Important Caution.—The health of many persons having been seriously injured by spurious compounds of pease, beans, and oatmeal, under close imitation of name, such as "Arabian Revalenta," "Ervalenta," "Lentil Powder," "Patent Flower of Lentils," and "Arabica Food," it will be necessary to note Messrs. Du Barry & Co.'s name on each canister, in order to avoid being imposed upon by heartless knavery. These imitations are harmless to rustic stomachs and young pigs, but too irritating, heating, and flatulent for persons of weak digestion.

THE BRITISH NORTH AMERICAN COLONIES.

The following notice of the products of these Colonies at the Great Exhibition at the Crystal Palace, appears in the London Morning Chronicle of the 1st October:—

CANADA.

The whole of the specimens of mineral and vegetable produce exhibited in the Canadian department have already been noticed by us upon former occasions. There remain, however, a few articles worthy of notice, to which, in order to complete our description of the display made by this important colony, we would now direct attention. One of the most attractive of the articles is the large canoe suspended in the centre of the court, made from the bark of the white birch. This canoe, last spring, made a voyage of upwards of 3,000 miles, with a crew of twenty men, and their stock of provisions, &c. From their extreme lightness, these vessels may be easily carried by the crew, when it is necessary to avoid the falls or rapids. The specimens of hunting and sporting implements are also curious and interesting.

Among the furniture shown, there is a set of six chairs very elaborately carved, and the coverings of which were worked by the ladies of Montreal, the chairs being intended as a present to her Majesty. The cheffoniers have the arms of the City of Montreal carved at their backs, and the bedstead of black walnut is the one which gained the prize at the recent exhibition at Montreal. There is a curious Indian dress, made of shreds of cloth and ribbon, sewn together with the ravellings of the materials. The dress, which, we are informed, is the costume of the daughter [illegible], of Potton, Eastern Canada, who is the daughter of Charlotte Mono-Nonce Kata-wabeday, the late hereditary chief of the Ojibbeways."

NOVA SCOTIA.

The central committee of Nova Scotia exhibit a fine collection of the specimens of the agricultural and other produce of the colony. Among them are some splendid samples of wheat grown by the Indians and farmers, weighing 64 lbs. 11 oz. to the bushel; also some excellent specimens of maple sugar. The collection [illegible] and some bacon. [illegible] those [illegible] the purpose [illegible] by Mr. C. D. Archibald, for [illegible] steel and [illegible] at greatly reduced [illegible] British empire, and include iron, cast and pig, grey, nettled, bar, but steel iron, horse-nails, steel, bars polished, and wires of various thicknesses. There are also several articles manufactured from the minerals, such as fenders, sword-blades, knives, scissors, edge tools, surgical instruments, magnetic electric machines, steam-engines, and a few interesting working models. The extent of the coal and iron stone formation in the island is very considerable, and the partial workings which have already been made go far to corroborate the opinion of Mr. Archibald, and afford valuable additional evidence, if such were required, that, under a proper system of management, the value of our colonies might be almost indefinitely increased.

The collection of furs is also an exceedingly valuable one, and includes the skins of the wild cat, red, black, silver, and white fox, American hare, marten, minx, racoon, wolf, weasel, squirrel, and musquash. The manufactured furs consist of sleigh robes, made of racoon and cat-skin. The textile and felted fabrics are represented by samples of French homespun, grey, green, striped, check, and plaid cloths, shawls, quilts, blankets, and hearth rugs. There is a curious down hat, muff, victorine, and cuffs, and an interesting collection of Indian work, including an Indian dress, cradle, chairs, seats, mats, cigar cases, and various other articles. A very neat piano, in bird's eye maple case, is also exhibited among the specimens of Nova-Scotia manufacture, as well as some good samples of soap and candles. Other products of Indian manufacture include fans, reticules, hoods, purses, mocassins, and baskets. The whole collection is an exceedingly interesting and instructive one, and reflects credit upon the central committee of the island, and upon the exertions of Mr. Archibald, who has, we believe, devoted himself for many years to the development of the resources of this colony.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

This island is represented but by one product —cod-liver oil, for the specimens of which we are indebted to Mr. Ewen Stabb, of Liverpool-street, London. The oils are from the manufactory of Mr. W. L. McKay, of St. John's, Newfoundland. The principal use of this article is for medicinal purposes in cases of consumption.

NEW-BRUNSWICK.

Mr. Gould, of Tavistock-square, is the exhibitor of some specimens of a highly bituminous coal, recently found in New-Brunswick, capable of producing gas of the greatest possible brilliancy, and in exceedingly large quantities. The coal is found on the banks of the river Petitcodiac, in Albert County; and from the circumstance of the beds being inclined at a sharp angle, it was at first considered to be merely a protruded mass of bitumen. An examination of the adjoining strata has, however, led to the opinion that they have been lifted from their original position to that which they now occupy, and analysis has shown that the product, although exceedingly volatile, is insoluble by any of the processes employed for dissolving asphaltum.

The Dowager Lady Grey exhibits a very curious canoe, with three figures representing Joseph Jamar, the Chief of the Melicite tribe of Indians, together with his squaw and her papoose, in their full costume. The articles were sent by two aged ladies—the Misses Close—who reside in the vicinity of the tribe. We also notice a figure-head of an Indian Chief, shown by Messrs. Gibbs, Bright & Co., of Liverpool.

Decision in the Great Methodist Property Case.—The Methodist property suit was decided by Judge Nelson, in the U. S. District Court, in New-York city, yesterday morning. The decision arrived at is, that the complainants are entitled to their share of the produce of the book concern, and a decree will be ordered accordingly. Whether the division will be pro rata, or by apportionment of capital, is left until the settlement of the decree.

The Oldest Inhabitant.—The first settler upon the ground where the City of Rochester now stands, the venerable Enos Stone, died in that city last week. He was born in Lenox, Massachusetts, in 1776, and emigrated to New-York in 1790, having been sent by his father to look after a land purchase.
