POETRY.

SONNET TO WINTER.

BY EDMUND PEEL.

Thou of the snowy vest and hoary hair,
With icicles down-hanging, Winter, hail!
Not mine at thy authority to rail;
To call thee stern, bleak, comfortless, and bare,
As though thou wert twin-brother of Despair;
Rather shall praises in my song prevail;
Praises of Him who gives us to inhale
The freshness of the uninfected air.
So long as I behold the clear blue sky,
The carol of the robin-redbreast hear,
Along the frozen waters seem to fly,
Or, softly cushion'd while the fire burns clear,
Bask in the light of a beloved eye;
So long shall Winter to my soul be dear.

MISCELLANY.

From the St. Christopher Gazette.

Massa Howe—I will tank you to sen de following letter to my frien Pomp Eye at Jimmy Radder.
Your sarvant, SEIZER.

Sink Kitts, July, 1836.

Deer Pomp Eye—You no I tould you it wood be, but you all ways were a wild nager, would never hear recson, and luved to foller your hedstrong ways. But nov you are suffering for it, and I hope you'll repent as good Massa Parson says. You no you had no right to run away, and leave your yong children here to starve. It was a most wicked act, but I suppose the capen who took you away will be made to support 'em as he ought. You are all no better than Caroline who sent our friend Mushel's child* without his knowing at all about it, to Jimmy Radder, having sold him me magin to the Capen. What you say bout de Spaniards is very true and likely to happen, and me tink with you our Capens are not to be trusted, for you no what our friend Fletcher did for which he was afterwards hung—how he carried off Nagurs from Nevis, and trowed 'em into the sea and drowned 'em. Now me no tink dese Capens will trow de Nagurs overboard, but me tink it is very like dat dey will have private signals wid de Spaniards who will way lay and take de nagurs away at sea—for de Spaniards will gib de Capens two time as much for de free nagurs to make slaves of 'em as de Capens can get in Jimmy Radder. I have seen de skull of Fletcher, for I am something of a free no low gist, and I assure you de skull of dese Capens have exactly de same bumps. And not only dis, Missa Pomp Eye, but dere is de law of England dat a vessel shall carry passengers cording to de size of de vessel—dat is so many Nagurs to so many tons—now as dese Capens do break dis law dese vessels is liable to be seezed and comphiz catted. Dis law was made as me am told, to make de people comfurtable dat all may have room to walk 'bout and lie down, and sleep, and eat, and go safe, and to prevent the Capens from sack wry facing dem passengers to dere gains. Now dese Capens no tink of dese passengers and no noting about dere bizness, for see how dey cram de Nagur in like de toze in de shu, and only de oder day a vessel full of Nagurs sprung a plank off Mounserat and was sinking fast and de Capen knoed noting at all 'bout until anoder ship met him and told him he was going down, and that all his poor Nagurs would be drowned. Oh Pomp Eye! de Nagurs here are great fools for leaving dis bootiful country for such a muddy place as Jimmy Radder. Here dey have plenty of nice fish from de sea, and den dere be such bootiful rivers from de Monting, and such nice water to drink—and dere is plenty of wood to cut, and dere is salt fish and pork and beef and all so cheap—and here Nagurs be sirvilized, and de men and women were cloz which dey do not in Jimmy Radder, and on Sundays all go to church, and hab fine tings on. I'm told dat in Jimmy Radder dey can't boil or roast dere plaintins without de wurrums crying and crawling out, and dat dey derefore mash up all raw together in de pot and so eat 'em. Brutes! Is de nagur of Jimmy Radder like our nagur? Hab dey beerds? I heer dey have scales like de fishes from lying always in de mud and water, and dat dere shoulder bones do tick out like de fins. And dis is de reeson our women nagurs go to Jimmy Radder, for de wimmin always like de monsters. Don't fret yourself mister Pomp Eye about de dollars, for I never expected um. Me no 'tis all de same in de end, if you be paid one quarter dollar here for working, and one half dollar there, for den de tings to eat and drink are twice as deer as dey are here, without being half so good eder. No, no—me am contint—me no like Snakes and Bee-mouth and dose tings which you hab in Jimmy Radder—me like my fader land, and no like mud.—Here ar we be Christious, and can reed and rite, and no be naked savages like ar you. Your poor yong ones send dere luve to you—but dey shan't want bread to eat as long as your friend Seizer lives. So good bi, and rub your body wid rum to get rid of your hagur.

Your friend, SEIZER.

The Debt of England.—The following amusing calculation is from a late London paper. It may appear very strange that a nation can support the burden of such an enormous debt; and yet, with all this weight upon the government and people, there is less pressure upon the men of active business in Great-Britain, than there is upon the same classes in the United States, where we have a surplus of 40 millions in the public treasury.—Boston Courier.

