ASTONISHING EFFICACY OF

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

THE TESTIMONY OF A CLERGYMAN VOUCHING TO ELEVEN CASES OF CURES BY THESE WONDERFUL PILLS.

Extract of a Letter from the Rev. George Prior, Curate of Mevagh, Letter Kenny, Carrigart, Ireland, 10th January, 1846.

TO PROFESSOR HOLLOWAY.

SIR,—I send you a crude list of some eleven cases, all cured by the use of your Pills, I cannot exactly give you a professional name to the various complaints, but this I know, some of them baffled the skill of Derry and this County. In a previous letter this gentleman states as follows:—Within a short distance of my house resides a small farmer, who for more than twenty years has been in a bad state of health; Mrs. Prior gave him a box of the Pills, which did him so much good that I heard him say, for twenty years past he never ate his food or enjoyed it so much as since taking your Pills.

(Signed) GEORGE PRIOR.

 The above reverend and pious gentleman purchased some pounds' worth of the Pills for the benefit of his poor parishioners.

EXTRAORDINARY CURES BY

Holloway's Ointment.

CURE OF A DESPERATE CASE OF ERYSIPELIS.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Joseph Gildon, Jun., a Farmer, East Kenal, near Spilsby, Lincolnshire, 8th April, 1846.

TO PROFESSOR HOLLOWAY.

SIR,—I have the gratification to announce to you a most wonderful cure wrought upon myself, by the use of your Ointment and Pills. I had a severe attack of Erysipelis in my right foot, which extended along my ancle, and was attended with swelling and inflammation to an alarming degree, insomuch that I was unable to move without the use of crutches. I consulted a very eminent Physician, besides other Medical men, but to no purpose. At last I tried your Ointment and Pills, when, strange to say, in less than two weeks the swelling and inflammation gradually subsided to such a degree that I was enabled to pursue my daily avocation, to the utter surprise and amazement of those who were acquainted with my case, seeing that I was cured so quickly. I and my family are well known here, as my father holds his farm under the Rev. J. Spence, Rector of our Parish.

(Signed) JOSEPH GILDON.

Holloway's Ointment will cure any cases of Bad Legs, Ulcerous Sores, Bad Breasts, Sore Nipples, Cancers, Tumours, Swellings, Contracted or Stiff Joints, Gout, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Burns, Scalds, Chillblains, Chapped Hands and Lips, Bunions, Soft Corns, Piles, the Bite of Moschettoes, Sand-flies, Chiego foot, Yaws, Coco-bay, and all Skin Diseases common to Europe, or to the East and West Indies, or other Tropical climes.

☞ Sold by the Proprietor, 244, Strand, (near Temple Bar,) London; and by PETERS & TILLEY, Provincial Agents, No. 2, King street, Saint John, N. B.; James F. Gale, Fredericton; W. T. Baird, Woodstock; Alexander Lockhart, Quaco; James Beck, Bend of Petitcodiac; O. K. Sayre, Dorchester; John Bell, Shediac; John Lewis, Hillsborough; John Curry, Canning; and James G. White, Bellisle;—in pots and boxes, at 1s. 9d., 4s. 6d. and 7s. each. There is a very considerable saving in taking the larger sizes.

N. B.—Directions for the guidance of patients are affixed to each pot. July 11, 1846.

JAYNE'S CARMINATIVE BALSAM.

It is well known that regular physicians are shy of endorsing the virtues of any of that class of remedies commonly called "Patent Medicines," but so conspicuous have been the curative powers of this preparation, in its wonderful effects, that some of the first physicians in Pennsylvania, Maryland, and other States, have voluntarily come forward, and furnished Dr. Jayne with certificates of its sanative influence. It is now extensively prescribed in medical practice, as a remedy for cholera infantum, dysentery, cholic, dyspepsia, and and all diseases, proceeding from a disordered action of the stomach, liver, intestines, or nerves, whether in children, or persons of adult age. It acts directly upon the secretions, and purifies the blood, by purifying the elements of which it is composed.

JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT.—The virtues of this efficacious and cheap Medicine for the cure of Consumption and other diseases cannot be too well known. Very many lives have been saved by it.

JAYNE'S ALTERATIVE has been used in numerous cases of Skin Disease, such as Scrofula King's Evil, Salt Rheum, Blotches, &c. with the most marked success.

 Sold by Messrs. T. WALKER & SON, St. John.

