POETRY.

CHRISTMAS DAY.

They looked for him in power and temporal glory,
Such as the princes of the earth are fond
To show abroad, proudly caparison'd
And purpled. Fools! their own prophetic story
Shadow'd his coming, age on age before he
Had come; yet did not their slow hearts respond
To its far promise. They, who saw beyond
The extern veil, nor in the transitory
Sway of a worldly sceptre had confined
The boundless rule of heaven;—manger, and stall,
And stable roof, were to their clearer mind
Indifferent as the regal throne or hall;
Well deeming every state of earthly kind
Equal before the heavenly Lord of all!

"DEFEND THE NEEDY."

BY SARAH J. HALE.

God who judgeth o'er the nations,
Mighty Lord of all below,
From man's loftiest habitations
To his lowliest cell of wo—
God hath said, "defend the needy,
And relieve the poor oppres'd!"
Lord, we come with purpose ready
To obey the high behest.

Mourner, on the lonely pillow,
Pale and stricken with alarms,
Weep'st thou him beneath the billow?
Or his sick babe in thine arms?
Want's sharp pang art thou sustaining?
'Reft of fortune, friends, and home?
Helpless, hopeless, uncomplaining,
Woman, to thine aid we come.

Stinted alms we do not proffer—
'Twould degrade our favoured land—
But the just reward we'll offer
To industry's willing hand;
Virtue thus may find, though lowly,
Tranquil nights and cheerful days,
Till Hope's beams, pure and holy
Warms the soul with prayer and praise.

Wanderer on the pathless oceans!
When thy thoughts like sea-birds fly,
Swifter through the storms commotions,
Till thine own home greets thine eye.
Oh! thy sternest task 'twill lighten,
Danger cheer, and soothe despair,
E'n thy dying gaze 'twill brighten,
To reflect—"'tis happy there!"

MISCELLANY.

How can we Live the ensuing Year?—A correspondent of the Worcester Palladium says:—"We must not only be industrious, but our house-holds. Wives, girls, and boys, must take a steady energetic pull. You can't think how this will help men along. I do not by any means, wish to speak reproachfully of the fair sex, but to be honest, I must say, since the old fashioned spinning wheels were laid aside, they spin too much street yarn for their or the family benefit. Let women fairly get in this way, and their labours amount to but little. I can't see how it can be said with many, (in the scripture sense) that they are 'keepers at home.' I have said in order to be sustained under this dearth we must be frugal. This is indispensable. Wives, girls, and, boys, all, but especially the mistress of the family. Nothing is truer than this maxim—'a woman can fling out faster with a spoon than a man can fling in with a shovel.' Simplicity and frugality must characterize our dress, and all the family concerns.

Logic Class.—Chip of the Old Block—As a specimen of the vast utility of the Logic Class in the University of Edinburgh, an Anecdote is current, in which the son of a facetious baronet, whose residence is not five miles from London, acted a part worthy of his descent. He was called up by the worthy professor of the time, and asked the notable question, 'Can a man see without eyes?' 'Yes, Sir,' was the prompt answer. 'How, Sir, cried the amazed professor, can a man see without eyes?—Pray, Sir, how do you make that out?' 'He can see with one, sir,' replied the ready-witted youth; and the whole Class shouted with delight at the triumph over metaphysics.

Death.—To neglect at any time preparation for death, is to sleep upon our post; but, to omit it in old age is to sleep at an attack.

The following letter in the N. York Journal of Commerce, shews that the project of steam-packets between Europe and America, is followed up in earnest. We observed some time ago, the anouncement of the arrival of a steamboat in the Pacific Ocean, from Europe.

Extract of a letter dated London, 22d October:—"I have the pleasure to inform you that the Directors of the British and American Steam Navigation Company, have contracted for the building of the largest, and intended to be the most splendid steam ship ever built, expressly for the London trade. She will measure 1900 tons; between perpendicular, 235 feet; 220 feet keel, 40 feet beam. Three decks, and every thing else in proportion. She will carry two engines of 225 horse power each, 76 inch cylinder, and 9 feet stroke.

