BLAKE'S
Patent Fire Proof Paint.

THE subscribers have received per schooner "Columbine," from New-York, a further supply of this singular and valuable substance. In addition to the slate color, they have a beautiful chocolate or brown, resembling the sand stone now in use and so much admired for fronts of buildings.

Its principal ingredients are Silica, Alumina, and Prot. Oxide of Iron, which, in the opinion of scientific men, satisfactorily accounts for its fire-proof nature, the two former substances being non-conductors, and the latter acting as a cement to bind the whole together, and make an adhesive and durable Paint.

For use it is mixed with Linseed Oil, and applied with a brush the same as ordinary Paint to Wood, Iron, Tin, &c. It hardens gradually and becomes Fire Proof. It is particularly recommended for roofs of buildings, steam boat decks, fences, &c. A roof coated with this substance is equal to one of Slate, at a vast saving of expense.

Specimens may be seen at the Office of the subscribers. The price is 3d. per pound.

We annex two of many certificates sent us.
ALLISON & SPURR.
St. John, Sept. 29, 1849.

"This may certify that we have been acquainted with "Blake's Patent Fire Proof Paint" for some years, and are well assured that it is really what its name indicates—FIRE PROOF.—We consider it a better Fire Proof than Tin or Zinc, and will insure buildings well covered with it at a much lower premium than those covered with the above mentioned metals.

American Hotel, Broadway, N.Y., Oct. 4, 1848.
MR. BLAKE.—Dear Sir,—We last Spring covered the roof of the "American" with your Fire Proof Paint. We now find that it has become as hard as slate; and the almost constant tread of the servants, (who use the top of the house for drying clothes,) does not affect it in the least, and it proves all that it was recommended.

THIS preparation has now been before the public nearly twenty years. Its great intrinsic merits have steadily advanced the sale and use of it, and it now enjoys a promient position in the public favour.

The unexampled success which has attended its administration in every case where the patient was really afflicted with Worms, and the fact, that it is not a 'nostrum' or 'cure all' but a specific for one disease only, certainly renders it worthy of the attention of Physicians; a great many of whom having seen in the course of their practice the good and remarkable effects resulting from its use, have had the magnanimity to surrender their professional scruples and prescribe it as the best remedy known.

Every Druggist or Physician who has had any curiosity to enquire into cases where the Vermifuge has been made use of, can furnish abundant evidence of its efficacy in expelling Worms, and the good effect produced on the general health of the patient.

It is mild in its operation, contains no calomel nor other dangerous ingredient, and can be given with perfect safety to the most delicate infant.

The Proprietors have in their possession hundreds of Certificates of its good effects, which will be exhibited to any who wish to see them. The following are but a specimen of them.

CERTIFICATE OF THE MAYOR OF THE CITY OF LANCASTER, PA.
Lancaster City, July 3d, 1844.

Messrs. B. A. FAHNESTOCK & CO.

Gentlemen:—Several of the younger branches of my family labouring under symptoms indicating worms, induced the application of various remedies and I am happy to say that your Vermifuge had the desired effect of, in one instance, removing the almost incredible number of 151 of the large worms from one patient, which in addition to its other tested qualities in my family, establish the efficacy of your Vermifuge as a sure cure.
M. CARPENTER, Mayor, Lancaster City.

Washington, D. C. March 23d, 1846.

This is to certify, that I gave some of B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge, to a child of mine between three and four years old, and it passed 27 worms. I recommend it as a highly valuable medicine. D. HEPBURN.

GREAT-BRITAIN.

DEATH OF THE QUEEN DOWAGER.

On Sunday morning, December 7, at seven minutes before two o'clock, Her Majesty the Queen Dowager departed this life, at Stanmore Priory, to the great grief of her Majesty and all the Royal Family, after a painful and protracted illness, which she bore with exemplary patience. Her Majesty expired without any apparent suffering, and retained her composure of mind to the last.