ÆTNA INSURANCE COMPANY

Of Hartford, Connecticut.

THE subscriber, Agent for the above Insurance Company, continues to issue Policies and Renewal Receipts for Insurance on Dwelling Houses, Stores, Mills, Factories, Barns, Vessels and Cargoes while in Port, Vessels on the stocks, Household Furniture, Merchandise, and every other species of insurable personal property,—against at as low rates of premium as any similar institution in good standing.—Will give personal attendance to the survey of premises, &c. in the city and vicinity, on which insurance is desired, free of charge to the assured.—Applications in writing (post paid,) from all other parts of the Province, describing the situation of the property to be insured, will receive prompt attention; the correctness of which description shall on all occasions be binding on the part of the applicant.

Loss or Damage by Fire,

The ÆTNA INSURANCE COMPANY was incorporated in 1819,—Capital, $200,000, with liberty to increase the same to half a million of dollars. The Capital has been all paid in, and invested in the best securities, independently of which a Surplus Fund of more than $25,000, has been set apart to meet the occasional claims for Losses, and the stock bears a high premium. The reputation the Office has acquired for promptness and liberality in the adjustment of losses requires no additional pledge to entitle it to a liberal share of public patronage.

Capital, £1,000,000 Sterling.

AGENT, ALEX. BALLOCH, SAINT JOHN.

MEDICAL OFFICER, LEBARON BOTSFORD, ESQ., M. D.

STANDING COUNSEL AND SOLICITOR, None as yet required.

THE high estimation in which this Company is held in Great Britain is evinced by the great increase of its Business, and the hitherto unprecedented division of Profits granted the Assured, whilst the unprecedented numerous highly respectable Persons in this City already participating in its success, bear ample testimony to its merits.

This Company possesses nearly all the advantages of a mutual Insurance, without making the assured liable for Losses, and invites comparison with other similar institutions, without fear of suffering by it in the estimation of the Public.

"The very essence of Life Assurance consists in its converting a contingency into a certainty of enabling a man to accomplish in a few days, or even hours, an object which he may never have realized in any other way during a long life.—Whilst in health is the time to insure, not when, or after, accidents or sickness occur, rendering the risk then liable to be rejected altogether, or charged at an increased rate of Premium."

The Proposals are forwarded by Steam Packet to Board of Directors in London, and the acceptance or rejection of the Risk advised by return mail immediately following, thereby affording the greatest possible despatch.

LETTER IV.

The Influence of Ecclesiastical Display, continued.

MESSRS EDITORS.—I stated in my former letters that the Ecclesiastical Display in St. Anne's Chapel at Fredericton was calculated to prejudice the cause of Religion; and with all due deference to the experience of the Lord Bishop in these matters, I think I can easily establish the correctness of the assertion. Every reflecting man, who believes in the doctrines contained in the New Testament, must admit that we find no authority from the first to the last chapter in it for this display,—and if ecclesiastical ostentation is the offspring of extravagance to comport with the dignity of high sounding titles, the sooner the folly and its concomitant evils are exposed, the better for the cause with which it is so unfittingly associated. The precepts of the Christian Religion enjoin meekness and humility; and although the Palaces of Kings have been recognised by the Great Founder of Christianity, he has not mentioned the ornamented Cathedrals and Palaces of Bishops;—nor did the first Bishops of the Church luxuriate in their thousands and tens of thousands annually, while their working curates were "passing rich on forty pounds a year." Ecclesiastical pageantry does not lessen the devotion of unthinking multitudes to the "pomps and vanities" of the world—they pamper pride, and cultivate feelings, which Bishops, Priests and Deacons condemn in pulpits. The spirit and letter of the Christian Dispensation are against this display—the spirit and feelings of Anti-Puseyites are against it, and the testimony of men whose lives are records of their desires to receive and conform to the doctrines in the New Testament is against it. The glitter of showy candlesticks, and the dazzling glare of burning candles may illuminate the Chapel of St. Anne in the evening, but they will not enlighten the benighted mind; and the scenery of the building may produce a stage-effect upon the imagination of beholders, and attract congregations, but it will distract attention.

