POETRY.

FAMINE IN SCOTLAND.

BY MRS. SIGOURNEY.

There's weeping 'mid the lonely sea,
Where the rude Hebrides lie,
And where the misty Highlands point
Their foreheads to the sky.

The oats were blighted on the stalk—
The corn before its bloom—
And many a hand that held the plough
Is pulseless in the tomb!

There is no playing in the streets—
The haggard children move
Like mournful phantoms mute and slow,
Uncheered by hope or love.

No dog upon his master fawns—
No sheep the hillocks throng—
Not even the playmate kitten sports
The sad-eyed babes among—

No more the cock his clarion sounds,
Nor brooding wing is spread,
There is no food in barn or stall,
And all are with the dead!

From the young maiden's hollow cheek
The ruddy blush is gone—
The peasant like a statue stands,
And hardens into stone—

The shuttle sleepeth in the loom
The crook upon the walls—
And from the languid mother's hand
The long used distaff falls.

She hears her children ask for bread,
And what can she bestow?
She sees their uncomplaining sire
A mournful shadow grow.

Oh, Scotia!—sister if thy woes
Awake no pitying care,
If long at banquet board we sit,
Nor heed thy deep despair—

While thou art pining into death,
Amid thy heather brown—
Will not the Giver of our joys
Upon our luxuries frown?

And blast the blossom of our pride,
And ban the rusted gold?
And turn the morsel into gall
That we from them withhold.

NAVIGATION LAWS.

In the House of Commons, on the 9th of February, Mr. Ricardo rose to propose the appointment of a select committee to inquire into the Navigation Laws. The hon. member said that these laws having been framed in 1661, no material alteration had since taken place. In 1815 the Legislature relaxed the system as regarded the United States, and afterwards as respected Portugal. It was not until 1822 that any statesman or individual was found bold enough to attack the law. In that year Mr. Wallace brought forward five bills, the object of which was to amend and explain various acts which had been passed respecting the trade and navigation of this country. In 1824, he believed, Mr. Huskisson brought forward the famous reciprocity act, enabling the King in council to admit foreign shipping into British ports on the same terms as those on which British shipping was admitted into foreign. Since then there had been some trifling alterations, including one in 1845, relating to the island of Hong Kong. Now, he did not move that the act should be repealed; he simply asked for inquiry. He thought his motion ought not to be opposed by hon. gentlemen opposite (the protectionists). In 1844 a committee was appointed, and two-thirds of the members belonged to the party opposite. The committee reported that they had not found it possible to complete their investigation, and asked to be reappointed at an early period of the next session. He would show that British shipowners and British seamen needed no protection; that we could beat the shipping of the world just as we beat the manufacturers of the world. But he now came to a part of the subject on which he must claim a slight indulgence whilst he entered into a few details. He held in his hand an estimate of the comparative tonnage of British and foreign shipping in the British ports in 1814, the last year of the war; 1824, the year of the first reciprocity treaty; and 1845, when 27 of those treaties were in existence. The return gave the following results:—

	British.	Foreign.
1814	1,248,000	599,287 tons,
1824	1,797,320	759,541 „
1845	4,310,639	1,735,079 „

The proportions being as follow:—

1814	as 68 tons British to 31 foreign.
1824	70 „	„	29 „
1844	71 „	„	28 „

The excess of British shipping in 1845 being double the amount of 1824, and nearly four times as much as in 1814. But he had also a return of the tonnage of protected and unprotected shipping in the years 1826 and 1844, from which it appeared that there were, measured in tons—

	Protected.
In 1826	1,778,879	[illegible]
In 1844	3,012,133	4,4[illegible]

showing an excess of 1,233,254 tons, or 69 per cent., as respected protected shipping, but of no less than 2,578,976, or 135 per cent. as respected unprotected shipping, just double the amount of increase in the other class. These were facts which spoke for themselves. They were facts, he believed, which clearly proved that protection had not answered its purpose, and that there were better and surer modes of encouraging our marine than by systems of protection and prohibition. If our commercial marine was a nursery for our navy, what was the nursery of our commercial marine? The answer was evident, commerce itself. If they stifled commerce they stifled our commercial marine; the two must go hand in hand together, and must prosper by each other's prosperity. And that freedom of trade had been the best nourisher of our maritime navy, could be proved by several forcible illustrations. Let them take the case of the timber trade. In 1843 there were 841 ships employed in the timber trade with Canada; in 1845, the very first year after the reduction of the timber duties, the number of ships so employed was 2608. Take the China trade. Before that trade was opened, very few ships were employed in it. In 1835 the number was not 100; in 1843, it was 200. But he held in his hand a return before which these statistics sunk into comparative insignificance. It exhibited the state of our trade in the years immediately before and after the repeal of many of our worst protective imposts. He found by that return that the amount of tonnage entered inwards and outwards in this country was, in 1844, 4,352,821 tons, in 1846, 5,123,631, shewing an increase of no less than 2711 ships.