The weight of the national debt, in gold, amounts to 14,088,472 lbs. or 6282 tons 9 cwts. 3 quarters, 13 lbs.; in silver to 266,666,666 lbs. or 119,047 tons 12 cwts. 1 qr. 14 lbs. To transport this debt across the seas, in gold, it would require a fleet of 25 ships of 250 tons burthen, each. To carry the debt by land would require 12,580 one-horse carts, each cart being loaded with half a ton of gold. These would extend in one unbroken line, 35½ miles. If conveyed by soldiers, and every soldier were to carry 50 lbs. weight in his knapsack, it would require an army of 281,769 men. Eight hundred millions of sovereigns, piled one upon another, or formed into one close column, would extend 710 miles. If this column were commenced at the Lizard, or extreme point of Cornwall, and continued northward it would reach ten miles beyond John O'Groat's house, at the extreme point of Scotland. The same number of sovereigns laid flat in a straight line and touching each other, would extend 11,043 miles; or more than 1¾ times round the moon. Eight hundred millions of 1 pound Bank of England notes, sewed together, would cover a turnpike road 40 feet wide, and 1050 miles long; or from Land's End to John O'Groat's house, and nearly half-way back again. If the notes were sewed together, end to end, they would form a belt long enough to go four times round the world, or sixteen times round the moon. The whole population of the world is estimated at one thousand millions of souls. An equal distribution of the National Debt would give sixteen shillings to every man, woman, and child; or four pounds to every family on the face of the earth. Were England to conquer all Europe, and levy a general poll-tax to pay off her present debt, she must have from every man, woman, and child, £5 17s. 7¾d. or from every family throughout Europe, £29 8s. 2¾d.—Supposing, for a moment such a thing possible, as that we could procure from the Mexican mines silver in sufficient quantity to pay off the debt, it would require to bring it to England, a fleet of 476 ships of 250 tons each. To carry it to the Bank of England in one horse carts, each containing half a ton of silver, it would take 238,095. These ranged in one unbroken line, would extend 676 miles; or from Land's End to within 24 miles of John O'Groat's house. If carried by men, each loaded with 50 lbs. weight, it would require 5,333,333, or 1,391,033 men, in addition to the whole adult male population of Great Britain.

UNITED STATES.—The territory of the United States contains two and a half millions of square miles, and is capable of accommodating at least five hundred millions of inhabitants.

The canals in the United Staes which are now finished, comprise upwards of 2,000 miles in length; the railroads already completed, upwards of 1,500 miles; and the railroads now under contract or in progress, have been recently estimated to amount to more than 3000 miles. It may doubtless be said, without exaggeration, that railroads are now projected in this country on a more extensive scale than in all other parts of the globe. When the various works of this description, which are now in progress or in prospect, shall be completed, the principal places in the different parts of the country will be brought comparatively near to each other; and one may travel on a continuous line of rail-roads from Portland to New Orleans, and from various other points on the Atlantic to the Mississippi.

On a comparison on the expense of steam and water power at Lowell, the former it is said stood to the latter as 100 to 125.

Last year the value of real estate of the city of New-York was 144,000,000, this year $300,000,000.

HOROLOGY.—A French paper gives the following description of a recent improvement in the art of clock making:

An English mechanic, Mr. Stromber, has just been applying impulsive air force to horology, and the results he has obtained from his experiments seem destined to bring about a great revolution in the present system of clock making. Mr. Stromber exhibited an air clock of a truly surprising simplicity in its construction. Air compressed at six atmospheres escapes continually from three little tubes upon three wheels of different dimensions, which are made to turn by means of this air. These three cog wheels are calculated in a manner to keep up a regular quickness of rotation. This instrument is a real chef d'ouvre in horology, and requires to be wound up but once in three months. It is an example of the most difficult calculation that can be made on the expansive power of compressed air, combined with a chronometrical system of wheels.

It is stated that 10,000,000 of volumes are printed annually in Germany—that every year furnished 10,000 new writers, and there are at least 50,000 persons living in Germany who have written a book.

New Work on political Economy.—Mr. Louis Say, of Paris, brother of the celebrated J. B. Say, has just published a work under the title of Studies on the Wealth of Nations. He attempts to establish in some respects a new system of political economy, which is said to be distinguished by its simplicity and the clearness of the reasonings on which it is founded.

A Poet in a Pulpit.—Robert Montgomery, the well known author of many sweet poems, chiefly of a religious cast, has joined the Church, and will, it is said, be located in Liverpool.