Queen Adelaide was the daughter of one of the petty princes of Germany. Saxe-Meiningen is very nearly the smallest state in Europe, not half the size of an English county, with a metropolis consisting of five or six hundred houses. George, the late reigning Duke of that miniature sovereignty, espoused a daughter of the house of Hohenlohe-Langenburgh; their eldest daughter was the Princess who has resided amongst us more than thirty years, and the news of whose death will now be received with feelings of more than ordinary regret. The late Queen Dowager Amelia Adelaide Louisa Theresa Carolina was born on the 13th of August, 1792. In the year 1803, her father died, the Princess Adelaide being then only eleven years of age, while her brother and sister were both younger still.

To the great grief of this nation the Princess Charlotte of Wales and her infant child were, in the month of Nov. 1817, consigned to the tomb; the Regent was childless; and four of the royal dukes, Clarence, Kent, Cambridge and Gloucester—though all advanced in life—resolved forthwith to contract matrimonial alliances.—The late Duke of York being married and without issue, it was naturally considered that the descendants of the Duke of Clarence, if he should marry, would stand next in succession to the throne. His Royal Highness had for some-time been separated from Mrs. Jordan. At the special instance of Queen Charlotte he solicited the hand of the Princess Adelaide of Saxe-Meiningen; the young German Princess, in the 26th year of her age, quitted her fatherland to espouse an elderly gentleman of 53. On the 9th of July, 1818, the Princess was presented to Queen Charlotte, and on the 13th her marriage took place.

His Royal Highness soon came to the resolution of spending some time on the Continent, and, accompanied by the Duchess, he embarked at Dover in less than three weeks after his marriage, and proceeding by way of Calais travelled onwards to Hanover. After the lapse of a year, the Duke and Duchess returned to England, from that time forward residing chiefly at Bushy-park. However happy his union with the Princess Adelaide may have been, the hopes with which it was formed were, in one respect, disappointed: he had no heir, one child only, the Princess Elizabeth, having been born alive, and she was committed to the grave within a very few months after her birth. With the exception of two visits to Germany, one in the year 1822, and the other in 1825, it cannot be said that the life of the Duchess of Clarence was much varied.

Since her marriage twelve years had elapsed, and Her Royal Highness was still Duchess of Clarence; on the 26th June, 1830, she became Queen of England. Her position was changed, but the rectitude and gentleness of her character underwent no alteration. The amount of her duties and the sphere of her influence were vastly enlarged; a great income was placed at her disposal. From this period may be dated the commencement of the toil, the care, and the disappointments from which royalty never wholly escapes. She like her predecessors, soon practically understood how "uneasy lies the head that wears a crown;" but her Majesty and King William were not formally crowned for more than a year after their accession.—That ceremony took place on the 8th of September, 1831. It was observed that Her Majesty never appeared to greater advantage than at that memorable ceremony—never displayed more of the grace and dignity which usually marked her deportment, than in that venerable cathedral, where the potentates of England and their consorts have been invested with the outward and visible signs of regal power at the commencement of almost every reign since the foundation of the monarchy. It was some time before this great national ceremony and with scarcely any interval after the Queen had practically submitted to the "golden yoke of sovereignty," that her Majesty proceeded to form her household.

The discussion of such subjects now wou[ld] throw very little light upon the personal cha[rac]ter of that Princess whose benign presence [and] gentle sympathy will never again—as w[as her] wont—alleviate the sufferings of abject [poverty] or struggling merit. Still, [...] "Lady Bountiful" that the [...] character was favorably [...] kind parent or patroness, if it sho[uld be] pressed, to her husband's children[...]

Whitehall, Dec. 10, 1849.—The Queen has been pleased to command that the following directions, given by her late Majesty Queen Adelaide for her funeral, should be made public.

Her Majesty has desired that these directions, which are worthy of the exalted piety and unfeigned humility of the late Queen, should be, as far as possible, carried into effect, and for this purpose has been pleased to sanction a departure from the ceremonial usually observed in the funerals of the Kings and Queens of the realm.

THE QUEEN DOWAGER'S FUNERAL took place on Thursday the 13th. Three mourning coaches, a hearse nearly free from ornament, and a guard of honour to escort and clear the way for it, left the Priory at an early hour.—Leaving Uxbridge at a tolerable pace, the funeral passed with increased speed through Upton to Stoke and Slough, having been joined by several vehicles in the rear of the escort on its way.—Shortly before twelve the procession reached Slough, where it was met by the Queen's carriages, containing the Duke of Norfolk, [...], and
