POETRY.

TO CHILDREN.

BY AN OLD MAN.

O how I love children, old man though I be,
With their coral lip, and their eye of glee;
And their joyful shout, and their bounding frame,
Which make my old limbs grow young again.

Who would check their boisterous mirth? Not I!
Who would stop their joy, and so dim their eye
With tears, which will come too soon, I ween,
As we all have felt, as we all have seen?

'T is God's gracious gift to us men on earth,
To assuage our cares by these years of mirth;
Preparing us, thus, as on we go,
For after griefs in our journey of wo.

Then still not their young hearts' burst of glee,
Let their voice be a song, and their step go free,
To roam as they love through fields and flowers,
Till time and the world show sadder hours.

O fair to behold is the infant sweet,
As it calmly smiles in its peaceful sleep;
An image of holy love is he,
When he wakes, and dances about in glee!

And how beats the heart with a father's joy,
At the distant shout of his noble boy,
As he crieth aloud—mighty warrior he!—
"Mine—mine is the battle, and victory!"

And as rising up,—yea, towering high,—
In its beauty, youth bursts out manfully;
In modesty, virtue, and wisdom, he
Stands forth and but shows what the man should [be.

Oh! then cometh anxious thoughts, and sighs,
First for woman's love, and for beauty's eyes;
And, following this, then one by one,
In quick succession, do troubles come.

Then, stay not their earthly pleasures,—soon
To be changed for anguish, and care, and gloom;
But rather rejoice, young things! that they
Can help to cheer us, as they dance and play.

As for me, I love children, old man though I be,
With their coral lip, and their eye of glee,
With their joyful shout, and their bounding frame,
Which makes my old limbs grow young again.

VARIETY.

THE DUTY TO LABOUR.—"The world owes me a good living, and I'll have it," says some blackleg as he finishes a luxurious repast; "here, landlord, another bottle of your prime Madeira." Half a dozen empty headed fops, who sit gazing on him by stealth, in silent admiration, hail the sentiment with a shout of rapturous applause. "That's it—the world owes us a good living, and we'll have it!—Landlord! more wine here! we won't go home till morning. Let's go it while we're young. Who cares for the expense?"

The consequence of this is the pilfering of money drawers, the ignominious loss of employment, genteel loaferism, and so on, until one of these enterprising gentlemen, in eager pursuit of the good living the world owes him, puts the wrong man's name to a check, or in some kindred way gets a ticket for the granite palace, where the State provides "a living" for those it considers deserving, but not such an one as comports with their own estimation of their exalted merits.

The great error in this case is the original maxim. It is false and detestable. "The world owes you a good living." How owes? Have you earned it by good service? If you have, whether on the anvil or in the pulpit, as a tailor or a teacher, you have acquired a just right to livelihood. But if you have eaten as much as you have earned, or, still worse, have done little or no good, the world owes you nothing.

Mankind are just waking to a consciousness of the duty resting on every man to be active and useful in his day and in his sphere. All are not called to dig, or hew, or plough, or plane—but every man has a sphere of usefulness allotted him by Providence, and he is unfaithful to his high trust if he deserts it for idle pomp or heedless luxury. One man may be fitted by nature and inclination for an artisan, another for a sailor, and a third for a merchant; but no man was ever born fitted only to be an idler and a drone.

"But has not a rich man a right to enjoy his wealth?" Most certainly; we should be the last to deprive him of it. He has a natural and legal right to possess and enjoy it in any manner not injurious to others; but he has no moral right to be useless because he has superior means of being useful. Let him possess in abundance the means of satisfying every pure and just desire of his nature and become wiser, nobler, larger in soul than his less fortunate neighbour; but never let him forget, as, if properly trained, he never can, that it his solemn duty to be useful to his fellow creatures, especially to the depressed and suffering; to labor for their benefit, and suffer, if need be, for their elevation.

The world soon learns to respect its benefactors in whatever sphere, and to realize that he who truly and honestly exerts himself in some department of useful effort, may justly claim a brotherhood with all who toil, and make, and earn. Let the rich cease to look down on the poor—the merchant on the porter; let each respect the dignity of man, whether in his own person or that of his less fortunate brother; let haughtiness and pride cease on one side, and envy, jealousy, and hatred, with their train of direful consequences, will vanish from the other, and all, animated by a common kindness, will move forward in concord to the attainment of the highest good.—N. Y. Tribune.