The extraordinary decorations of St. Anne's Chapel must have been either—1.—as a tribute of homage to the Almighty; or—2.—as an attraction for congregations. In reference to the first intention, I presume no Christian Bishop will adduce the gorgeous magnificence of Solomon's Temple, as an example for humble imitation, and therefore it will be unnecessary to explain the inapplicability of it. Nor have we any other scriptural authority for such structures. Scriptural inferences are decidedly opposed to them. We are taught to believe that "The Most High dwelleth not in temples made with hands; neither is he worshipped by men's hands, as though he needed any thing"—the heaven is his throne, and the earth is his footstool—"What house will ye build me, saith the Lord"—"Hath not my hands made all these things, ye stiffnecked, and uncircumcised in heart and ears"—But to this man will I look, even to him, that is poor and of a contrite spirit, and that trembleth at my word." The constructors of gaudy chapels cannot obtain sanction from these extracts for their demonstrations of mechanical godliness—nor did our Saviour by his example and precept, which should be conclusive upon this subject, direct the attention of his followers to the importance of ornamented chapels, rich and costly communion plate—and elevated and curiously-worked altars of carved wood, or hewn stone. Puseyites may enforce the necessity for such services and altars; but it is written in the chapter containing the Decalogue, "An altar of earth thou shalt make unto me"—"And if thou wilt make me an altar of stone, thou shalt not build it of hewn stone"—"Neither shalt thou go up by steps unto mine altar." We are further told in the Old Testament that "Thou shalt build the altar of the Lord thy God with whole stones"—"thou shalt not lift up any iron tool upon them." "For if thou lift up thy tool upon it, thou has polluted it." These quotations afford the most convincing proof that God requires the worship of the heart and not the decorations of an altar, and that he has expressly forbidden such things, lest man should arrogate aught for his own efforts and devotedness. If the references manifest the intention of the Almighty and his prohibition against human display and splendor, it follows that such things, being contrary to his commands, must be offensive to him, and consequently the unnecessary decorations of St. Anne's Chapel and its ornamented Altar, partaking of the character of the pollution denounced in Scripture, must be displeasing to God, and prejudicial to the cause of Religion. The prosperity of the Established Church of England will not be promoted by any increase of ceremonies and forms in it. Those, which already obtain in our Church, have induced many persons to secede from it, and therefore if they are multiplied, we may anticipa[te] a corresponding secession. But independently o[f] this objection, redundant ceremonies are calculate[d] to produce self-sufficiency and Pharasaism, a[s] many will give themselves credit for extraordinary attendance and ceremonial performances. Th[e] supporters of display in St. Anne's Chapel ma[y] assert, that the dignity of God's service is worth[y] of corresponding magnificence in the building[;] all will acknowledge the sublimity of the serv[ice] but the Holy Scriptures have defined the chara[cter] of that sublimity, which receives no augmentat[ion] from the handywork of man; and moreover it [must] be observed, that there is a distinction betwe[en] neat sufficiency and a gaudy superfluity: ext[rava]gant expenditure is condemned by examp[le] [and] precept in the Christian Dispensation, and as expensive decorations of the Bishop's Cha[pel are] not essentially requisite for the due perfo[rmance] of divine service, it follows as a consequen[ce that] a large sum of money has been misapplied [by his] Lordship's direction, which might have be[en] beneficially appropriated in other parts of the [Pro]vince for the advancement of the true inte[rests of] Religion in it. It is unnecessary to [dwell] upon the second supposition respecting t[he decora]tions of the Chapel for the purpose of att[racting] congregations, as the supposed intention an[d end] will not justify the means; no argument b[ased] upon such an intention can be sustained, and [the] error of it has already been exposed.

