The Sentinel, Newspaper,

Printed at Fredericton, New-Brunswick,

By EDMUND WARD.

THE SENTINEL has now been established upwards of a twelvemonth, and appears to have given much satisfaction to the inhabitants of the Province generally. It is published every Saturday morning, in time for the Mails which leave for St. John, St. Andrews, St. Stephens, the County of Westmorland, and Halifax; and up the River, through Woodstock, Wakefield and Andover, to Quebec.

In THE SENTINEL are published the Debates in the Assembly, and to render their publication more complete and extensive, a Supplement will be issued on Tuesday evening, or the morning of Wednesday, during the sitting of the Legislature; and as this will be attended with considerable expence, the Proprietor looks for remuneration from the increased patronage and support of a liberal and intelligent public.

The receipt of important intelligence which frequently is brought by express, or by the mails from Canada or the United States, that daily arrive, renders THE SENTINEL the best vehicle of information in the Province; and the Post Office arrangements that have been recently made, enable its Proprietor to disseminate information thus obtained, with the greatest promptitude and regularity.

Persons disposed to subscribe, will please apply to either of the Postmasters in the Province, or the undermentioned Agent, and the Paper will be forwarded by mail. Terms, Fifteen Shillings a year, and Two Shillings and Sixpence postage—half in advance.

☞ As considerable delay has taken place in the delivery of THE SENTINEL in Saint John, in future it will be sent to the Post Office, and carried round by the Postman, which seems to be the general wish of our subscribers in that quarter. Persons wishing to subscribe will please leave their names with Mr. M'MILLAN, Stationer.

UNION HARMONY,

OR,

British America's Sacred Vocal Music.

FOURTH EDITION,

ENLARGED AND GREATLY IMPROVED,

Will be published, and ready for sale early in the ensuing Summer.

PROSPECTUS.

THE encouraging reception of the three former editions of this work, and the frequent applications to the publisher for a continuance has induced him to offer a Fourth Edition, upon an enlarged and improved plan.

The progressing improvement in Sacred Music within the British Provinces, which received its early stimulus from the publication of the UNION HARMONY, &c. requires at this time a more comprehensive work, comprising greater variety in style and manner, to meet the requirements of elementary instruction, the practice of schools, singing societies, and devotional music on public occasions.

It is intended to comprehend fully the above objects in this edition; the work will be executed on fine paper, splendid typography, and substantially bound in boards; and will consist of 350 pages—two-thirds of which will comprise a proportion of standard Church Music, adapted to the various metres in general use among the respective denominations of Christian worshippers; other Music of easy acquirement to young beginners in the art of Vocal Music; and also of such music for the use of schools and singing parties as is calculated to raise the admiration and excite the genius of the lovers of sacred harmony. The remaining third part will comprise original music, Anthems on various occasions, and other select pieces from the most celebrated composers, both European and American.

The rules of music necessary for the learner will be simplified, both in matter and arrangement, throwing off all superfluous musical characters, arbitrary terms, and useless technicalities; every allowable deviation from the fixed principles in the science of music, will be expressed in plain English without the unnecessary introduction of Latin lingo, which in itself needs interpretation before it can be understood.

In short, the publisher intends that every single page of this work shall be of lasting utility, and the whole book be a permanent family companion.

STEPHEN HUMBERT.

Essence of Smoke.

THE above elegant article, as manufactured by Mr. G. RILEY, at his Chemical Works, Hampton Ferry, (King's County,) for curing Beef, Hams, Tongues, Fish, &c. has now been in use for upwards of two years, and has entirely superseded the old method of smoking, in all places where it has had a trial, having given the greatest satisfaction.

Meat or Fish, simply washed over with this liquor, if sweet at the time, will remain free from taint, even without being salted, if hung in a dry place, any length of time. The meat, by this process, with every appearance (after hanging a few days,) of having ben perfectly smoked, has a much finer and richer flavour than by the old mode—its natural juices being retained in perfection. This article is of so very penetrating a nature, that the largest Ham will be found to be thoroughly and perfectly impregnated to the very bone, within one hour after its application.

In addition to its excellent qualities for the above purposes, its effects on the living system are yet more extraordinary, for in all cases of Sprains, Bruises, Chilblains, Tooth-ache, or Lameness of any kind, in man or beast, its effects are wonderful, and for Rheumatism it is unparaleled—removing pains of long standing after a few applications. In several recent cases it has enabled both Horses and Oxen that were confined to their stables by severe lameness, to resume their usual labour in a few hours after its first application. Within this fortnight it has effected a perfect cure of a spavined Horse. For these purposes it should be applied warm, and well rubbed in with the hands.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE:—The article to be smoked, should, when taken from the pickle, be wiped dry, and immediately washed over with the liquor; if it is large, the washing must be repeated in six or eight hours.—In no case must the article be hung up to dry before it is smoked.

☞ Sold by the manufacturer, as above, and by Mr. D. C. PERKINS, No. 3, South Market Wharf, St. John.—Price, Five Shillings per gallon. A liberal allowance to country dealers at either of the above places, who will do well to get a supply, as it is an article that is sure to sell.