AUSTRALIA, the Land of Contraries.—The north breeze is the hot wind, and the south the cool; the westerly the most unhealthy, and the east the most salubrious; it is summer with the colonists when it is winter at home, and the barometer is considered to rise before bad weather, and to fall before good; the swans are black, and the eagles are white; the mole lays eggs, and has a duck's bill; the kangaroo (an animal between the deer and the squirrel) has five claws on his fore paws, three talons on its hind legs, like a bird, and yet hops on its tail. There is a bird (melliphaga) which has a broom in its mouth instead of a tongue; a fish, one-half belonging to the genus raia, and the other that of squalus. The cod is found in the rivers, and the perch in the sea; the valleys are cold and the mountain tops warm; the nettle is a lofty tree, and the poplar a dwarfish shrub; the pears are of wood, with the stalks at the broad end; the cherry grows with the stone outside; the fields are fenced with mahogany; the humblest house is fitted up with cedar; and the myrtle plants are burnt for fuel; the trees are without fruit, the flowers without scent, and the birds without song. Finally, in New South Wales honesty is the best policy, and the greatest rogue becomes converted into the most useful citizen. Such is Terra Australia.

CHARACTERISTIC OF FARMERS.—Farmers seldom affect a mystery of their agricultural operations, as is the case with most other occupations. A farmer is always free, ready and communicative, and this has been a characteristic of the husbandman from time immemorial. It is related of Ischomacus, a complete husbandman, described by Xenophon in his economies, "that all other tradesmen are at great pains to conceal the chief parts of their art. But if a farmer has either sown or planted his fields with care and propriety, he is happy in having them inspected; and when asked, will conceal nothing of the manner by which he brought his works to such perfection."

FEMALE DUELLISTS.—A late Paris paper says, that a sentry on duty, in the environs of Montmarte, heard two pistol shots, and running to the spot from whence the sound proceeded, to his astonishment, saw two young and pretty women reloading their pistols, which they had just discharged, in a duel. The man interposed to put an end to the combat, and under the pretext of escorting the fair duellists through the barrier, accompanied them thither, and immediately gave them in charge. They passed several hours in the guard house before they were released.

HORRID MURDER.—The Boston papers contain an account of the murder of a young woman named Stevenson, committed in the Cambridge Alms House, Cambridgeport, on Sunday, by a man named William H. Britton. We copy the following particulars from the Transcript:—

Britton, as a pauper, became an inmate of the Alms House in September, 1840, being aged and somewhat infirm. He possessing some literary acquirements was employed as a teacher in the establishment. In June last, Miss Stevenson, being in ill health, became an inmate of the House. After she had somewhat recovered, she undertook to learn to write under the instruction of Britton.—During the course of instruction, he conceived a violent attachment for her, and proposed to marry her. But she declined his offer. He however pressed his suit, and she by the advice of Mr. Valentine, the Superintendent, avoided him as much as possible.

Yesterday morning as she was reading the Testament to her companions, Britton entered the room, seized her, and drawing a large carving knife from his bosom, plunged it between her right shoulder and breast, quite through her heart and lungs, and out under her left shoulder blade. She advanced towards the door, and fell dead on the threshold.

Britton was immediately arrested. A coroner's inquest was held, and a verdict of wilful murder returned against him. He confessed the deed, and was committed to the jail at East Cambridge.

The deceased was a native of Ireland, about twenty years of age, quite handsome, very intelligent, and exceedingly desirous of mental improvement. She was very much respected, on account of her excellent conduct, notwithstanding her poverty.

Britton is fifty-seven years of age, a native of Halifax, N. S. out of which port he has sailed many years as master of a vessel. During the last war he was taken by an American privateer, commanded by Capt. Crowninshield, and carried a prisoner, to Salem. He is a widower, his wife having been dead nine years, and during this period he has also buried two women grown daughters.

Liverpool Clothing Store,

No. 3, Merritt's Brick Buildings, WATER-STREET.

T. HAGUE & CO. of the British and American Clothing Hall, Liverpool, beg leave to inform the Public, that in consequence of the great sacrifice made upon Goods in England, from Bankrupts' Sales and Insolvent Estates, their Mr. Hague, being on the spot, and in the habit of attending all the principal manufacturing markets, has availed himself of an opportunity of watching the sales of the different stocks belonging to the many respectable manufacturers who unfortunately have been obliged to bring their business to a close; and from their extensive business in Liverpool, together with that in Saint John, and not being limited for that wonder-working article, CASH, they have been enabled to buy several of Superfine CLOTHS, in every colour and quality; Rich SATINS; Velvets; Valencias; Quiltings; and other Vestings; with fashionable TROUSERINGS, of every description—and have caused the same to be made up (under their own inspection,) into GENTLEMEN'S CLOTHING, in the first style of fashion, the whole being cut by a first rate London artist;—which have just arrived per ships Emerald and Alexander Edmond, and are now on sale.

Bankrupts' Stocks

T. Hague & Co. do not think it requisite to enter into any minute explanation to convince the Public of the advantages an establishment posses ses that has always a buyer in the market, and ready to take every opportunity of purchasing their Goods under the most favourable terms. Is it likely that persons who are obliged to appoint Agents to make their purchases in England, or who visit it at a great expense, can possibly make up their Clothing within TWENTY PER CENT. of those who make up every garment at their own establishment, and purchase every article for the purpose from the manufacturers themselves, or, as in this case, from Thirty to Forty per Cent. less than the manufacturers' prices?