Mr. Hume seconded the motion, which was supported in short speeches from Lord John Russell, Mr. Labouchere, and Sir Robert Peel. Mr. Liddell, Lord George Bentick, Lord Sandon, Mr. D'Israeli, and other Protectionist members, opposed the granting of the committee; but were defeated by a majority of 94.

(From the Belfast Northern Whig.)

The Committee on the Labouring Poor Bill was preceded by a warm discussion upon the extent of suffering in Ireland, and the conduct of the Government and of the Irish people. There is still a disposition to complain, because the Government do not keep down prices and prevent deaths from starvation. Those people have much to answer for, who originated or encouraged the cruel delusion, that it is possible for Ministers to regulate prices and prevent misery. Government cannot increase the stock of food in the world by so much as one ear of corn; and, as Mr. Labouchere well observed, it would be as utterly impossible to keep prices in Ireland low, when there is a scarcity in other countries with which she is connected, as it would be to keep the level of the Irish Channel above that of the Atlantic.

To blame the Government for want of energy, is an outrage against notorious facts, and a gross violation of proper feeling. The wisdom of some of their measures may be fairly canvassed; but, surely, they have not been very reserved in the application of the means under their control. Mr. Labouchere rightly characterizes what has been done as "enormous:"—

"Gentlemen may suppose, that the exertions of the Government and the Legislature have not been most judiciously applied, under the circumstances; but, still, they must admit, that they have been applied on a most enormous scale—that we have not spared the power or finances of this country, in the attempt to cope with an unparalleled state of distress. I believe I may say, that more than six hundred thousand persons are at this moment employed and receiving Government money, under the Act of Parliament that passed at the end of last Session. This is an enormous effort, an effort we cannot make, without taxing the finances of this country, as well as the power of this country, most severely; but, under the circumstances, we thought we were justified in making that effort."

When, at this moment, the Government expenditure, for Irish relief, is going forward at a rate of about fourteen millions a-year,—for such is the fact—the effort is, indeed, vast, and such as perhaps only two or three other countries in the world could make; but, being such, it ill becomes any Irishman to utter complaints against the Government who so act, and the great and humane English people who not only sanction such a pressure upon their resources, but are contributing, with noble liberality, out of their private means, besides. That the mode of administering the relief has been very judicious, we dare not assert or admit; and if we were disposed to do so, a truly alarming statement, made by Mr. Labouchere, on the same evening, would imperatively forbid it:—

"I am anxious to call the attention of the Honourable Member for Mayo, and of the House, to a communication I have received, to-day, from the County of Mayo, which convinces me, that unless persons of influence, in Ireland, whether landholders, Clergymen, or belonging to any other class, interested in the preservation of property, exert their influence, to prevent the people from becoming the victims of delusion, the consequences will be alarming. I understand that in this wretched County of Mayo, an organized combination exists to discourage systematically the cultivation of the soil, the authors of which promise the poor people, that if they will but leave off cultivating the soil, the Government and this country would be obliged to maintain them. I call upon all the influential classes, in that country, whether landholders or Clergymen, to exert themselves, by every means in their power, to warn the unhappy people of the consequences of falling into this snare. The consequence would be, that the state of the country, next year, must be far worse than it is at present. The communication to which I referred states, that a great body of men, amounting to 200, went round, warning all persons not to attempt to till the land this year. Now, when gentlemen call upon the Government and the House to employ the most energetic efforts to enable us to meet this great calamity, I think we have a right to call upon all classes to use their utmost influence with the poorer classes, and to co-operate with the House and the Government, in warning them of the consequences."

