Compound Fluid Extract of SARSAPARILLA.

A NEW and the most valuable Extract yet introduced, which is put up in Quart bottles, is cheaper, more pleasant, and warranted superior to any sold. It is prepared from the best

Honduras Sarsaparilla Root,

combined with Yellow Dock and other valuable productions, which from their purifying effects on the Blood render it the best in the World, purifying and cleansing, giving tone and strength to the whole system.

Spring and Summer Medicine

This Extract is the result of numerous experiments, and the Proprietors feel confident that they have arrived at that perfection in preparing it to which no other manufacturer has yet attained. Every person has heard of Sarsaparilla. All have heard of its uses.—And many Physicians in this City are conscious of the fact that our Extract is far superior to those sold under the names of Townsend's, Sands', Bristol's, Brown's or Bull's Sarsaparilla, inasmuch as it contains other prime remedies besides those used by the above named parties, is STRONGER, contains nothing but Vegetable productions, and is prepared without boiling, which causes it to retain all the volatile and active properties.

ENCOURAGE HOME MANUFACTURE.

We pledge our reputation on the truth of what we here state, that we believe it better in every sense than any other Extract of Sarsaparilla ever introduced.

Scrofulous Diseases, Cutaneous Eruptions, Rheumatic Affections, Syphiletic Disorders, Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Lung and Bronchial Affections, all diseases arising from the injudicious use of Mercury, Impure state of the Blood or habit of the system, are some of the many diseases which are cured by the use of this Sarsaparilla.

Balm of a Thousand Flowers,
For the Toilet, the Nursery, for Bathing and many Medicinal purposes;

HIGHLY perfumed by its own ingredients: recommended by the Faculty of almost every European city, and established under the patronage of almost every Physician in London and Paris, and thousands of individuals, who make daily use of it in New-York, Philadelphia and Boston. It is the greatest luxury a lady or gentleman could wish for the improvement of health, for comfort and personal embellishment, and its delicate soothing sensation, and the delightful softness it imparts to the complexion.

We give a few of the prominent properties of the

already well established by actual experience.

FIRST:

This Balm remedies every defect of the complexion,

and establishes in its stead Beauty and Health, at the time when both, by the changes of age, or freaks of nature, or disease, have been obscured or undermined—it cleanses the skin, and draws to the surface all impurities, and every species of pimples and blotches; also removes tan, sunburns, sallowness and freckles, imparting to the skin its original purity, and an unsurpassed freshness, rendering it clear, smooth, and white.

SECOND:

It promotes the growth and increase of the Hair—causing it to curl in the most natural manner.

It cleanses the head from dandruff, giving vigor, health and life to the very roots of the hair.

THIRD:

It is a superior article for Shaving, being superior to all descriptions of Soaps, Creams, Pastes, &c.

As a Dentrifice for Cleansing the Teeth, it is by far the most medicinal of any compound yet discovered, preventing decay, relieving pain, ulcers and cankers, and renders the teeth white as alabaster. For bathing, for suffering infants, and for adults, to promote sweetness of body, cleanliness, health and strength, and to prevent eruptions, &c., there is no article more suitable than this Balm. It may be used in cold or warm, hard or soft water.

POETRY.

PRECEPTS.

THOMAS RANDOLPH, 1630.

First worship God: he that forgets to pray,
Bids not himself good-morrow nor good-day:
Let thy first labor be, to purge thy sin,
And serve Him first whence all things did begin.

Honor thy parents, to prolong thine end:
With them, though for a truth, do not contend;
Whoever makes his father's heart to bleed
Shall have a child that will avenge the deed.

Think that is just; 'tis not enough to do,
Unless thy very thoughts are upright too.

Defend the truth; for that who will not die,
A coward is, and gives himself the lie.

Take well, whate'er shall chance; though bad it be,
Take it for good, and 'twill be good to thee.

First think; and if thy thoughts approve thy will,
Then speak; and after that thou speak'st fulfil.

* * * *

So live with men, as if God's curious eye
Did everywhere into thine actions pry:
For never yet was sin so void of sense,
So fully faced with brazen impudence,
As that it durst before men's eyes commit
Their brutal lusts, lest they should witness it:
How dare they then offend when God shall see,
That must alone both judge and jury be?

