(From the Book of the Boudoir.)

EARTH'S LOVELINESS.—By T. K. Hervey.

'Oh! what a deathless beauty lies
Upon this world of ours!
By night, it has its starry eyes;
By day, its eyes of flowers:
Its very tempests walk the skies,
To give the rainbow birth;
And everywhere, methinks, love lies
Upon this blessed earth!

'They say, ere time and I shall part,
That smiles with sighs must meet.—
I know, by my own sighing heart,
That sighs are very sweet!—
They tell me hope and love must die,
And weeping comes with years,—
I never felt a single joy
Beyond the joy of tears!

'They bid me mark upon the grass,
The shadow, as it flies,—
I love to see the shadow pass
Along the earth and skies!—
And thus, they say, shall sorrow steal
Along my spirit's light,—
If sorrow lends the eye a veil
So beautifully dark, I feel
I would not have it bright!

'They speak of the inconstant moon,—
To me their words seem strange:
Of all her charms, the crowning one
Is that unresting change!
They show the leaves by autumn curled,
'And sere,' they say, 'and dull,'—
I do not know, in all the world,
A sight so beautiful!'———

O love! young love!—they preach in vain
Who seek to make thee wise;
Thou canst not see or grief or pain
With those glad, sunny eyes:
Creation, in its myriad parts,
One moral yields alone,
And life, in all its thousand hearts,
Is colour'd by thine own!

For thee the future has no show,
To thee the past is o'er,—
'To-day, to-day!'—it shall be so
No more—oh! never more!
Where wisdom fail'd shall all be changed
By time's unfailing spell,—
The future and the past avenged
Too well—oh! all too well!

VARIETY.

The Cunard Vase.—This splendid affair was manufactured at the establishment of Messrs. Lows, Ball & Co. of Boston, and the whole was designed and executed under the superintendance of Mr. Obadiah Rich, who has been in their employment several years, and has the sole charge of the manufacture of the silver plate.

The form of this vase as copied from the celebrated Grecian or Elgin Vase, is thirty-two inches high and about fifteen inches in diameter at the largest part, and thirty-two inches across the handles.

On one side is a shield, surmounted by the Globe and the American and British shields. Within this shield is represented one of the steam ships of the Cunard line, beneath is the trident of Neptune and the caduceus of Mercury, with anchors and other Nautical emblems. This shield is composed of scrolls, foliage and flowers, which are continued over the whole surface of the handles.

On the opposite side is a shield with the following inscription:

Presented by citizens of Boston
to the Honorable Samuel Cunard,
of Halifax, N. S.,
whose enterprise established the line of British Mail Steam Packets between
Liverpool, Eng., Halifax, N. S., and
Boston, United States of America, 1840.

This shield is surmounted with the helmet, crest and mantling of the Cunard family, and like the other is composed of scrolls, flowers, &c., extending nearly over the whole side.

The bottom is chased in like manner, the Ogee at the bottom the neck is richly chased with arabesque scrolls and flowers.

On one side is the head of Neptune, and on the opposite that of Mercury. The neck is quite plain, to contrast with the rich work below. The top rim above the neck is also in bold relief.

The handles are formed of Dolphins resting on shells six inches in diameter, from which spring large acanthus leaves, which make the bottom of the handles. The bottom rim of the foot is composed of coral and shells in alto relievo and the upper part is chased with flowers, &c.

The chasing on the body is in bas relief.

The Vase weighs 412 oz. 12 dwt., and occupied nine months in manufacturing.

Hoosier Customer.—The New Orleans Picayune gives a queer account of an uncouth looking Hoosier who went into an ironmonger's store in Chartres street, whistling, on somewhat a low key, "Yankee Doodle," and seeming as independent as an eagle in his eyrie.

He threw his eye down along the well arranged store, as a captain of militia would look along the lines on a training day, and then addressed the clerk, who, with well combed hair, stood impatient to know what the Hoosier wanted, that he might at once supply him, and return to the perusal of James' last novel.

"Stranger, you go it rayther extensive here, in the saw, hatchet, and etcetera business."

"Rather," said the clerk, assuming a bland tone, but wishing the Hoosier on board of his flat boat, "do any thing for you, sir?"

"Well, I guess you can, young feller," said the Hoosier, "you seem to be a right kind of a nice man. Why, your hair is jist as greasy and as glossy as if you eat nothing but bar meat, you raccoon-looking critter you. Why on airth don't you make clearing on your chin?—(the clerk wore an imperial)—out west we never leave a stump standing that we don't cut down."