Lord John Russell corroborates the statement of Mr. Labouchere, and even extends its application, upon the authority of Catholic Clergymen, from various parts of the country:—

"It is impossible to look forward to what may happen, next year, without very serious apprehensions; and, although I can hardly believe, that any efforts of the Parliament, of the Government, or of the people, should carry us, without very great suffering, through that transition which we must expect in Ireland, yet we ought not to watch its approach without taking those precautions, by the absence of which, the suffering may be very greatly aggravated. I am sorry to learn, from accounts which have been referred to, that there was not only neglect upon the part of the tenants, but almost a determination not to assist in the cultivation of the soil, the County of Mayo being marked by the prevalence of such a spirit. But I have heard, on the authority of Roman Catholic Priests, that the smaller tenants were saying, not only that they could not cultivate their land, but that they did not intend to do so, because they did not believe they would derive any benefit from the best harvest that might occur."

We are glad to say, that no such spirit has been manifested in this part of Ireland; but, that it has shewn itself even in one County (and, according to Lord John Russell, it has done so in more) is sufficiently alarming, and is a formidable commentary both upon the relations of society, and the policy of the efforts of Government, which are truly described as "enormous."

Stockings for the Royal Infants.—The Clare Journal says:—"We feel great pleasure in recording an instance of her Majesty's wish to encourage, by her patronage, the native manufactures of Ireland. Two girls, sisters, of the name of Davies, living in Corofin, in this County, having long enjoyed a well-deserved reputation for the taste and skill evinced by them in the knitting of stockings, were advised to present a pair of them to her Majesty, who was so pleased with the beauty of design and execution displayed in them, as to order four-and-twenty pair for the Royal infants."

A Title by Descent.—The celebrated Aboo Gosh, nicknamed, by Eothen and Titmarsh, "The Father of Lies," has been secretly done away with at Jerusalem. However, as long as Monsieur Guizot continues Prime Minister of France, there is no chance of the title becoming extinct.—Punch.

Stocks at Odessa.—According to a statement compiled by the Dutch Consul at Odessa, it appears that the shipments from that port in the month of December, comprising grain, wool, &c., were to the amount of 27,000,000 roubles banco, sent over in 1,382 ships. There were 150 vessels in port, early in January, but it would require 1,000 ships to bring away the produce already available, so large were the supplies from the interior in consequence of the fine weather.

Rowland Hill intends to make use of the electric telegraph for postal communication.

ASTONISHING EFFICACY OF HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.
THE TESTIMONY OF A CLERGYMAN VOUCHING TO ELEVEN CASES OF CURES BY THESE WONDERFUL PILLS.
Extract of a Letter from the Rev. George Prior, Curate of Mevagh, Letter Kenny, Carrigart, Ireland, 10th January, 1846.
TO PROFESSOR HOLLOWAY.
Sir,—I send you a crude list of some eleven cases, all cured by the use of your Pills, I cannot exactly give you a professional name to the various complaints, but this I know, some of them baffled the skill of Derry and this county. In a previous letter this gentleman states as follows:—Within a short distance of my house resides a small farmer, who for more than twenty years has been in a bad state of health; Mrs. Prior gave him a box of the Pills, which did him so much good that I heard him say, for twenty years past he never ate his food or enjoyed it so much as since taking your Pills.
(Signed) GEORGE PRIOR.
 The above reverend and pious gentleman purchased some pounds' worth of the Pills for the benefit of his poor parishioners.

