DEFERRED ITEMS.

We are requested to state that a letter just received from the Secretary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, conveys the pleasing intelligence, that they have great hopes of being able to furnish a travelling Missionary for this Province, before the expiration of the year. A Clergyman highly spoken of was in communication with the Society on the subject.—Fred. Roy. Gaz.

With respect to the refusal of the banking firm Hottinger & Co. to honour the drafts of the United States Bank, the Liverpool Mail remarks —"We may therefore conclude that their refusal would be virtually a break up of the bank—that the Bank is suspended, and that the end will be a cessation of its enormous and ruinous speculations, and a wind up, at the end of three years, with as potent a dividend as circumstances shall afford."

The fulfilment of this prediction would appear to have commenced a day or two before the Liverpool editor's remarks, or the news of the protesting of the Bank bills in France reached the United States.

The National Gazette of Philadelphia, thus sums up the reasons which have compelled the banks to adopt the present course, as follows:—"a combination of adverse circumstances has reluctantly compelled the banks of this city to resort to a temporary suspension of specie payments. The failure of the harvest in England last year, caused a demand upon the bank of England for more than six millions of pounds, sterling, about thirty millions of dollars, which was drawn in gold and silver from its vaults and exported to the continent to pay for grain. This withdrawal of so large an amount of specie, produced at once a depression in the value of cotton and other American produce, and of course lessened our means, on England, of paying the large amount of importations of foreign merchandize. There has therefore been a continued drain upon our banks for specie to ship to Europe to satisfy the deficiency."

Buildings and property to the value of $100,000 were destroyed by fire at Natchez on the 26th ult. The scene of the conflagration was the whole front of the square between Canal and Wall streets.

Most Distressing Shipwrecks.—Captain Ralol, of the Sicilian brig Filomena, arrived yesterday, reports having fallen in with, in lat. 38 37, long. 56 17, part of a wreck of a vessel.—Took from it Capt. Murray and five seamen.—Capt. M. reports the following:—His brig, the Cadwallader, belonged to St. Andrews; he sailed from St. Stephen for, Barbadoes, lumber loaded on the 6th of August. In the gale of the 13th Sept. the vessel was knocked down, filled, and went to pieces, and William Brett and William Richardson were drowned. Capt M. and five others clung to the keel, with part of the stern and stem, which was the largest part of the wreck left, where they remained five days, the sea making a continual breach over them, without anything to eat or drink; when taken off they were nearly exhausted and could not have lasted another day; some of them were delirious, and their clothes nearly all washed from their backs; but by the kind attention of Capt Rallo, who supplied them with clothes and every thing that he could to make them comfortable, they have all recovered. Since they have been on board of the F. their skins have all come off, being so long washed by the sea.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

Captain Little, of ship Glasgow, arrived at Baltimore on Saturday from Liverpool, reports that on the 18th Sept. in lat. 39 40, lon. 61 20. he discovered at a distance the appearance of a raft with something on it, bore up and sent his boat, and took from it three human beings, with scarcely any life in them—took them on board and learned that they were the only survivors of a crew of 19 men, belonging to the ship Arab, Captain Robinson, of and for Hull, from Belize, Honduras, with a cargo of mahogany. During the gale of the 18th Sept. she was dismasted, and finally went entirely to pieces. Those saved were on the side of the poop, being four planks twenty feet long. They had been on this raft five days, without any thing except two cocoa nuts, which they found, and were in a most wretched and starving condition when taken off, and probably would not have survived another day. There were originally nine upon the raft, including the mate, but they had previously died or becoming deranged for want of food, had jumped into the sea. The names of those saved are Wm. Westwood, carpenter, of Selby, Yorkshire, England, John Arsley, a Prussian, and Halvor Haralsen, a Norwegian.—Baltimore Patriot.

Fatal Accident.—A very melancholy circumstance has occurred to steep the inhabitants of Ramelton in the utmost affliction. Mr. William Delap of that town had gone, on Wednesday last, with a few friends, on a pleasure trip to Fannet. The party occupied two cars, and on their return home, a part of the shoeing was detached from the wheel of the car on which he sat, when he proposed going to a person in the neighbourhood to procure a horse, that he might proceed before them by a nearer route to where a blacksmith lived at some distance, and have him prepared to repair the car as soon as it should reach the place. He left the party accordingly, who proceeded on slowly to the blacksmith's, but finding that he had not arrived, his sister and some of his friends went to meet him on the road which he intended coming, when, melancholy to relate, they found him lying in the hollow of a ditch at the side of the road and the horse lying on his body. He was removed as soon as possible to Doctor Fullerton's, but all efforts to restore animation proved unavailing. Mr. Delap had been abroad for a considerable time, and had only returned from London about a fortnight before. This excellent young man had been the pride, not only of his immediate family circle, but of his native town, which it was fondly hoped he would have long lived to adorn by his virtues and cheer with his presence. We trust that this public testimony of persons not nearer attached to him than by distant acquaintanceship and general report, will be some little consolation to his mourning friends in their heavy hour of chastisement.—Londonderry Standard, Aug. 28.

The London papers announce the death of the Earl of Lauderdale, in the 81st year of his age.

A young woman named Margaret Moyes killed herself on the 19th of September, by leaping from the top of the Monument. Of course she was dashed to pieces. Pecuniary distress and apprehension were the causes, as supposed. Only one other instance of suicide in this manner has occurred; it was in 1810, when a diamond merchant named Levi threw himself from the top of the Monument, and was shattered to fragments.

Office of the Universal Corn Reporter,
London, Sept. 20.

Review of the Trade.—The weather since our last has been exceedingly unpropitious, and but little farther progress can have been made with the harvest, as scarcely a day has passed without heavy showers of rain; this is greatly to be regretted, as each day the grain remains in the fields exposed to the vicissitudes of the weather gives additional ground to fear the ultimate result will be unsatisfactory; indeed no doubt can longer exist that injury to a serious extent and such as no subsequent favourable change in the weather can remedy has already been done, and it is certain that the quality of a large proportion of the grain grown this year will be extremely indifferent; we think therefore that fine old corn of all kinds will rule high throughout the winter months. The accounts which have reached us this week from the North of England, Scotland, and Ireland, where the bulk of the crops is still abroad, are truly deplorable, the weather having, it appears, been even worse than with us in the districts lying North and North-west of London.

The show of wheat at Mark Lane from the neighbouring counties of Kent and Essex was small on Wednesday, and from more remote parts of the kingdom not a sample appeared.—In addition to a fair attendance of our own millers we had several buyers from different parts of the country, and the stands were cleared at an early hour, the finest qualities of both old and new bringing 1s. and in some instances even 2s. per quarter above the advanced rates of Monday last, and other kinds selling readily at the improvement of that day.

There was likewise a steady demand for foreign wheat, of which some quantity was taken by country purchasers at an enhancement of 1s. per quarter on Monday's quotations.

A few parcels of bonded wheat also changed hands at higher rates than could have been realized in the beginning of the week.

The weekly general average price for the kingdom published on Thursday was only 70s. 9d. per quarter; there is consequently no chance of a reduction in the duty taking place immediately, though many are of opinion that it will recede at least one step within the next month or six weeks.

The transactions in flour were only to a limited extent, but the sales made produced the recent advance.