"In addition to her steam power, she is intended to be rigged in such a manner as to give her sailing qualities equal to any sailing ship, so that between steam and wind, we hope, she will make her way across the Atlantic in tolerable time. The expense of the Steam Frigate is estimated at £60,000. These large undertakings require time to mature, but I think the business will at last be done effectually. Every day adds confidence to Steam Navigation and the extention of it in Europe is surprisingly great.

"We do not expect to be ready for sea before next March 12 month. We could get the ship ready for next summer, but not the machinery. We think it not advisable to start in the autumn or winter, and therefore take some extra time to bring us to the season of the year that suits best.

"A new plan for condensing by which one-third the fuel is saved, and the boilers always supplied with fresh water, has lately been introduced, which will be a great thing for us.

"We shall probably lay down another ship this winter, and keep going until we are stocked with first rate ships, for both London and Liverpool."

A New Moving Power.—M. Burden, a chief engineer of mines in Paris has proposed to use to great advantage compressed hot air, instead of steam, as a moving power. He demonstrates that 2 lbs. of coal will produce a force represented by 1,197,200 lbs. raised to six or seven times the real force of the best engines constructed by Woolf. This advantage is supposed to prove that in the hot appa atuses the choloric disengaged by the combustible materials is entirely employed to the effect proposed, whilst in the boilers of steam engines, one half the heat escapes by the chimneys, and consequently does not perform the purpose of heating.

The police force of London consists of 17 Superintendents at £200 each; 70 Inspectors at £100 each; 242 Sergeants at 1*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* per week, and 3000 Constables at 19*s.* each a week.

CENTRAL
Fire Insurance Company.

AT a meeting of the Board of Directors of The Central Fire Insurance Company, held at the office of the Company, on Monday, the 5th Dec. 1836: PRESENT.

The President,
Mr Hartt, Barker, M'Pherson, Mr. Smith, Chesnut, Fisher.

The following Resolutions were passed:—

1. Resolved, unanimously, That this Board is utterly at a loss to ascertain the motive the Directors of the Central Bank had in view in passing the Resolutions which they agreed to at a special meeting, held on the 25th November last, which it is presumed was for that purpose specially holden, inasmuch as they all appear to refer to a pledge, which they, the Directors of the Central Bank, assert this Board gave to them relative to the appropriation of the funds of this Corporation. The walls of the Central Bank must, in the opinion of this Board, contain extraordinary oblivious qualities, or a majority of the Directors of that Institution, who were present at the special meeting, have acted a most imbecile, unaccountable, and inconsistent part. The directors of the Central Bank appear to have forgotten, that this creature of their imagination was generated some thirty days ago, and that a special meeting of the Stockholders of the Central Fire Insurance Company was called to ascertain and determine the fact of its existence. At that meeting, in the calling of which they took a distinguished part, they attended in the twofold but heterogeneous capacity of accusers and judges, and after a patient and careful investigation (to use their own language) the Stockholders, including Messrs. Pickard, O. Smith, Bedell, and J. T. Smith, a majority of the Directors who attended the special meeting at the Central Bank, "unanimously resolved, that there were no grounds whatever for the report that the Directors of this Company had been guilty of a breach of faith with the Central Bank—and their proceedings had been just and honorable, and the affairs of the Company had been conducted with integrity—that their conduct met and merited the approbation of the Stockholders, and that this Board was justly entitled to the thanks of the Stockholders." The aforementioned Directors cannot have forgotten that these Resolutions were modified to meet the sole scruples of themselves and the Solicitor of the Central Bank, in order that the word unanimously might be properly included. It is a matter of great surprise that the Directors of the Central Bank, did not dispute the authenticity of the minutes of this Board at the meeting of the Stockholders, for the Resolution of the Board referred to in the 4th Resolution passed at the special meeting at the Bank, was read aloud on the first day's meeting in the presence of the President of the Central Bank, Mr. Simpson, and the four directors above referred to; was in the hands of the President of the Central Bank, Mr. Simpson, and some of the other Directors; and was also audibly read by the President of this Company, at the adjourned meeting of the Stockholders of this Institution, when the four Directors above mentioned were likewise present, when it was not even pretended by any of the Directors of the Central Bank that the Resolution then read was not the Resolution which was agreed to on the 22d August last. Indeed what renders the conduct of the majority of the Directors of the Central Bank still more incomprehensible, is the fact, that they, together with Mr. Clopper, their President, and Mr. Simpson, exercised all their influence and ingenuity at the special meeting of the Stockholders of the Central Fire Insurance Company, to avoid an investigation of the minutes of this Company relative to the proceedings of this Board with the Central Bank, or any enquiry into the alledged "breach of faith."