EXTRAORDINARY CURES BY Holloway's Ointment.
CURE OF A DESPERATE CASE OF ERYSIPELAS.
Copy of a Letter from Mr. Joseph Gildon, Jun., a Farmer, East Kenal, near Spilsby, Lincolnshire, 8th April, 1846.
TO PROFESSOR HOLLOWAY.
Sir,—I have the gratification to announce to you a most wonderful cure, wrought upon myself, by the use of your Ointment and Pills. I had a severe attack of Erysipelas in my right foot, which extended along my ancle, and was attended with swelling and inflammation to an alarming degree, insomuch that I was unable to move without the use of crutches. I consulted a very eminent Physician, besides other Medical men, but to no purpose. At last I tried your Ointment and Pills, when, strange to say, in less than two weeks the swelling and inflammation gradually subsided to such a degree that I was enabled to pursue my daily avocation, to the utter surprise and amazement of those who were acquainted with my case, seeing that I was cured so quickly. I and my family are well known here, as my father holds his farm under the Rev. J. Spence, Rector of our Parish.
(Signed) JOSEPH GILDON.
Holloway's Ointment will cure any cases of Bad Legs, Ulcerous Sores, Bad Breasts, Sore Nipples, Cancers, Tumours, Swellings, Contracted or Stiff Joints, Gout, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Chapped Hands and Lips, Bunions, Soft Corns, Piles, the Bite of Moschettoes, Sand-flies, Chiego foot, Yaws, Coco-bay, and all Skin Diseases common to Europe, or to the East and West Indies, or other tropical climes.
☞ Sold by the Proprietor, 244, Strand, (near Temple Bar,) London; and by PETERS & TILLEY, Saint John, N. B.; James F. Gale, Fredericton; W. T. Baird, Woodstock; Alexander Lockhart, Quaco; James Beck, Bend of Petitcodiac; O. K. Sayre, Dorchester; John Bell, Shediac; John Lewis, Hillsborough; John Curry, Canning; and James G. White, Bellisle;—in pots and boxes, at 1s. 9d., 4s. 6d. and 7s. each. There is a very considerable saving in taking the larger sizes.
N. B.—Directions for the guidance of patients are affixed to each pot. July 11, 1846.

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA,
For the Removal and Permanent Cure of all Diseases arising from an Impure State of the Blood or Habit of the System, viz.:
Scrofula or King's Evil, Rheumatism, Obstinate Cutaneous Eruptions, Pimples or Pustules on the Face, Blotches, Biles, Chronic Sore Eyes, Ring Worm or Tetter, Scald Head, Enlargement and Pain of the Bones and Joints, Stubborn Ulcers, Syphilitic Symptoms, Sciatica or Lumbago, and Diseases arising from an injudicious use of Mercury, Ascites or Dropsy, Exposure or Imprudence in Life. Also, Chronic Constitutional Disorders.
THE value of this Preparation is now widely known, and every day the field of its usefulness is extending. It is approved and highly recommended by Physicians, and is admitted to be the most powerful and searching Preparation from the root that has ever been employed in medical practice.
It is highly concentrated for convenience and portability, containing nothing but the expressed essence, and is the representative of the Sarsaparilla Root, in the same manner as Quinine is of Peruvian Bark, or Morphine of Opium. It is an established fact, that a few grains of either Quinine or Morphine contains all the medicinal value of a large quantity of the crude substance; hence the superiority of these preparations—and no invalid would desire to drink a gallon mixture when a half-pint contained the same medicinal value.
The following certificate is only another link in the great chain of testimony to its merits:
South Bolton, Canada East, April 18, 1846.
Messrs. Sands—Gentlemen: Exposed as we are to the attacks of disease, and so frequently disappointed in supposed remedies, we cannot but look upon the efforts of successful practitioners with interest and gratitude. This is true respecting your valuable preparation of Sarsaparilla. I have been severely afflicted for 33 years with a disease about which "Doctors disagree," and their prescriptions were still more diverse.—I tried various remedies but found no relief until I commenced using your excellent medicine, at which time I was wholly confined to my bed.—After using it a few months, I am now able to walk about, ride out, and enjoy a comfortable degree of health, which I attribute entirely to the use of Sands' Sarsaparilla. Please accept my assurance of gratitude and regard.
JOHN M. NORRIS.
Being personally acquainted with the above statements, I hereby certify that they are true. REV. T. M. MERRIMAN.
Farther testimony from Vermont:
The following testimonial to the value of the Sarsaparilla, is from the Rev. Luther Wright, aged 76 years, Congregational minister residing at Woburn.
Woburn, Mass. March 30, 1846.
Messrs. Sands—Gentlemen,—From what I have experienced, and from the information I have recently received from a number of persons of high respectability who have used your Sarsaparilla, I have not the least doubt but it is a most valuable medicine, and the numerous certificates you have received of its efficacy are fully sustained by experience, and although its reputation and utility are very extensive, and stand in no need of my humble efforts to increase them, I want all who are afflicted by disease to become acquainted with the efficacy and power of your valuable medicine. I am, gentlemen, gratefully and very respectfully your's,
LUTHER WRIGHT.
For further particulars and conclusive evidence of its superior value and efficacy, see Pamphlets, which may be obtained of the Agents gratis.