I most sincerely wish that the Bishop of [Frede]ricton could allay the increasing uneasine[ss re]specting the introduction of Puseyism into [the] Province by an unequivocal avowal of hi[s sentiments]. His official connexion with the [late] Bishop of Exeter created suspicions that h[e him]self was a Puseyite—the Miramichi corres[pondence] increased them, and the demonstrati[ons in St.] Anne's Chapel have confirmed them. [Circum]stances have destroyed all hope of [con]fidence: His Lordship's friends and a[dvocates] endeavour to reject the imputation, bu[t] [the] Images, and the Puseyite Altar Se[rvices in St.] Anne's Chapel will fasten it upon h[im]. [They] may appeal to the "RUBRIC," and [the] Church—the MOTHER Church—Fa[thers] [Dis]senters—Schismatics—and Disse[nters] these exclamations and railings are [a dis]charge of blank cartridges opposed t[o] of Protestantism directed against [the] graven Images. They may impugn [the] principles" of their opponents; but [their oppo]nents have yet to learn that the R[ubric is para]mount to the Bible—that a Pusey[ite] the Altar of God, and that Pusey[ites are] "His Chief Ministers." They [may say] that these opponents "are but [a few] of "a miserably divided peopl[e]" [they will] soon discover their mistake, an[d] "betraying Judases," within th[e] [illegible] chant the Rubrical correctness in antiphonical strains, and refer "COLERIDGE," and "TOY," of [illegible] for the successful working of the[ir] [op]ponents will direct them to "NE[W] for[t], for a concluding "Gloria Patri[" to] proclaim the superiority of their "C[onsci]ence," and their devoted attachment [to the Mo]ther who has nursed them in her [bosom] their opponents can exemplify that [illegible] the Puseyite disturbances through[out Bri]tain, and that devoted attachment [to the] affection of "WARD." The[y] may harp [upon] the worn out strings" of their adopted fa[ith,] "attune" their voices to its pleasing sou[nd,] may slur over the unwillingness of their "do violence to his conscience" by any of Puseyite Priests, and they may cr[y out] upon others, and accuse them of a d[isregard of] "truth and honesty," "the fear of God," respect of good men; but let them answer the following interrogatories, and then determine who should bear the "odium of mischief" done to the Church. I ask them, if Dr. Pusey officiated in the Chapel of St. Thomas, in Exeter, at the re[quest,] or with the consent of Dr. Medley, now Bishop of New-Brunswick?—I ask them if the then Prebendary Medley did adopt the use of the Surplice and frequent Offertories, and if he did discontinue them as stated in my former letter?—I ask them to reconcile his use of Images in the Chapel of St. Anne with the second commandment? I ask them to explain the necessity for the Puseyite peculiarities before the Altar?—I ask them if the schism in the Church of England is not referrible to the obnoxious introduction of Puseyite practices?—I ask them to publish the cause of Dr. Pusey's suspension?—I ask them if Puseyism in New-Brunswick would be less injurious to the interests of the Church, than Puseyism in Great Britain?—I ask them to obtain and publish the unreserved opinion of His Lordship, our Diocesan, respecting the principles, doctrines and tendency of the Oxford Tracts?—I ask them whether Episcopal vanity or godly zeal for the Poor predominated in the erection and gorgeous decorations of St. Anne's Chapel?—I ask them if Puseyism has not been characterised by Anti-Protestantism and by the departure of many of its disciples into the Church of Rome?—I ask them if the Laity of the Church have not cause to suspect that the Bishop is a Puseyite?—I ask them to shew Scriptural authority for the Images, Altar, and extravagant display in St. Anne's Chapel? When these questions are fairly and fully answered, and if the answers exonerate His Lordship from the suspicion and charge of Puseyism, I will most sincerely rejoice at it, and devote my humble abilities to correct any unfavourable impression, which my letters may have created. But if, on the contrary, I should still have reason to continue my present opinion, I shall endeavour to excite the attention of the Laity to the defence of Protestantism against Puseyite innovations and novelties.

The foregoing remarks and interrogatories were written before I had seen the communication of "A True Churchman," in your paper. This writer appears to be a very "High Churchman with extreme views." I think the unprejudiced reader will consider my last and present letters a sufficient refutation of his assertions; but I shall address him more particularly in my next.—If the "True Churchman" echoes the sentiments of His Lordship, he at the same time justifies the proceedings of those who are opposed to Puseyite principles—his defence shows the weakness of his cause, and exposes the Bishop and his Chapel to severer animadversion.

"AN ANTI-PUSEYITE CHURCHMAN."

MESSRS. EDITORS.—In my last communication, I hinted that at some future period I might again trespass upon your columns—the present may therefore be considered a proper time for again addressing you, as the shipping season is now commenced, and soon, I fondly anticipate, will our harbour be once more in all the hustle and excitement of commercial enterprize, attendant upon numerous arrivals, and also in proportion, doubtless, will our magisterial functionaries be called upon by sailors as usual, to adjudicate upon their various complaints and grievances. The old system of extorting fees from those who are best able to pay them, still continues, although every exertion has been made by some of our talented Representatives in the Provincial Legislature, to eradicate this crying evil, in maturing and carrying through the Legislature a Bill for the more proper and effectual means of trying such cases, yet, with shame be it spoken this salutary Bill was swamped at its third reading Our worthy functionaries, then, may now calculate upon another season for the display of their judicial talents, and their maladministration of justice and judgment, and doubtless they are already chuckling over the rich harvest of pounds, shillings and pence, which the ensuing summer will probably draw into their pockets.—There is one satisfaction, however, in all the gloom which surrounds us in this omi[n]ous state of things, that their triumph will be of short duration: another Session, I fondly opine will give a death-blow to their future prospects on this score, that is, if our members are only true to themselves, and to the interests of this community, the voice of public opinion must be heard, loud and deep, amidst the dust and cobwebs of our Legislative halls,—the sleeping energies of our Par[liament] [illegible]