2. Resolved, unanimously, That on Monday the 22d of August last, the Directors of this Company attended at what the Directors of the Central Bank have been pleased to call a conference, being in reality a meeting of this Board in the upper back room of the Central Bank, whilst the Directors of the Bank were meeting in the front room. At that meeting Mr. Simpson, the former President of this Company, being also one of the Directors of the Central Bank, after retiring to the sittings of the Bank Directory, returned and informed the Board what the funds of this Company then paid into the Central Bank amounted to, and also stated certain promises or pledges which the Directors of the Bank wished this Board to make, relative to the disposal of the funds of the Company when finally received, which were indignantly rejected by this Board, every director present repudiating the idea of an independent body pledging itself to any other Institution as to the future management of its affairs, and after some little conversation a resolution was agreed to, which resolution, in the hand writing of Mr. Fisher, was carried into the room then occupied by the bank directors by Mr. Simpson, and was the only perfect act or resolution this Board agreed to that day. No minute of this meeting was ever made on the books of the Company, as this Board never for one moment could entertain the idea that their deliberations were to be regulated by the will or opinion of any other Board of Directors; but to prevent any misunderstanding the resolution was copied by Mr. Simpson, and filed amongst the rough minutes of the Company, and read by Mr. Simpson, and confirmed at the first succeeding meeting of this Board. And this Board most distinctly challenge the Board of Directors of the Central Bank, either to shew that this Board has in any respect departed from that resolution, or that any other resolution did or does exist, or that any evasion of the understanding then established has been attempted but by themselves.

3. Resolved, unanimously, That the 7th, 8th and 9th Resolutions of the special meeting being an exculpation of the conduct of Mr. Simpson, any observation thereupon by this board is at this time quite unnecessary and uncalled for.

4. Resolved, That the three supplementary resolutions referring solely to certain charges, said to have been made against Mr. Clopper, at the meeting of the Stockholders, at the office of this Company, by Mr. Asa Coy, and Mr Gayner, have no bearing whatever upon the duties of this Board; although this Board fully appreciates the candid, honorable and independent manner Mr. Gaynor and Mr. Asa Coy conducted themselves at the meeting of the Stockholders; this Board is of opinion that it has business of much more importance to attend to, than to interfere with the private differences of any number of individuals however influential or important any one of them may be in any quarter.

5. Resolved, That the minutes of this day's proceedings, together with the resolution passed at what is called a conference on the 22d of August last on the files of the Company in the hand writing of Mr. Simpson, be published.

Minutes of the Meeting at the Central Bank on the 22d of August 1836:—

PRESENT.
The President,
Mr. Coy, Wolhaupter, Barker, Fisher, Mr. M'Pherson, Smith, Hartt, Chestnut,

The Directors having this day met at the banking rooms of the President and Directors of the Central Bank, agreeably to their request on a conference respecting the funds deposited for the Central Fire Insurance Company in the vaults of that Institution, the following resolution was moved and adopted.

That all the specie received from the Central Bank, shall be returned to that Institution, so soon as the same is counted by the Commissioners, and that the Bank will be called upon for no specie but to respond payments actually made by the Stockholders in the said Bank for payment of stock; and

That the other deposits in the several incorporated Banks be removed therefrom in specie and deposited in the vaults of the Central Bank, to the credit of the Corporation, but reserve to themselves the privilege of again withdrawing the amount of specie received from other Banks, provided those Institutions may desire to have it again after being counted.

The meeting then adjourned.

By order of the Board of Directors.
