MISCELLANEOUS EXTRACTS.

IMPORTANT FROM THE ARCTIC REGIONS. The North Star, which went out in May, 1849, with provisions for Sir John Franklin and the Arctic expedition, arrived at Spithead on Saturday. We wish that we could report any tidings of Sir John Franklin, but unhappily upon this important subject the North Star's log is an entire blank. She left the ice on the 9th of September, in 60 deg N. latitude, and 60 deg. W. longitude, rounded Cape Farewell on the 17th September, and came into Spithead by the Needles. On the 30th of August the North Star saw and spoke to the schooner Prince Albert, Commander Forsyth, in Possession Bay. On the 31st the North Star sent a boat to the Prince Albert, when Commander Forsyth, came on board and reported that he had also been to Port Neale, but had not been able to enter for the ice, and had found one of the American ships sent out to search for Sir John Franklin ashore in Barrow's Straits, that he had tendered assistance which had been declined by the American commander, as, his ship being uninjured, he believed his own crew competent to get her off. Commander Forsyth reported that Captain Austin had proceeded to Pond's-bay in the Intrepid, tender to the Assistance, to land letters. The North Star went on to Pond's bay, but could not find any indications of Captain Austin's having been there. It is conjectured that he had passed the appointed spot in a fog. The North Star's people suffered much from the intense cold, but has only lost five hands by her perilous trip.

ARRIVAL OF THE PRINCE ALBERT.—From the Aberdeen Journal of Wednesday. The Prince Albert, Commander Forsyth, arrived here between eight and nine o'clock last night (the crew all well,) and brings some important particulars, in addition to the intelligence brought by the North Star, and which are contained in the following statement, kindly furnished us by Mr Snow, second in command:—

Commander Forsyth did not call at Port Bowen, as has been stated in the accounts brought by Captain Saunders. He attempted twice to land at Port Leopold, but was prevented by the ice, over which the boats had to be dragged. When there, he met the American brigantine Advance, and, in company with her, went over to Cape Hurd and up Barrow's Straits. He then proceeded to Cape Spencer, at Wellington Channel. Here there was a great deal of ice. Bore up on the 25th August, when Mr. Snow found traces on Cape Reilly. Here he found the Advance, which was aground. Mr. Snow found traces on Cape Reilly of five or six tents, or encampments, which from certain peculiarities, he knew to be those of a vessel in her Majesty's service. He found that the Assistance, Capt. Ommanney, had been at Cape Reilley two days before and left notice to that effect. Mr. Snow states that the traces of the encampments of a vessel in her Majesty's service were very evident. The seamen who were despatched from the Assistance to examine these remains, found a rope with the Woolwich mark, evidently belonging to a vessel which had been fitted out at Woolwich, and which, in all probability, was either the Erebus or the Terror. Other indications were also found which showed that some vessels had visited the place besides the Assistance. Mr. Snow left a notice that the Prince Albert had called off Cape Reilley on the 24th of August. When Mr. Snow returned on board, the Prince Albert bore up for Cape York, on the eastern side of Prince Regent's Inlet. The ice extended completely across from land to land, and quite blocked up the passage down the Inlet. On reaching Cape York, Mr. Snow again went on shore and found a cairn of stones, but no traces of anything. He left two cases of pemmican. As it was perfectly obvious from the state of the ice that the object of the expedition—exploration of Prince Regent's Inlet and the passages connecting it with the western seas—could not be carried into effect, Commander Forsyth resolved to return to England, and the Prince Albert then bore up to the eastward. Commander Forsyth landed at Possession Bay in the morning of the 29th of August, but nothing was found there to repay the search instituted. On the 1st September, the Prince Albert got into Pond's Bay. Mr. Snow was again sent on shore to make an examination of four points of land there, but on none of them could any traces be found of the objects of the search. They came out of Pond's Bay on the 2nd of September. There was no ice to the eastward, nor on the whole passage homewards from Wellington Channel. or other must suffer. The Globe pronounces the right discharge of the claims of the two offices by one person, to be impossible. The following is an abstract of the duties devolving on the Recorder, as set forth in the report of a Committee that was appointed to consider the matter:—

"He is the chief adviser of the Court of Lord Mayor and Aldermen'—he is 'by custom and charter to record the customs of the city of London'—it is 'his duty to attend and advise the Mayor and Aldermen in the Court of Hustings, and the Mayor's Court, for equity as well as law'—he is by charter 'Justice of the Peace for the City of London, and one of the quorum'—he is 'also a Justice of the Peace for the borough of Southwark, and in that character attends to assist the Lord Mayor and the Aldermen above the chair, in holding the Sessions there.' And even this is not all; for, says the Report—

"He is also, by virtue of his office, one of the Judges of the Central criminal Court, and in which capacity he, by custom, charges the Grand Jury at the commencement of each Session, and assists in trying the prisoners during the twelve Sessions in each year."