[illegible] or [illegible] bear [illegible] fore [illegible] This m[illegible] not answer a [illegible] case at all events, there [illegible] tion on that head, as [illegible] without any control, to the [illegible] of their own will, to their [illegible] and a precious piece of wo[rk] Oh! had some of our worthy [illegible] few of their jackalls been [illegible] passengers, they would have ha[d] and occular demonstration of that [illegible] which they have so long been in the hab[it of sup]porting, by their maladministration of jus[tice and] fair dealing. I am not anxious that any [of these] gentlemen should receive any bodily injur[y, but I] should have no objection to their experie[ncing] some of the tender mercies of a class of [men] they seem so anxious to befriend at the ex[pense] of justice. I mention this circumstance [of] Columbia, because it corroborates so fully [the] statements made in my first communication, which some persons have intimated were too [se]vere and one-sided to be correct. I trust, howeve[r] that should such people possess one ounce of com[mon sense], they will yet be enabled to perceive the fallacy of such conclusions. My statements are facts, and such facts, too, as defy contradiction. For the further information of the doubting, however, I will give another fact:—A young m[an] who had sailed with me, as chief officer, for [a pe]riod of nearly three years, in voyages to the [Bra]zils and West Indies, (and a more quiet and [kind] hearted man never stepped on board a ship [or a] seaman, ever steady and attentive to his duty, [and] his duty he well knew, as he was, in every sen[se] of the word, a thorough-bred sailor,) parted w[ith] me to take command of a vessel in the Me[di]terranean trade; and some three years after, on [a] voyage from Newfoundland to Malaga, he w[as] brutally murdered by his crew, his body horribly dismembered, and his head nearly severed from his body, the very recollection of which is even n[ow] sickening to the heart. The vessel put into [Ma]laga, but through want of decision, or some in[for]mality in the proceedings of a half military judicial court, those murderous villains were [per]mitted to escape the just punishment due to an atrocious crime.—Other instances of the nature could be brought forward, to the sat[isfac]tion of any reasonable person, that those [asser]tions are, alas! too true; and further, but a [short] time has transpired since a ship left the [port of] Saint John, for Philadelphia—a mutiny wa[s insti]gated on board of her, by which all author[ity was] set at defiance, and consequently much [illegible] damage must necessarily have been sus[tained by] her owners. The ringleader had, no do[ubt,] so well schooled in the usages of our [illegible] Magisterial Courts, wherein all such [cases] have been permitted to escape scot-fre[e, which] had induced him to persevere in the us[ual course] under the impression that he could [do it with] impunity; unfortunately for him, howe[ver, he] counted without his host, and for the [sake] of this community, and as an example t[o others,] he should have received the full reward [his vil]lainy eminently entitled him to. Now the co[m]mander of this ship is well known in this City, as a man of high standing and honorable feelings, whose kindness and urbanity, in every relation of life, as a gentleman, a shipmaster, or a seaman, are entirely unquestionable, and consequently require no panegyric at my hands. But it is unnecessary, Messrs. Editors, to particularize instances of this nature, for they are legion,—time would fail, to record the numerous cases which are of continual recurrence, and it cannot be otherwise, unless some means are adopted, to prevent in future the baneful course which has been pursued in encouraging sailors, by ill-advised and unjust measures, and by such unreasonable and unwarrantable leniency as is particularly practiced in this City; and as unfortunately those erudite gentlemen still continue in office, and may have the supervision of sailors' cases, it is to be hoped that they will endeavour to retrace their steps, and by a more conscientious, and less selfish discharge of a great and public duty, earn for themselves, even at the eleventh hour, such a name, as will tend, in some degree, to banish the sad recollections of the past ere they be numbered with the clods of the valley, unhonoured and unregretted. A S[E]AMAN.