"Sir," said the clerk, peevishly, "do you wish to buy any thing?"

"Haint you got locks?" said the Hoosier, perfectly composed.

"Yes," said the clerk, "we have locks of every description—padlocks, spring locks, patent locks, and double shooting locks."

"Yes, stranger," said the Hoosier, "but I do all my shooting with a rifle. I don't want none of them locks. I want a lock-jaw, for I've tried every means to stop my old woman's tongue, and I b'lieve nothing else will silence her."

"Don't deal in the article," said the clerk gruffly, returning to read the "Ancient Regime."

"And, darn you, could'nt you say so at first," replied the Hoosier, "you half-feathered, half-starved looking prairie chicken."

Very Good.—Speaking of Fanny Elssler's "tears" in her farewell address, the New Orleans Picayune says:—"Tears used to be the dew of the heart's affection. Now they are, in most cases, drops of perspiration emitted by the heat of humbug."

A popular Superstition.—Superstitions, because entertained without consulting the "why and because," are nevertheless often founded on scientific facts and principles.—Science may be aided by taking current popular whims, and tracing them back to their origin. For instance, we notice in a late Canada paper that some men hunted in vain for a drowned body, until they followed an old hunter's recipe, viz: floating a chip of white cedar down the stream, near the supposed place of drowning, until it stopped and whirled round." The chip "from some mysterious attraction," says the newspaper, did so stop and whirl round, and the body was found beneath it, in twelve feet of water. Our theory is that about this there was no "mysterious attraction." A body in the process of decomposition in the air emits offensive though invisible particles. Decomposition or change cannot go on in the water, without evolving particles, and it is not "mysterious," but perfectly reasonable that they should agitate the water enough to cause a light chip to whirl. Any other light substance, as cork or paper, would answer the same purpose as well and the hint is worth application, where the water is quiescent enough to try the experiment.

The other night one of the most illustrious of the French novelists, M. de Balzac, was in his bed, but not asleep. A noise from a lock caused him to turn when he saw a rascal forcing open his secretary. It was a critical moment—M. de Balzac laughed aloud.—the thief, thinking he was discovered, suspended his work—M. de Balzac laughed the louder. "What the devil are you laughing at?" said the robber, pettishly. "What am I laughing at? parblue! You are a famous imbecile, to come here at the dead of night, on tip toe, with false keys at a risk of being sent to the galleys, to look for money in a piece of furniture, where I could not find any myself, at broad daylight, opening it at my ease with the proper key."

One way to get Rum.—A rummer, who occasionally used to be short of change, had recourse to the following expedient to 'raise the wind.' He got two pint bottles exactly alike, one in each pocket, he entered the groggery and called for a pint of gin. The bottle was filled and handed to him, when he put it in his pocket, at the same time telling the landlord he had no money. 'Then I won't trust you, so give me back my gin,' said the landlord. 'If you won't there's no harm done,' added the other, reluctantly pulling the bottle of water from his pocket and handing it over, it was quickly emptied into the cask. There wasn't much harm done to the landlord, that's a fact, for although rummey had had this bottle of gin, the same number of pints were drawn from the cask.—New York Organ.

"Change me a five dollar bill?" asked a green looking chap a few days ago, in our streets, of a [illegible] of the denomination named. The one of whom the enquiry was made saw the amount of the bill tendered, and quickly gave him five dollars in small notes. The parties then separated, each apparently satisfied with his bargain, and the new proprietor really was so, until an hour or two afterwards, when he stepped into a broker's office, laid down the bill, and enquired, "Can you accommodate me with small bills for a fifty?—"Yes sir," was the reply, "but not for that one—it is a counterfeit."

It was the remark of Lysander that beautiful clothing only serves to make ugly faces more noticeable and conspicuous.

Miss St. Luke's Music Class,

FOR THE

TUITION OF THE PIANO FORTE, and the Rudiments of Music, FOR LADIES ONLY,

To be held at Mr. St. Luke's Dancing Academy, corner of Church and Prince William Streets.

MISS ST. LUKE proposes to have a Class for the Tuition of the Pianoforte and instruction in the Rudiments of MUSIC, in which each pupil will receive, in presence of the whole Class, her Lessons, both in the Rudiments of Music and on the Pianoforte; by which means, all the pupils must necessarily acquire a thorough knowledge of the different Times and Keys appertaining to Music. In a Class of this kind, pupils will receive as much instruction as they would in six or more ordinary Lessons.

