GOVERNMENT EMIGRATION OFFICE, }
St. John, 21st April, 1853. }

THE copy of a Despach to His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, from His Grace the Duke of Newcastle, Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, has this day been received, announcing that the proposed Emigration of Children from England to this Province, will not take place. The following is the concluding paragraph of the Despatch, which is dated Downing Street, 29th March, 1853, "Considering, therefore, the difficulties and dangers of executing the plan, and seeing that, after all, there is no prospect that it could be carried to any such extent as to be of importance to the interests of the Province, I do not think that it ought to be prosecuted further."

Select School for Young Ladies,

Conducted by Miss THOMSON,

Assisted by her Father, Elder THOMSON, M. A.,

IN the large Brick House, lately occupied by the Mayor, facing the sea, St. John, N. B.—The House is well adapted for a School, containing some of the largest rooms in the City, and being replete with convenience of every character.

Miss THOMSON being assisted by her Father in the higher branches of Study, and by her Mother in the domestic arrangements, hopes to render her School, in every respect, one of the first order.

In the government and discipline of the School, due regard is had to the health, happiness and improvement of the pupils; and while every reasonable indulgence is granted, the great objects of Education are kept constantly in view, viz.:—the full development and proper training of all the physical, intellectual and moral energies, and the formation of habits of industry, punctuality, good order and strict economy in the use of time.

Entrance and removal are unfettered by the usual conditions; and the month commences from the day a pupil enters.

A synopsis, with terms, &c., will be forwarded on application. St. John, N. B., April 9, 1853.

India Rubber Belting, Packing, and Hose.

THE experience of the Boston Belting Company in the manufacture of Vulcanized India Rubber Goods has gained for them the confidence of consumers. This, together with the fact that great improvements have been made in the quality, warrants the Manufacturers in asserting it to be superior to leather or anything else for all Open Belts, (more especially for heavy or main Belts,) for the following reasons:—

1st.—The perfect equality and width of thickness which it will retain.

2d.—No danger of heat under 300 degrees Fahrenheit, and it remains flexible in any degree of cold.

3d.—Its great strength and durability does not stop on the pullies, consequently a gain of power is obtained.

As a proof of its superiority over all other manufacturers of these goods, we quote the following extract from the London correspondent to the Boston Post:—

"London, January 7th, 1853.

"The fabrics of your Boston Belting Company, two years ago unknown in England, and at first introduction looked upon with disfavour, are now as eagerly sought after as if they had had the reputation of a century's use. The capital of some of the largest manufacturers in Great Britain has been employed for years in perfecting India rubber goods, and yet neither in the variety of purposes to which the article is appropriated, nor in the excellence of the manufacture, can the English-made goods compare with those from Boston. In the large establishments for building marine steam engines—in all ocean steamers—in the manufactories [illegible] Boston Belting Company [illegible] superior to anything of the [illegible] land or the world [illegible]."

THE COLONIAL Life Assurance Company.

GOVERNOR,
The Right Hon. The EARL OF ELGIN and KINCARDINE, Governor General of Canada.

Head Office—22, St. Andrew Square, Edinburgh

BOARD OF DIRECTORS AT ST. JOHN, N. B.:
The Hon. JOHN ROBERTSON, Merchant,
CHARLES WARD, Esquire, Merchant,
WILLIAM H. STREET, Esquire, Merchant,
JOHN WISHART, Esquire, Merchant,
JOHN DUNCAN, Esquire, Merchant.

THE COLONIAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY has been established for the purpose of affording to the Colonies of Great Britain the advantages of Life Assurance, and its regulations have been so framed, as to attain that object in the most efficient manner under the most liberal conditions. The progress of the business has been attended with complete success.

From the wide basis of its constitution, and the extent of its resources, the Company affords advantages which no local institution can confer; and it has good ground for asking public preference and support over other British offices doing business in the Colonies, not only with reference to the facilities which it affords, by receiving premiums and paying claims in any British Colony where its Policy Holders may reside, but on the ground that, in seeking business out of Great Britain, it does so not as an after thought, its Colonial arrangements not being mere extension of or addition to a home business, but as part of its original scheme and intention.

The Profits of the Company for the period from 1849 to 1854, fall to be divided at 25th May, 1854, and parties who assure during the present year will participate.

☞ Every information as to the Company, its terms and conditions of Assurance, can be had on application to

DUNCAN ROBERTSON,
Secretary to the Local Board in St. John, N. B.

A. BALLOCH, AGENT.
St. John, N. B. July 21st, 1841.

Minerva Life Assurance Company, CANNON STREET WEST.

London, 1st March, 1853.

THE Court of Directors have much pleasure in reporting the onward progress of this Company. During the year 1852, the New Policies issued were 324, assuring the sum of £182,057 18s., being the largest amount of new business transacted in any one year.

The Income of the year was £53,819 5s. 5d.; and the funds in hand, after providing for payment of bonuses to the policy holders and proprietors, and reduction of premiums allowed, had increased to £248,979 16s. 7d.

