VARIETY.

The death of Mrs. Robinson, the lady of Morris Robinson, Esq. of New-York, which took place in London, and was published in our paper of the 21st ult. is thus noticed in the New-York American :—

"Although her eyes were closed in a foreign land, she yet had around her dying bed husband, and children, and brother, (John Duer.) An uninterrupted friendship and cordial intimacy of many years, enable us to bear testimony to the surpassing worth—the single-hearted disinterestedness—the warm affections and lofty yet gentle nature of the deceased; while they admonish us at the same time, that even in saying thus much, we do violence to the shrinking modesty which constituted so large and fine an ingredient in her character."

THE PICTOU RAIL ROAD.—The portion of this work reaching from the mines to New Glasgow—a distance of about two miles—has been completed, and steam Locomotives with their trains were to be put upon it on the 19th instant. This, we believe is the first piece of Railroad, traversed by steam power, ever opened in a British Colony—and the event is certainly one of much interest. The Mechanic and Farmer of the 18th says:—

"To commemorate the event, it is to be held as a gala day at the Mines. The different Companies under the command of their respective Captains, design walking in procession with suitable emblems; and we believe that no expense will be spared by the Agent of the Association to render the spectacle as imposing as possible, and to infuse hilarity and animation in the bosom of the immense concourse of spectators who will attend to witness the exhibition.—Both steamers will be in town at half-past seven o'clock, a. m., for the gratuitous accommodation of the sportive and the gay. The Volunteer Artillery Company will also attend to enliven the scene.

Immigrants at Quebec.—The number of passengers arrived at Quebec to the 8th September this year, was 7,060; in the same time last year, 2,605.

(From the Kingston U. C. Chronicle.)-

Yesterday morning H. Rutton, Esq. Sheriff of the Newcastle district, arrived in the William 4th, with the following convicts in charge, viz, S. P. Hart, formerly editor of the Cobourg and Bellville Plain Speaker, and latterly of the Lewistown Telegraph, and his piratical associates, three citizens of the United States, who were convicted at the Assizes at Cobourg of a conspiracy against the lives of certain inhabitants of that place. Hart's sentence is 7 years in the Penitentiary, and the three American citizens to 5 years each. The elder Ash to 12 months' imprisonment in the District Jail and a fine of £100, the younger to 6 months' imprisonment and a fine of £50.

The Montreal Courier publishes a report, that the Hudson Bay Company have offered as an inducement for the extension of its Charter which expires in 1840 or 41, to render the Ottawa navigable up to Lake Huron. The Courier suspects this is too good to be true.

The Kingston (U. C.) Herald states that Bill Johnson, has taken possession of Grindstone Island again, and is provided with plenty of arms and ammunition.

The American lakes are computed to contain one thousand four hundred cubic miles of water—more than one half the fresh water on the globe.

Corn is so abundant in Arkansas that it is selling for twenty-five cents a bushel.

The New York Herald says that eighteen states of the American Union owe collectively a debt of $170,860,177.

There certainly is a very remarkable energy in the American disposition; if they fall they bound up again. Somebody has observed that the New York merchants are of that elastic nature, that, when fit for nothing else, they might be converted into coach springs: and such really appears to be their character.—Marryatt's Diary in America.

GREAT EXPLOSION.—Three Powder Mills blown up! One Dwelling House—One Barn, and two out-buildings to atoms!! And, strange to say, no lives lost!!!—On Monday morning last, at about half-past ten o'clock, the Powder Mills belonging to Messrs. Foot & Gillett, standing about two miles west of this village, were blown up. There were three distinct explosions at intervals of twenty or thirty seconds. The first was the Cylinder Mill, which was a short time before put in operation; and the workmen had left but five minutes previous—and who were at the time working in the Corning Mill, about five rods distant—and which blew up within twenty seconds, giving the men barely time to leave the mill and throw themselves into the brush within twenty feet of it. And strange as it may appear, they escaped slightly injured—one without a mark of injury except by being blacked by the powder; the other received a billet of wood in the breast. They had scarcely arose from their hiding place than the packing house, which contained five hundred barrels of powder, exploded, prostrating them again—and leaving not a vestige to mark the spot on which it stood. The ground for several feet around was swept clean of every thing. A dwelling house standing near it was unroofed—two sides were blown in, and not even a joist left standing. The plastering of the standing walls was shaken from them. The partitions broken to pieces, feather beds were "shook up," and not a person, of the six or seven in the house, injured. The concussion was so great that buildings in the village received considerable injury from it. One building at least a mile and a half from the mills, had twenty or thirty lights broken out, and another had one window totally demolished, the casing being carried across the room. About ten thousand pounds of powder ready for sale, and nearly the same quantity manufacturing, was burnt. —Westfield Spectator.

FROM JAMAICA.—By the brig Gannicleeft, Captain Jonas P. Levy, which sailed from Kingston the 14th ultimo, we have received files of Jamaica papers to the 12th of August. From them extracts are copied, which indicate a bad state of things existing in the Island. To Captain Levy we are also indebted for a communication, describing the condition of Jamaica and its inhabitants, during his late visit. He declares it to be his impression, founded upon accurate observation, that this colony must soon become a scene of insurrection and massacre—a second Saint Domingo. It is quite a common occurrence, he says, to see the negroes come in from the country and buy fire arms and ammunition.

During his stay at Kingston, a Haytien schooner of war was captured, in the act of landing arms among the negroes. The ringleaders of the expedition were said to be men of high standing and great influence in Hayti. The attempt had caused great alarm among the white inhabitants, but received very little attention from the Government, who appear not to be apprized of the threatened danger. As to the agriculture of the Island, the plantations are in a state of dilapidation, and fast going to waste. The crops have fallen off more than three quarters of the annual product previous to the act of emancipation.