Miss St. Luke's Terms for this Class will be thirty shillings per quarter, (one-half payable in advance,) which is one-half the usual charge. Class to meet at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, on Mondays and Fridays. Oct. 16.

SACRED MUSIC, &c.

THE Subscriber has at present on hand, quantities of the various selections of Sacred Music, used by the Episcopal, Presbyterian, and other Congregations and Societies, all of which are very popular in England, Scotland, and Ireland. Also,—a varied stock of Piano Fortes, and the other Musical Instruments and Book and Sheet Music, which, from the satisfaction those already sold have given, and from his knowledge of the trade he can with confidence recommend.

The subscriber, from his experience in the manufactories of Messrs. Broadwood & Son, and Collard & Collard, (from whom he has letters of recommendation and certificates) and from his long practice in and around Glasgow, where he was engaged by the most respectable people, and gave general satisfaction in tuning and repairing Pianofortes, will be happy to undertake the like here, and hopes to merit the approbation of those who may be kind enough to engage him.

Accordians, and other Musical Instruments, tuned and repaired in the neatest style, at the Musical Repositary, in the Brick Building, corner of King and Germain-streets.

Grammar School.

MR. PATERSON having returned from Great Britain, desires, in resuming his duties as Head Master of the Grammar School of this city, to offer his most sincere acknowledgements to his friends for their former patronage and support, and to inform them, that having made it his principal business to visit the most respectable seminaries of learning in London, Liverpool, Edinburgh and Glasgow, he is prepared to engraft upon his own plans of instruction and scholastic discipline, whatever he deemed useful in the systems which he saw in operation. Several vacancies having occurred in the School during his absence, parents desirous of giving their children the advantages of a thorough Classical, Mathematical, and Commercial Education, have now a very eligible opportunity.

Terms, as established by the Directors:—For Tuition, £6 per annum, payable quarterly; fuel, school-cleaning, &c. 7s. 6d. per annum.

Mr. P. can now admit into his family five or six pupils as boarders, either to attend the Public School, or to receive their education privately in the house. A wholesome moral influence will be continually exercised upon their minds, and the fear of God constantly inculcated. Terms, per annum, including Tuition, fuel and light, books, paper, pens and ink, £60. In the evenings, instruction will be imparted, if desired, in Natural Philosophy, French, and Drawing, at an extra charge. The lessons in Drawing will be given by Miss Paterson, who has rendered herself fully competent to impart instruction in that useful and ornamental branch of education.

St. John, Sept. 25, 1841.

MATHEMATICS.

R. MATTHEWSON respectfully informs the inhabitants of St. John and its vicinity, that he will give private instruction in the following branches of Mathematical Science, viz.: Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, Mensuration, Surveying, Navigation, Conic Sections, Fluxions, &c. including the higher Algebraic Equations, Indeterminate Problems, Diophantine Analysis, the application of Algebra to Geometry; of Plane Trigonometry to the measurement of Heights and Distances; of Spherical Trigonometry to Geography and Astronomy; of the Differential and Integral Calculus to the maxima and minima of quantities, the determination of the lengths of curves, areas of surface, capacities of solids, and the calculation of Logarithms, Sines, Tangents, &c.

R. M. from former experience and success as a teacher of the Mathematics, flatters himself he will give general satisfaction to such as may entrust him with their instruction. He accustoms the student to familiar illustrations, logical reasoning, and as often as possible practical applications, which render this sublime and interesting study rather an amusement than a task, exercise and improve the judgment, gratify and expand the mind, stimulate its energies with an ardour after the investigation of truth, and rouse its curiosity to explore the mysterious wonders of nature in the fertile regions of science.

Further particulars known by application at the City Hotel, King street, where specimens and testimonials may be seen.

St. John, 28th August, 1841.

WONDERS OF CASH,

With all its influence and effects may be seen at

HAGUE & ALLEN'S

NOTED CHEAP

Liverpool Clothing Store,

No. 3, Merritt's Brick Buildings,

WATER-STREET.

