impede the growing importance of the Shipping Interests, and depreciate the qualities of the Vessels built in this Province, at the same time, it cannot be overlooked, and must be admitted, that, while it has been the Interest of Ship-builders and owners of vessels of an expensive class, in Britain, to prevent the encouragement of Ship-building in the Colonies, which has been found to interfere materially with the Freights of Vessels confined to the Timber Trade; the manner in which much of the Ship-building was lately carried on here, and in which Vessels were sent into distant markets for sale, instead of raising our reputation as a Ship-building Province, have sunk us much in the estimation of those whose good opinion it was our best interest to acquire.

It may also be observed, that, as the characters of too many of our Vessels received a bad name, it naturally followed that those who built them also fell a sacrifice, and the consequence has been, that little confidence was latterly placed in New-Brunswick Ship-builders, and scarcely any guarantee, which the Merchant Agent in Britain could offer, would induce parties there to contract with them, and some disgraceful cases which occurred bore but too ample testimony against those who endeavored to advocate their cause: involving in this general prejudice, the names of many individuals in the Province, whose integrity and faithfulness as Ship-builders, are well established.

To remedy as far as practicable evils so manifest, is the primary object of the Association, and to effect which, the members intend to enter into certain regulations, which will be more minutely developed upon the Establishment's going into operation. It is sufficient now to state, that, it is intended—First, That a Registry shall be kept of all vessels at present belonging to the Province, their ages and conditions, and by whom owned and commanded. That all Vessels built in future in the Province shall be inspected by Surveyors, to be appointed for that purpose, at different stages of their building, and shall, with the vessels already built, be classed in Letters and Numbers, upon a plan similar to that pursued by Lloyds', and other Insurance Companies. Copies of these Reports will be lodged in the Office of the Association, and furnished to the owners when required, or forwarded to any place in Great Britain, United States, or elsewhere, where they may wish to effect insurance, or for any other purpose.

Secondly, That the most strict enquiry shall be made into the qualifications of persons applying for, or appointed to the Command of a Vessel belonging to the Province, and testimonials produced, if deemed necessary; and the Members of the Association will not employ any person as Master in their vessels, who may appear upon examination, incompetent to fill that responsible and important situation, or against whom improper charges have been proved.

By the first of these Regulations, it is presumed that very essential benefits would result to all those in any way connected with the Trade and Navigation of the Province. To the British shipper of Goods, confidence would be given that his consignments were on board a vessel in all respects seaworthy. The importer here will receive a like guarantee, with a consequent reduction of Premium of Insurance—which the confidence of the Underwriter will enable him to make on the risk; while the owner would benefit more than either by the character of his vessels being so established, that he would at all times, and in all ports, be able to enter into a fair competition for Freights with any other class of British vessels.

The effects of that reputation would extend also to the Ship-builders of the Province, inasmuch as a preference would be given to them, whenever vessels may be required, and an increase both of capital and employment would be introduced into the country, and disseminated amongst all the industrious classes in the Province.

It may well be believed, that the second Regulation will receive the cordial support and cooperation of every regularly brought up, respectable Shipmaster, employed in and belonging to the Province, as well as of the Merchants, the Owners, and the Underwriters. It is the interest of these, individually and collectively, to adhere strictly to it, and it will also prove the surest means of weeding out any incompetent characters whom the necessity of the late times, occasionally made it compulsory upon the owners to employ. An indifferent Vessel with a good Master may be safely and advantageously managed; but, the best vessel that can go to sea with an incompetent Master on board, is property held by a very precarious tenure. If the Master be deficient, all the pains and precautions which Owners, Merchants, Builders, and Underwriters may take, will prove fruitless, and of no avail. The interest and properties of these, the comfort and lives of crews and passengers, are all involved in the character and qualifications of a Master.

These cursory observations upon the establishment of an Association, which, it is presumed, would prove highly beneficial to the Commercial and Naval Interests of New-Brunswick, are most respectfully submitted to the Merchants, Shipowners, Underwriters, Builders, and Masters, in the Province,

TO THE SUBSCRIBERS OF THE ALBION, IN NEW-BRUNSWICK.

IN some parts of New-Brunswick, the subscribers to this paper have paid United States postage on their papers. The Proprietor of the Albion now announces that he will, in all cases, from and after the commencement of the new volume in the present month, defray that expense himself, without making any additional charge to the cost of the paper.

Applications have been occasionally made for a Price Current in the Albion. The Proprietor further announces that he is making arrangements which will be shortly completed, to insert a Price Current and Shipping List adapted to the Colonies. This, however, will be done in a part of the edition only, so that the subscribers will have the option of taking the Albion with the Price Current or continuing it in its present form. Such subscribers as may desire to obtain the paper with this alteration, will have the goodness to notify the same at their earliest convenience. No additional charge will attend this arrangement.

The Proprietor of the Albion has further plans of improvements in contemplation, and assures his readers that no pains or expense will be spared to preserve the high reputation which his journal enjoys. New-York, June 26, 1830.

PROSPECTUS.

A GRAMMAR OF THE MICMAC INDIAN LANGUAGE.

Compiled by THOMAS IRWIN.

"This Idiom rather appears to have been formed by Philosophers in their closets, than by Savages in the wilderness." —Duponceau.

CONDITIONS.—The work will be printed on fine paper, with a neat type; consisting of nearly 300 pages 8vo. price $1—to be paid on the delivery of the Books.

As the Compiler is actuated by no mercenary motive in publishing this work, but is induced solely by a wish to serve the unfortunate yet interesting remains of the Aborigines of these Provinces, he hopes a generous and benevolent public will aid his feeble yet well-meaning endeavours.

He also hopes the Editors of Newspapers published in the British Provinces will be so kind as to give this an insertion in their respective Journals, and transmit him the names of such subscribers as may offer in their vicinity.

He confidently hopes the Catholic Clergy of these Colonies will cheerfully aid the publication of a work particularly designed for them, and by means of which they may be able to serve with effect this too long neglected portion of Christ's flock.
