MR. C. THOMASSIN, (teacher of French), has determined, at the solicitations of different persons who are capable of judging of his capacities, upon giving instruction in the elegant art of DRAWING, independent of his French Language, which he has taught for a number of years in Portland, (Me.) with great success. The system by which he proposes to teach is not that of drawing mechanically, as some teachers practice, which can give no real knowledge of the art, but is that founded on the elementary principles of natural Drawing. The different branches to which he proposes to instruct are—Line Drawing, Landscapes, Heads and Flowers—(with or without Colouring.) Having procured from the United States many necessary articles, it is his intention to open his school about the middle of next month. As he has made arrangements to devote himself to his French pupils for three days in the week, the other three will exclusively be devoted to those in Drawing. Respectfully soliciting the patronage of the inhabitants of St. John, Mr. Thomassin begs to inform that his hours of attendance for young Ladies and Gentlemen will be, for satisfactory terms of tuition made known, on application, at St. M. M. Keel's Boarding-house, or at his school Room, No. 3, in Bragg's Building. November 15th, 1834.

THE Statistic of the Wondrous Five is as follows:

Anshah or Anselmo, resides at Frankfort-sur-le-Maine. He is the senior, and chief of the family, aged sixty-one years. At his house the general inventory is made out, from the private inventories furnished by the other four banks. It is there, also, that the congresses of the fraternity are generally held. Solomon, the second, born September 9th, 1774, has passed his professional time the last eighteen years, between Berlin and Vienna, chiefly at the latter.

Nathan, the third brother, is in his fifty-seventh year. He is the London Rothschild.

Charles, the fourth of the five bankers, is forty-six years old. He has been established at Naples since 1821.

Jacob, the youngest in years, was born May 5th, 1792. His consort, the baroness, is the daughter of his second brother the Baron Solomon. Jacob has carried on his business since Anno Domini 1813, at Paris.

The Carlisle paper says it is in contemplation to take down one of the most interesting portions of Carlisle Castle, the tower in which were the apartments occupied by the unfortunate Mary Queen of Scots when a prisoner there. There is a serious rent in the walls, which renders the removal necessary.

We understand that the liabilities of Mr. Raikes the late Governor of the Bank of England, do not exceed £90,000.

The distribution of the Navarino prize-money has been announced; the highest sum to be received is £7,480 and the lowest thirty shillings.

Our government have resolved to discontinue the practice of giving presents to foreign ministers, and no longer to permit British ministers to receive presents from the foreign governments to which they may be accredited.

We understand that all heavy dragons in the British service are to be supplied with lances as well as carbines; and all Lancers to be supplied with carbines as well as lances. At present some of the Lancers use a pair of pistols, but in future they are to have one pistol, a carbine, lance, and sword.

Mr. Percival that Sir Dudley Hill, the Governor of St. Lucia, has nominated Lieut. Colonel Molasses his aid-de-camp. This appears to be a most appropriate appointment in a sugar island.

FIGHTFUL EVENT.—On Saturday last, a Coroner's inquest was held on the body of Mary Walsh, who was burned to death that forenoon, while in a state of intoxication. It appeared in evidence, the deceased when sober was an intelligent woman; but much addicted to drunkenness. On the day in question, herself and another woman, named Bridget Sullivan, sat down in their room, having a young child with them, and nearly emptied a bottle of rum. The inmates of the house were alarmed by smelling something burning; and upon forcing the room-door, found one woman near it, and the unfortunate victim of a depraved appetite lying in the fire, her clothes burnt to a cinder, and her flesh completely roasted. The usual verdict was returned: but we would suggest that wherever life is lost through excessive drinking of distilled spirits, the Jury should return in what way, and from whom the accident was procured, and thus hold the vendors up to merited and public execration.—Halifax Temperance Recorder.