A very useful little volume on etiquette says—"If you meet a lady of your acquaintance in the street it is her part to notice you first, unless, indeed, you be very intimate. The reason is, if you bow to a lady first, she may not choose to acknowledge you, and there is no remedy; but if she bow to you,—you, as a gentleman, cannot cut her."

TRANSLATION.—Most translators are foot poets, who lackey by the side of their original, but never mount behind him.—Dryden.

M'Donald Clark, the poet, thus expresses his opinion in relation to beauty: 'I hate those gasping sick-looking creachers, with wasp like bodies and mincing feet! Give me a girl,' says he, 'with a waist like a cotton-bag, and a foot like a flounder!'

QUILTS.—A lady in this vicinity has made a quilt containing 2777 pieces. She will, no doubt be comfortable when the cold north-westers visit her this winter.—We would say that she is not only a patient, but a very piece-able lady.—Salt River Journal.

FUGITIVE HUSBANDS.—The parish officers of Bethnal Green have issued printed bills, containing a long list of married men who have absconded, leaving their wives and families chargeable to the parish.—They offer rewards for the apprehension of each and state it to be their determination to prosecute in every case. It is ascertained that some thirty or forty of the persons advertised, have embarked for America.—London Sun.

When Queen Anne, wishing to compliment Dr. South upon one of his sermons, observed that it was too short, he made the since famous reply that he would have made it shorter if he had had more time. Would that modern speakers and writers would employ a little more frequently this meliorating process. For in truth, 'a crude abundance is the disease of our American style.' Bulk rather than quality seems to be the measure of value, and our writers naturally enough study addition, rather than subtraction.

Napoleon and the Twelve Apostles.—The Cabinet de Lecture gives the following anecdote of Napoleon: Having entered one of the cities of Italy, the churchwardens recommended to him the relicts of their church. "Sire, will you deign to take our apostles under your protection?" "Your apostles! are they wood!" "No Sire." "Of what are they then?" "Of silver, sire." "Of solid silver?" replied Napoleon quickly; "yes I shall help them to fulfil their missions; it has been ordained that they should go throughout the world, and they shall." Having said so, the Emperor sent the twelve apostles to the mint at Paris.

A PRETTY SUPERSTITION.—There is said to exist among the Russian girls the following innocent superstition. On the Thursday previous to Whit Sunday, they try what is called 'the prophetic swimming of the bridal wreath.' A wreath of flowers is plaited together and thrown into the stream, when, if the wreath swims on the surface of the water, they will in the same year, exchange their maiden for a nuptial state; but should it sink, they are to wait still longer for the happy change.

HEALTH SECURED BY MORISON'S

Vegetable Universal Medicines.

Prepared at the British College of Health, New Road, King's Cross, London; and sold by WILLIAM ANDERSON, Sole General Agent for New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and Newfoundland, in boxes at 1s 6d, 4s, 6s 9d, and 16s; Powders, at 2s per box, at his store in Water street, St. John, N. B.: and in Nova Scotia, in boxes at 1s 8d, 4s 4d, 7s, and 17s,—Powders 2s.

FOUR years having elapsed since the introduction of these Medicines into this country, during which time they have proved that they are the most valuable remedy ever introduced to the public, and from the daily proofs of their efficacy in the removal of all diseases incident to the human frame, WILLIAM ANDERSON, Sole General Agent, is again induced to introduce them to the notice of the public as a sure means of securing Health and removing all diseases, whether of long standing or of recent date. Such an assertion would appear inconsistent, if the Hygeist, Mr. Morison, did not consider that all diseases originate from one cause, viz.:—the impurity of the blood; and if you remove the cause, the effect must cease.—This important object is to be attained only from the use of these invaluable Medicines, which, being composed entirely of vegetable matter, will be found the mildest, or by increasing the dose, the most efficacious Medicines ever discovered. It is to be hoped that the time is not far distant when the use of these Medicines will supersede the noxious drugs and compositions so often prescribed, to the detriment of Health, such as Opium, Prussic Acid, Mercury, Antimony, Corrosive Sublimate, and even Arsenic, Fox Glove, Hemlock, Colchicum, and numerous others, all of which tend to the detriment of Health, and cause painful and incurable disorders.

As W. A. has in several instances detected a spurious composition sold under the name of Morison's Medicine, he begs as a caution to the Public to inform them that none are genuine but what have the Government Stamp affixed, with Morison's Universal Medicines printed on each; he also cautions them from buying from pedlars and others, as none such are allowed to sell them. They can only be obtained genuine, at his Store in Water street, Saint John, or of the following agents duly appointed by him:—