Would'st thou live long? The only means are these,
'Bove Galen's diet, or Hippocrates';
Strive to live well; tread in the upright ways,
And rather count thy actions than thy days;
Then thou hast lived enough amongst us here;
For every day well spent I count a year.
Live well, and then, how soon soe'er thou die,
Thou art of age to claim eternity.
But he that outlives Nestor, and appears
To have passed the date of gray Methusalem's years,
If he his life to sloth and sin doth give,
I say he only was—he did not live.

MISCELLANEOUS SELECTIONS.

A Daring Runaway.—The Memphis Eagle of the 21st inst. gives the following account of an interview between a runaway slave and a planter in Fayette county, Tenn. It appears that Mr. Core, the planter alluded to, while riding in one of his fields, saw a stout, able bodied negro approaching him from the woods. Mr. Core awaited his approach, thinking he belonged to one of his neighbors, and had been sent upon some errand. He came boldly up to Mr. Core, and the following conversation ensued:

"Your name is Mr. Core. I am a runaway, and have long wished to have a conversation with you. I do not fear being apprehended. I am well armed (exhibiting to Mr. C. a splendid brace of pistols and a bowie-knife). But I have long wanted to see you. In the first place, I wish to pay you, as your negroes have been feeding me for several months, and I have plenty of money, (pulling out of his pocket as he spoke a large roll of bank notes), and I assure you I never murdered any man to get it. I got it by robbing houses in Memphis (naming many houses here, and exhibiting to Mr. C. a large bunch of false keys)."

Mr. Core, doubting the propriety of attempting to arrest him, as he was alone, concluded he would question him about two runaways who had been gone some time, and asked the negro if he knew them, and when he had seen them. The negro promptly replied that he did know them, and volunteered to assist Mr. C. in arresting them, and told him if he would meet him alone at the same place the next day, he would carry him where he could arrest both the negroes, as they had been very troublesome to him, and he wanted to get rid of them.

Mr. C. promised to meet him at the place and time appointed, but instead of going alone, he took with him his overseer and another young man, and secreted them, armed with double-barrelled guns, in the vicinity of the place of meeting. At the appointed time, the runaway made his appearance, but instead of finding Mr. C. alone, found the two gentlemen with their guns levelled upon him. He at once surrendered, and gave up his weapons, begged them not to tie him, as he wanted to be taken, and was tired of staying out, having been in the woods near five years; that he belonged to a gentleman in Alabama; and that he would still go with them and show them the two negroes, as he had promised. They concluded to trust him, and all four proceeded in company to an old, deserted cabin, hard by. Upon approaching the cabin, our hero informed his captors that the two negroes were in it—that there was but one door and no window—that if they would suffer him to approach the cabin first, as soon as he entered the door, they might close up, and thus capture them with his assistance.—They agreed to this plan, and he proceeded cautiously towards the cabin, and as he entered the door, beckoned to them to rush up. They did so, but lo and behold! they perceived a back window, through which their prisoner had jumped, and mounting the overseer's horse, made good his escape.

Four girls, about 18 years of age, were run over by a train of cars, at Reading Pa., on the 14th. They were walking on the track, when, seeing a train coming, they stepped upon the opposite track, not seeing that another engine was coming upon that also. All four were knocked down, two being instantly killed, and the others died next morning.

The house of Peter Moore took fire, at Wardsboro', Vt., on the night of the 8th inst. The fire was discovered by the neighbors, who broke open the doors and brought out Mrs. Moore and two children who were in bed with her, her husband having taken the alarm a moment before; but two children who were in bed in the chambers, were burned to death. The mother attempted to rush back into the house to save her burning children, but was held back, and became deranged.

Thomas Clark, a highly esteemed citizen of Defiance, Ohio, on the 26th ult., on his return home from the funeral of his wife's brother, having his three children in the buggy with him, was run into the canal by some means, one mile from town, and himself and all the children drowned.

A jury in Shenandoah County, Va., has rendered a verdict of $9000 against a stage company, in favour of a passenger whose leg was broken so as to make him a cripple for life, by the upsetting of one of the company's stages.—This is said to be the first case of the kind ever tried in Virginia.