The British Government, as if to promote the revolutionary plans of the negroes, have withdrawn the white troops and placed the negro troops in their stead. It appears also, that some of the designing among the dissenters are trying to make the citizens of the United States odious to the black population. They have carried their rancour so far as to recommend to the negroes not to purchase American flour, rice, bread, corn meal, lumber, or indeed any other American product.

In order to subject American captains to suspicion and injurious treatment, they have been accused of kidnapping the blacks; hence every negro is warned to shun them as persons having designs upon their liberty. Notwithstanding the number of manumitted apprentices, a great scarcity of servants exists.—N. O. Com. Bulletin.

The magnificent building, projected for the two Houses of Parliament in England, is to be built of magnesia limestone, or do omite, from Bolsover Moor, in Derbyshire and vicinity. It has been selected as combining the important qualities of beauty and durability.

A report of "Marriages, Births, Deaths and Diseases in England" during the year ending June 30, 1838," recently presented to Parliament, comprises much valuable information. It appears that the number of marriages registered was 111,491. Matrimony, it is stated, was at a maximum in the Christmas quarter, at a minimum in the quarter ending March 31st. 107,201 marriages were performed according to the rites of the established church, and 4,230 in registered places of worship—including among the latter 76 between Quakers, and 135 between Jews. The registry of Births, includes 204,863 males, and 194,849 females. The registered Deaths amounted to 335,956; of which 131,034 were children under 5 years of age, 39,990 males, and 21,893 females. The average mortality is stated as 1 in 45. The mortality of males is higher than that of females. 20 per cent of the total deaths is attributed to consumption. It is clearly established that unhealthy places augment the fatality of certain diseases, especially cases of consumption, in different degrees, and therefore the source of the higher mortality in cities is ascribed to the insolubrity of the atmosphere. Every human being expires about 666 cubic feet of gas daily, which if collected in a receiver, would destroy other animals, and is constantly producing in a variety of ways the decomposition of animal and vegetable matter, yielding poisonous emanations in houses, workshops, dirty streets and bad sewers. The smoke of fires and the products of combustion are also poisonous. According to the report, it will be found, caeteris posibus, that the mortality increases as the density of the population increases; and where the density and the affluence are the same, that the rate of mortality depends upon the efficiency of the ventilation, and of the means which are employed for the removal of impurities. The general adoption of sanatory measures, now only in partial operation, it is stated would probably reduce the annual number of deaths in England and Wales 80,000; and diminish the numbers constantly disabled by sickness in the same proportion.

SOUTH SEA EXPEDITION.—During the last fortnight the visitors to Chatham Dockyard have been very numerous to inspect a vessel, the Erebus, fitting out for a three years' voyage to the South Pole and Pacific Ocean. The Erebus has been in dock several months. She was put out last week, and is rigging with all despatch. The Terror bomb will accompany her. Both these vessels are fitted by Government, but are only lent by the Admiralty to the Board of Arts and Sciences for the expedition, by whom the whole expense of stores, &c. is to be defrayed. The ships are made exceedingly strong to encounter distress of weather. The wales are doubled with 8 inch oak plank, and the bottom with plank of three inches; the holds, the ceiling of which is doubled with two thicknesses of 1½ inch African teak, crossing each other at right angles, the bulkheads in the holds are built in like manner and made water-tight, so that should the bottom be stove in at any part by the sheets of ice, the safety of the ships will not be endangered. The pumps fitted are those of Massie's patent. The weather deck is also doubled with 3 inch fir plank, with fearnought dipped in tallow laid between them. It is stated the two ships will sail on Saturday, the 31st inst. Many persons, however, think the Erebus cannot be ready for a fortnight. The Erebus is commanded by Captain Ross, nephew to Captain Ross who attempted a North-West passage. The Terror is commanded by Captain Crozier.—Kentish Gazette.

Whales appear to be in abundance in the Orkneys. One hundred and seventy of the bottle-nosed kind were caught last week at the Isle of Westary, and have since been sold for about as many pounds. This was much under the usual price obtained, and was owing to the roughness of the weather preventing persons from Kirkwall, &c. attending the sale. A number of the same description appeared in Scapa Bay last week, but got off scatheless.—Edinburgh Journal.

Mr. Arago, a distinguished philosopher of England, professes to have discovered a mode of preventing the occurence of hail and thunder storms. He proposes to discharge the electric fluid of clouds by means of a small balloon armed with metallic communication with the ground. This balloon is to be properly secured from injury, and is to be permanently stationed in the place to be protected from the tornado.

Storms in the Caspian Sea.—The Caspian Sea, which is generally tranquil, was violently agitated by storms in the early part of July. Eighteen Russian and Persian vessels, valued with their cargoes at three millions of rubles, were wrecked, and 95 lives lost.

The Catholic Archbishop of Constantinople had resolved on expelling all the monks attached to the churches of his diocese, and replacing them by secular clergymen. The former, who are extremely numerous, declined complying with the orders of the prelate; the clergy of Constantinople were accordingly in a state of insurrection, and a new schism among the Catholics of the East was regarded as imminent.

Jews in the Holy Land.—Mr. Moses Monte-Fiore, brother-in-law of the present Baron Rothschild, lately made a visit to Egypt and Syria. He made propositions to the Viceroy for three objects:

1. To establish a commercial bank in Egypt, with a capital of two millions sterling.
2. To purchase territory in Syria, for the benefit of the Jews.
3. To make the oath of Jews admissable in Syria, as in Egypt.