N. B.—A large quantity of M'Intosh CAPES and COATS, warranted; Silk and Stuff HATS, which will be sold cheap.

JOHN G. SHARP, CHEMIST,
Corner of North Market Wharf and
June 5, 1841. Dock-street.

SHARP'S IMPROVED SEIDLITZ POWDERS,

Made on a New, Convenient and Economical Principle,

All the Ingredients being mixed in one Bottle

THESE Powders are made by the subscriber, from a recent analysis (by one of the first Chemists in Europe) of the most celebrated Springs in Germany.

The form into which Seidlitz Powders have hitherto been put up, has long been complained of, as expensive and occasioning a great deal of trouble to mix, particularly to persons travelling; the ordinary form is objectionable also, inasmuch as it does not admit of the possibility of preserving the Powders on ship-board near the sea, or in any damp situation.

These circumstances led the subscriber to turn his attention to the subject: the result has been that he can now offer to the Public at about one half the price, a preparation possessing, in every respect, the medicinal properties of the most approved SEIDLITZ POWDER, and having none of the above objections; they contain the due proportion of fixed air, are quite tasteless, produce the SEIDLITZ WATER, without the slightest trouble, and, from the facility of regulating the dose, may be taken as a mild aperient or brisk purgative, by persons of all ages and constitutions. The Bottle contains every ingredient found in the Native Springs, and Water, impregnated with it, becomes as sparkling and effervescent as Soda Water.

This preparation affords advantages possessed by no other single remedy; and by regulating the dose and time of administering it, will be found an invaluable and universal Family Medicine.

It may be considered a specific in the following disorders:—Sickness at the Stomach, Bilious Disorders, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Nausea and Vomiting, Diseases of the Liver, Gravel, Fever and Inflammatory Complaints of every description.

☞ Prepared and Sold, Wholesale and Retail, by JOHN G. SHARP,

PILES &c.

A CAREFUL examination of the contents of this is respectfully solicited from all persons.

HAYS' LINIMENT.

NO FICTION.—This extraordinary chemical composition, the result of science and the invention of a celebrated medical man, the introduction of which to the public was invested with the solemnity of a death-bed bequest, has since gained a reputation unparalleled, fully sustaining the correctness of the lamented Dr. Gridley's last confession, that "he dared not die without giving to posterity the benefit of his knowledge on this subject," and he therefore bequeathed to his friend and attendant, Solomon Hays, the secret of his discovery.

It is now used in the principal hospitals, and the private practice of our country, first and most certainly for the cure of the Piles, and also extensively and effectually as to baffle credulity, unless where its effects are witnessed. Externally in the following complaints:

For Dropsy—Creating extraordinary absorption at once.
Swellings—Reducing them in a few hours.
Rheumatism—Acute or chronic, giving quick ease.
Sore Throat—By cancers, ulcers, or colds.
Croup and Whooping-Cough—Externally and over the chest.
All Bruises, Sprains and Burns—Curing in a few hours.
Sores and Ulcers—Whether fresh or long standing, and fever sores.

Its operation upon adults and children, in reducing rheumatic swellings, and loosening coughs and tightness of the chest by relaxation of the parts, has been surprising beyond conception.—The common remark of those who have used it in the Piles, is, "It acts like a charm."

For Sale at nearly all Shops, and at Saint John by Messrs. PETERS & TILLEY, Mr. A. R. Truro, Messrs. T. WALKER & SON, and others. [1 y.]

St. John, 12th September, 1840.

PURE EXTRACT OF SPANISH SARSAPARILLA.—WILLIAM BROWN, Chemist, 481, Washington-street, Boston, has prepared a liquid Extract of Sarsaparilla by a steam process, without boiling the root. It is an entire new preparation of sarsaparilla never before prepared in this or any other country. It has been in constant use for the past six months by some of the first physicians in Boston, and all those who wish to go through a regular course of sarsaparilla treatment can be referred to them. The preparation contains no other article than the pure Spanish sarsaparilla, and one great improvement over all other preparations of sarsaparilla, it is not reduced by adding sugar to form a syrup.—This article is well adapted to the practice of physicians, as they can learn, by calling on the proprietor, the quantity of sarsaparilla contained in each bottle. The quantity required is small compared with the syrup. It is the cheapest preparation of sarsaparilla now in use, considering its strength. A copy-right is secured for the directions, and each direction signed Wm. Brown on the outside. The above article is a sure remedy for all complaints occasioned by an impure state of the blood, diseases of the skin, scrofula, rheumatism, salt rheum, erysipelas, and to remove the effect of calomel.