Meanwhile, it is satisfactory to know that the expenses of management for the year did not amount to seven per cent. of the income. The number of policies issued, and the income of the Company during the respective years, were as follows:—

Year.	No. of Policies actually issued.	Sums assured thereby.			Ann. Income.
1847 - - -	113	102,247	0	4	29,720	12	7
1848 - - -	125	116,045	2	6	35,214	4	7
1849 - - -	272	149,861	2	6	39,011	1	4
1850 - - -	301	156,370	13	0	42,207	5	8
1851 - - -	342	170,578	7	0	47,721	2	6
To. in 5 yrs.	1153	695,102	5	4	193,874	6	8

Thus exhibiting a steady and gradual increase.

The following table illustrates the Bonuses declared:—

		Average reduction of Premium.	Average Reversionary Bonus.
1st Division	—1842 - -	16·833 per cent.	31 per cent.
2d ,,	1847 - -	31·333 ,,	53¼
3d ,,	1852 - -	35·22 ,,	60

It cannot be too generally known that the dividends paid annually to the proprietors are derived entirely from the investment of their own capital, the deed of settlement forbidding any portion of the income of the Life Assurance Fund to be diverted to pay interest to the proprietors.

The distinguishing feature of this Company is—a guaranteed return at any time for the surrender of existing Whole Term Policies, effected by even rates, of forty per cent. of the amount of ordinary premiums received thereon.

The objection often raised by persons intending to assure as to the uncertainty of being able to continue the payment of their premiums, is thus obviated, and a policy holder will always know the value of his policy. Policies will also thus be rendered immediately available as securities.

Loans are granted on deposit of policies of five years' standing, to the extent of their value, thus enabling the holders to provide for the payment of future premiums.

HOUSE OF LORDS, APRIL 21.

THE COLONIAL (AMERICAN) FISHERIES.

The Earl of Malmesbury inquired whether Her Majesty's Ministers were prepared to continue to British Fisheries the protection granted to them by the late Government?

The Earl of Clarendon said he had to inform the noble Earl that Her Majesty's Minister at Washington, in conformity with the instructions he had received from his noble friend (Lord J. Russell), and in pursuance of the desire expressed by the President of the United States, had entered into negotiations at Washington for the purpose of making arrangements for placing on a better state the commercial relations between this country and the United States. Mr. Crampton had received the most cordial assurances from the President of the United States, and from the Secretary of State, of agreement in the order which had been taken by Her Majesty's Government, and their belief that a convention might be concluded on satisfactory terms; and, at their request, Mr. Crampton had prepared the project of a convention, on which some difficulties had arisen, and some objections had been made, but in the most friendly spirit. When the President, however, in his annual Message, declared that, in his opinion, the two subjects of fishing and reciprocity trade had better be embodied in two separate conventions, Mr. Crampton declared to him that he thought such a course would be objected to by Her Majesty's Government; and his project was sent home, and agreed to, with some unimportant modifications by the noble Lord, who sent it back to Mr. Crampton, with an earnest desire that the convention might be concluded, as a proof that the two Governments were determined to carry on their respective relations in a spirit of justice and amity. It was received by Mr. Everett in the same spirit; but some fresh objections and some difficulties that had not been foreseen arose, which required a further reference to the British Government, and then it became manifestly impossible to carry the matter further with any hope of a successful issue during the short time the late Government of the United States had to remain in office. The question might be considered as still under negotiation, and therefore he was sure the noble Earl would be the last to ask him to make any more detailed statement. (Hear, hear.) The noble Earl needed no assurance from him that the zeal and ability and good judgment which characterised all Mr. Crampton's proceedings would lead him to omit no opportunity of pressing this subject on the attention of the United States Government, and bringing the question to a conclusion alike honourable and advantageous to both countries. (Hear, hear.) With regard to the noble Earl's other question as to the protection to be afforded to the Colonial fishermen, he had to inform him, that precisely the same instructions as those of last year had been already issued by Government. They appeared to him framed with great care and caution, and no alteration had been made. The noble Earl would also have the satisfaction of knowing that the same gallant officer to whom they had been addressed last year was charged with the duty of carrying those orders out this year, and he was sure he would evince the same caution and respect for the rights of others. He need hardly say he entirely concurred in the praises of his noble friend, and, perhaps, what was of more consequence to the gallant Admiral, they were also concurred in by his Right Honorable friend the First Lord of the Admiralty, who, some time ago, had sent a letter to Sir George Seymour, thanking him for his important services [illegible] their present state. At the same time, he might be permitted to call his attention to the fact that the interests of Canada, New-Brunswick and Nova-Scotia were not identical, the latter being peculiarly interested in the inshore fishing. He considered that the people of Nova-Scotia were peculiarly interested in any arrangement that might be effected, and he trusted that attention would be paid to their particular position; and he had further to express a hope that whatever arrangement should be agreed upon would be one that would be satisfactory to all parties. (Hear, hear.)