T. HAGUE & CO. of the British and American Clothing Hall, Liverpool, beg leave to inform the Public, that in consequence of the great sacrifice made upon Goods in England, from Bankrupts' Sales and Insolvent Estates, their Mr. Hague, being on the spot, and in the habit of attending all the principal manufacturing markets, has availed himself of an opportunity of watching the sales of the different stocks belonging to the many respectable manufacturers who unfortunately have been obliged to bring their business to a close; and from their extensive business in Liverpool, together with that in Saint John, and not being limited for that wonder-working article, Cash, they have been enabled to buy several of Superfine CLOTHS, in every colour and quality; Rich SATINS; Velvets; Valencias; Quiltings; and other Vestings; with fashionable TROUSERINGS, of every description—and have caused the same to be made up (under their own inspection,) into Gentlemen's CLOTHING, in the first style of fashion, the whole being cut by a first rate London artist;—which have just arrived per ships Emerald and Alexander Edmond, and are now on sale.

Bankrupts' Stocks

T. Hague & Co. do not think it requisite to enter into any minute explanation to convince the Public of the advantages an establishment possesses that has always a buyer in the market, and ready to take every opportunity of purchasing their Goods under the most favourable terms. Is it likely that persons who are obliged to appoint Agents to make their purchases in England, or who visit it at a great expense, can possibly make up their Clothing within Twenty per Cent. of those who make up every garment at their own establishment, and purchase every article for the purpose from the manufacturers themselves, or, as in this case, from Thirty to Forty per Cent. less than the manufacturers' prices?

N. B.—A large quantity of M'Intosh CAPES and COATS, warranted; Silk and Stuff HATS, which will be sold cheap.

☞ For Cash only and no Abatement. ☜

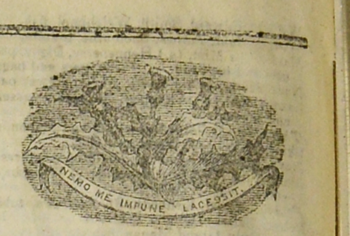
Saint John, 15th May, 1841.



Important to Invalids.

THE Subscriber would respectfully announce to the citizens of Saint John, and the public generally, that he has been appointed Sole Agent for the British Provinces, for the sale of Dr. Adam Stewart's (of Roxbury, Mass.) celebrated Vegetable MEDICINES, and that he will keep constantly on hand all the various preparations, together with books of directions which will be furnished gratis, to any who may wish to become acquainted with the Doctor's practice, whether purchasers of the Medicine or not. The great celebrity he has achieved throughout the United States, renders it unnecessary to go into any lengthened details to convince even the most incredulous that he is second to none of the Profession, in this or any other country; suffice it to say, that the Doctor was born and educated in Scotland, and has visited the most celebrated institutions in Europe, which, combined with his natural genius and a long practice, has entitled him to rank among the first of the disciples of Hippocrates. The following, whose certificates may be seen in the book of directions, are a few among the many thousands of patients who would cheerfully testify to the wonderful effects of this newly discovered Medicine.

GENUINE BUFFALO OIL, to promote the growth of the hair.—The above article is fast taking the place of all other preparations. It gives the hair a satin gloss that no other article does. There being imitations in the market, for genuine observe the signature of the proprietor, on the outside wrapper, William Brown—also, the name of "Buffalo Oil" impressed on the bottle. A copy right has been taken out for the engraving, entered according to act of Congress, 1839. For sale by the gross or dozen, at the proprietor's, William Brown, 481, Washington street.

☞ For sale by Thomas Walker & Sons, Market Square, Saint John, N. B.

May 29, 1841.

PURE EXTRACT OF SPANISH SARSAPARILLA.—William Brown, Chemist, 481, Washington street, Boston, has prepared a liquid Extract of Sarsaparilla by a steam process, without boiling the root. It is an entire new preparation of sarsaparilla never before prepared in this or any other country. It has been in constant use for the past six months by some of the first physicians in Boston, and all those who wish to go through a regular course of sarsaparilla treatment can be referred to them. The preparation contains no other article than the pure Spanish sarsaparilla, and one great improvement over all other preparations of sarsaparilla, is it is not reduced by adding sugar to form a syrup.—This article is well adapted to the practice of physicians, as they can learn, by calling on the proprietor, the quantity of sarsaparilla contained in each bottle. The quantity required is small compared with the syrup. It is the cheapest preparation of sarsaparilla now in use, considering its strength. A copy-right is secured for the directions, and each direction signed Wm. Brown on the outside. The above article is a sure remedy for all complaints occasioned by an impure state of the blood, diseases of the skin, scrofula, rheumatism, salt rheum, erysipelas, and to remove the effect of calomel.