"It is also part or the duty of the Recorder to attend the several Courts of Aldermen, and the Common Council, as well as Common Halls, announcing, on the days of election of such of the officers as are chosen by the Livery, the cause of their being summoned; and he also attends the presentation of all Addresses to the Sovereign from the Courts of Aldermen and Common Council."

"In addition to these Courts there are, in the course of the year, eight Courts of Conservancy, at four of which the Recorder charges the Grand Jury, and at the four other Courts the presentments of the Grand Jury are received. These Courts have power to summon petty Juries, and to try issues. The Recorder is also occasionally called upon to prepare for the Secretary of State for the Home Department, reports as to the cases of criminals tried before him, whose remission or mitigation of sentence is under consideration."

The London Morning Chronicle announces its intention of instituting an extensive enquiry, for the purpose of publishing, into the agricultural industry of the principal kingdoms and states in the old and new worlds, as also the various systems in practice connected with the cultivation of the soil, and the condition of those interested, either as proprietors, farmers, or labourers. The above will be published during the ensuing year, and will probably have a tendency to encourage emigration among the respectable class of farmers to this side of the water.

At a recent conflagration which took place at a paint and oil establishment in Leith, sand was successfully used in conjunction with water, for the purpose of putting a stop to the devouring element.

Some Belgian savans were engaged lately in making meteorological observations, on the heights of Belleville, Paris. Having raised to a certain height some kites furnished with pointed needles, they drew from the clouds, although the weather was perfectly serene at the time, flashes of electricity similar to those of lightning in a storm. Suddenly one of the gentlemen was struck by a flash, and thrown to the ground in a state of insensibility. He had neglected to hold by the glass handle, which served as a non conductor, and the fluid, descending by the cord, struck him. He was soon after restored to animation, but his right arm remained paralyzed, and he probably will never recover the use of it.

A singular discovery has been made in Madagascar. Fossil eggs of an enormous size have been found in the bed of a torrent. The shells are an eighth of an inch thick, and the circumference of the egg itself is 2 feet 8 inches lengthwise, and 2 feet 2 inches round the middle.

The experiments in progress for the cultivation of the Cotton plant in Jamaica, in Liberia, in Natal, (South Africa) and also for its extension in India, are discussed at great length in all commercial quarters, and seem likely to receive considerable encouragement. An increased production of flax in Ireland will also probably be one of the results of the present failure in the supply of the cheaper staple.

THIS preparation has now been before the public nearly twenty years. Its great intrinsic merits have steadily advanced the sale and use of it, and it now enjoys a prominent position in the public favour.
The unexampled success which has attended its administration in every case where the patient was really afflicted with Worms, and the fact, that it is not a 'nostrum' or 'cure all' but a specific for one disease only, certainly renders it worthy of the attention of Physicians; a great many of whom having seen in the course of their practice the good and remarkable effects resulting from its use, have had the magnanimity to surrender their professional scruples and prescribe it as the best remedy known.
Every Druggist or Physician who has had any curiosity to enquire into cases where the Vermifuge has been made use of, can furnish abundant evidence of its efficacy in expelling Worms, and the good effect produced on the general health of the patient.
It is mild in its operation, contains no calomel nor other dangerous ingredient, and can be given with perfect safety to the most delicate infant.

St. Andrews, Province of New-Brunswick, October 18th, 1845.

I, Michael Croney, aged 55 years, hereby certify, that for three years previous to May, 1844, I was afflicted with worms, so as to be completely prostrate in strength, and unable to labor, during which time I was constantly under the hands of a physician, with little effect; that, at the time mentioned, I was induced to try one bottle of B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge, which produced such extraordinary effects that I was at once relieved from all the pains and spasms I was before afflicted with, and in one week I was restored so as to be enabled to resume my labor; and up to the present time, have enjoyed uninterrupted good health. MICHAEL CRONEY.

TAPE WORMS,

And other worms in ADULTS, can be removed by the administration of
B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge.
The following are but a few of hundreds of those cases where it has effected a cure.

East Brooklyn, L. I. Feb. 10th, 1847.

This is to certify, that I took three vials of B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge, which had the effect to bring away fifteen yards of tape worm and a number of smaller worms. I would, therefore, recommend this medicine to the public as a safe and speedy cure for worms.