From the London Times, April 13.

It was announced to-day that the arrangements which have been long pending for the formation of a general system of railways for Canada by a continuous main line that shall connect and incorporate the lines already in existence or in progress have been completed.—The new Company is to be called the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Upper Canada, and its aggregate capital is fixed at £9,500,000, of which £3,623,000 is now to be raised in England, in shares and guaranteed debentures.—Of the remainder, the sum of £1,416,400 has been already raised in Canada, 837,600 is still to be allotted there, and 3,623,000 is to be taken by the contractors, with the stipulation that they shall reserve two-thirds of that amount to offer them to present subscribers at par on the 1st July, 1854, twelve months after the anticipated opening of an important section of the line.—The shares are to be for £25 each, and the debentures will be issued pro rata. These debentures are divided into two classes, one class being simply debentures of the company, payable in 25 years, with half-yearly interest at 6 per cent., and the option of converting them into shares any time before 1863; and the other being virtually the bonds of the Provincial Government, payable in 20 years, and bearing interest at 6 per cent. They will both be in amounts of £100 each, and thus every subscriber of £200 in shares will also take £100 of the railway and £100 of the Government debentures. The entire length of the line will be 1,112 miles, and it will extend from Trois Pistolles, the shipping port of Canada in summer, through Quebec, Montreal and Toronto to Sarnia, on Lake Huron, including likewise the St. Lawrence and Atlantic Railway, the American portion of which will be leased, and by which the whole route will be opened up to the port of Portland in the State of Maine. Accompanying the prospectus is a copy of the recent despatch from Lord Elgin to the Colonial-office, a short abstract of which was given in The Times of the 24th February, showing the extraordinary progress made by Canada during the last 10 years, and consequently the favourable prospects of a cheaply constructed national railway, secured against all competition and supported by the Government, passing through the richest lands of the province, and embracing all the produce and passenger traffic from the far west to the Atlantic. The directors, in London, are Messrs. Baring, Glyn, Blake, M'Calmont, Kirkman Hodgson, and Alderman Thompson, and in Canada the Board comprises some of the principal members of the Government.

A Parliamentary return just issued, shows that the salaries of persons employed in the British diplomatic service, amount to £117,955 sterling per annum, with an allowance for house rent of £9900. There is besides £7679 sterling for diplomatic duties in Persia.

After the allegations recently advanced respecting "Bombay Briberies," few readers will be at any loss to appreciate the intelligence now reported, that two of the Judges in that Presidency have been dismissed by Lord FALKLAND from their appointments in the Sudder Court. They were accused, we believe, of having effected, previously to presiding at a certain trial, a fictitious transfer of debts, due from themselves, to the appellant in the case, and of having then given judgment in his favour. That the facts were brought home to them may be inferred from the result now announced, and little difficulty will be experienced in conceiving the scandal of the occurrence, which has superseded even the agitation about Baroda. On the present occasion Lord FALKLAND appears to have acted with promptitude and decision.—London Times.

(From the Head Quarters, May 4.)

After a sitting of sixty-eight days, the third regular session of our Reformed Assembly closed yesterday. For sixty-seven of these days we have breathed the pestilent air of the Reporters' gallery, jotting down in the rough the sayings and doings of members, and making employment for long and wearisome evenings in doing their speeches into Queen's English. For this service we have had the honor to receive, and the House has had the grace to bestow, "what Paddy shot at," and we are not disposed to express either complaint or surprise at this result. We know the office of a faithful Reporter is not and cannot be agreeable to the majority of such a body as now sits on the floor of our Assembly. We know it must be unpleasant to feel that the eye of a watchful, intelligent, and impartial man looks down upon them, and that his pen is quick to trace as his eye to perceive many things which they had far rather could be done secretly. By their own confession in open court, (as will be seen when we come to publish the sayings of yesterday,) the present House is not only the most reckless and extravagant, but the most dishonest that ever *mis*represented the honest people of New-Brunswick. It came in with a noisy shout of reduction and retrenchment in public expences, with large and hollow promises of reform—and where is the fulfilment? What of reduction, what of retrenchment, what of reform is to be credited to its legislation? It led off with a great outcry against contingency enormities, and in what has it ended?—Why, in this—at its first session it proposed to limit members to one dollar and a half a session, for stationery, and resolved, after debate, to limit this expence to twenty shillings; now in the third session of the self same House the contingency account covers in what it calls stationery, an amount which equals thirteen pounds fifteen shillings for every member, and the revelations of yesterday prove that gold pencil cases, portmonaies, portfolios, and even gold rings, are cloaked under this convenient term of stationery. Think of this, and of six pounds of sealing wax for one pack of one legislative pedlar, you good men and true, who hold the franchise in this good Province, and bless your stars that you do not live in a country where dishonesty exists in high places