A Pickpocket Killed.—A gentleman from the South while viewing the stock at the New York State Fair, at Utica, on Friday last, discovered that some one was cutting open his pocket, in which was the sum of $400. He waited until his pocket was cut open, and then drew a bowie knife and plunged it into the heart of the robber, killing him instantly, after which he gave himself up to the authorities.

The Right Kind of a Woman.—The Albany Knickerbocker says that considerable excitement was created in Broadway, recently, by a young woman who had been in search of her husband all the day, finding him seated on a dry goods box, "dead drunk." She took a whip from under her mantilla and applied it to his back very severely, and then ordered him home, remarking at the same time she would correct him of his misconduct. There's a wife for you as is a wife. The only regret is that her like were not more plenty in the land, and then the order of things would be changed, and instead of the "Maine" lick-her law we should have a "Maine" lick-him law. It is the duty of a wife, if it be in her power, when her husband neglects his family and lowers himself below the beasts, to elevate him, even if cowhide persuasion is necessary.

Fast—decidedly.—On Saturday morning there was no trace of a bridge over the one hundred and fifty feet span, on the Housatonic, thrown down on Wednesday. The Saturday evening express train was delayed ten minutes to spike on the last rails, when the cars with five hundred passed over in safety. This feat would not have been attempted in any other country.—New Haven Courier, 14th.

An Oriental King.—Captain Eggerton, in his winter tour in India, says:—"The king was about the most gorgeous, and yet nearly the most absurd individual I ever saw. All the effect of his magnificent robes and jewels was injured, not to say spoilt, by the ridiculous addition of a 42d Highlander's bonnet and plumes, which he wore with an air as if he really thought he had 'done it now.' Besides the usual bl feathers, was added a bird of paradise plume being supre on one side of it, the whole effect with his yello ridiculous. In other respects, mantle powdered gold dress, and blue velvet splendid jewelled with gold fleurs-de-lis, his dered slippers, he ins, and his gold embroi- up' individual I ever the most gorgeously 'got three or four in numbe. The chains he wore, the collars of different orders were something like one mass of pearls or other of knighthood, but sides these, he had strings of ous stones. Besize hanging about his elbows, an s of immense ing close behind him on each side dant walk- for fear they should break off. In them, stood, I should think he would have been as he at £100,000." heap

Government Railway Scheme.—Amid the absolute lull that has taken place in political affairs in our city, we were somewhat suddenly apprised last week of the intention, on the part of the Executive Government of Nova Scotia, to carry into effect a scheme for the building of Provincial Railways, the particulars and terms of which are stated in the minute of Council, before published. That it is the bounden duty of the Provincial administration, in the present juncture, to adopt some vigorous measure for constructing Railways in Nova-Scotia, cannot admit of a doubt; but that the scheme just propounded is such as might have been expected, or one with which the people of this country will be satisfied, is, we confess, very questionable. We do not pretend to say what particular circumstances may have actuated the Government in giving publicity to their scheme at the present moment, especially as no part of the work is contemplated to be undertaken until 1853, but we must express our dissatisfaction with the project, as one that is calculated to be of little practical value to the people at large. Nova-Scotia is not now prepared to construct 300 miles of Railway, upon her own account, and within her own borders. There is nothing to justify the expenditure of so large an amount of money as will be necessary for such an undertaking. And if this Province be determined upon constructing Railways out of funds in the Provincial Treasury, or upon the faith of the Government, the money should be expended upon some line likely to prove immediately remunerative, and which at the same time would constitute a portion of the Main Trunk of any intercolonial line to be hereafter built.—Had the time been limited to five, instead of ten years, and were the operations to be confined to a line running from Halifax through the Eastern Counties to the border of New-Brunswick, the scheme would, in our opinion, have been less open to objection. Thirty miles of Railway in this country can be of no possible immediate benefit, except in the expenditure of the cost of construction, whereas 60 miles, connecting Truro and Halifax, would in all likelihood prove an early paying line. We look upon the Government project as materially deficient in those elements which constitute an undertaking of that nature at once feasible and remunerative; and, besides, it embraces by far too long a period of years to expect from it any immediate return to the people at large. Such, however, is only our opinion, and we leave others to draw their own conclusions in respect to the scheme propounded.—Halifax Presbyterian Witness.

Important Intelligence from Peru.—The Lobos Islands Fortified, and Garrisoned by Land and Sea.—Immediately on receipt of despatches at Lima, 31st July, sent by the Peruvian Minister at Washington, the council of state clothed the Executive with extraordinary powers. One steamer and two ships-of-war were sent to the Lobos Islands, and three more were to be sent immediately after. Gen. Deslua was at the Island with a force of 300 men.

The English steamer Lima, that left on the 11th of August, landed 515 men, well officered, at Payta, on the 14th. They would leave the next day in the steamer Bimae, for Lobos Island. Orders had been given to station 2000 men at Lambayeque — (opposite Lobos Islands.) The Lobos Islands would be strongly fortified, everything being prepared for so doing.

Joaquin J. de Osma, brother of the present Peruvian Minister, has arrived, Minister Plenipotentiary Extraordinary, to treat upon the Lobos question.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

Important from Nicaragua—City of Leon taken by Munoz, with a French and American Force.—Intelligence from San Juan Del Norte, to the 1st of September, is to the following effect:

On the evening of the 19th, the Prefect of Granada was aroused from his bed by an express from Leon, stating that Munoz, with a large number of French and Americans, had taken this city, and were marching upon Managua, the seat of government. The Prefect immediately despatched one hundred and fifty men, and four pieces of artillery, for the protection of Managua. On the 22d, Munez was at Realego. Leon being in his hands, great excitement prevails; the Government impressing every stray citizen into the ranks of the army.

The movements of a certain mysterious French Marquis, who displayed unbounded wealth, and seemed possessed of universal knowledge, in Granada, taken together with certain confidential disclosures made to a lady, leads many to suppose that the French Government are connected with this appearance of Monoz, for the Le Brillate is at Realego, and this Marquis has exhibited a letter from the French admiral, on the Pacific, stating that six or seven ships would be sent down immediately.

The Earthquake at Santiago.—The New-Orleans Picayune, of the 5th inst., contains further particulars of the great earthquake which occurred at Santiago on the 20th ult. There were in all five distinct shocks, and many of the churches were so much injured, that it was found necessary to close them. Temporary altars were erected in the streets, before which the affrighted population continually prostrated themselves. Several shocks were also felt at Saltaldoro, though with less damage than at Santiago, which city is almost entirely destroyed. The severest shock occurred about half-past three in the morning, and with the intense darkness which prevailed, added to the horrors of the scene. The crowds of women and children, who ran frantic through the streets, was heart-rending to behold. It is estimated that at least twenty lives were lost, and property to the amount of nearly $2,000,000 destroyed.

An Earthquake at Sea.—The following is an extract from the log of the Tropic, arrived in the Downs: "On the 17th of July, at 7.20 a.m., being then 70' west from Jamaica, a severe shock of an earthquake, continuing nearly two minutes, the water being quite smooth, and wind very light, ship going 2½ miles per hour, and steering W. by N., when the shock commenced on port quarter, and, progressing forward, ended on the starboard bow; the ship had then lost her way, and the watch below now ran out of the forecastle, declaring the iron tanks (each containing 400 gallons of water) were dancing in the 'tween decks. While the horrid rumbling noise continued going along under the bottom, the sensation on deck was that of a ship tearing over rocks at a violent rate; in a few minutes the ship was quietly gliding through the water at three miles per hour."

New Invention.—A Mr. Clark, an Englishman, has invented a new life boat, which has been successfully tested at London. It is built of sheet cork about half an inch in thickness, and strengthened with alternate layers of canvas, thin wood and cork, fastened together with marine glue, and formed so as to right itself when overset. The framework of the boat is strong, and so far elastic that it cannot be staved. The inventor's object is to have every ship's boat made in this fashion.

Chinese Thieves.—The expertness of thieves in China is well known; but occasionally they give the outside barbarians some touches of their quality, more astonishing than agreeable. The ship Reliance, of Boston, while lying in the river at Whampoa, had sixty-eight sheets of copper stolen from her bottom below the water line, at such a distance that the theft would not be easily noticed.

"Had you, sir," said Erskine to a dilatory tradesman, "been employed to build the ark, we should not have had the flood yet."
