The Rev. Dr. William Harrison, preached in the Reformed Baptist church, in Moncton, yesterday, both morning and evening. The reverend gentleman is hale and hearty, ready with his oratory, as with his pen. He came from England over fifty years ago, and was considered one of the older men of the party of twelve, but he is still busy, which is the reason for his preservation of youth and vigor. Miss Alice Harrison, B. A., of the Maritime Religious Education staff, who is a frequent visitor to the city, is his only daughter, a fine musician and clever advocate of the workings of the children's work in the department over which she has charge.

To Meet Jack

Marilynn Miller as she looked when she stopped at Chicago to greet friends while on the way to Hollywood to marry Jack Pickford.

"AS ONE OF THESE"

The room was white, a ghastly white,
The Surgeon wore his gloves and gown,
The Nurses made the lancets bright
And laid the gauze and dressings down.
Upon the cruel slab—yet kind—
A little blue-eyed lassie lay.
The Surgeon held her slender hand
And thought of other maids—at play.

"My dear," he said, "this little screen
Upon your lips and nostrils lies,
Strange odors, passing, sweet, will come,
Breathe deeply, child, and close your eyes.
So shall you sleep as in your cot.
And soon we'll mend your little feet.
And when the springtime comes, you'll play
Like your companions on the street."

"And shall I really sleep?" She smiled.
The heartsore Father took her hand.
"Yes, honey." The assurance sweet
None but a child will understand.
"I must get up," she softly said,
So, in her spotless, flowing gown,
She knelt beside the instruments
And whispered, "Now I lay me down."

—"To sleep?" The Father's heart was wrung,
"If I should die before I wake—"
And even Science learned to weep.
So, radiant from her knees she rose,
Upon her brow a Heavenly light.
She kissed her Father's bloodless lips
And, smiling soft, she said—"Good night!"

ANNIVERSARY OF THEIR WEDDING

Saturday was a red letter day in the life of Mr. and Mrs. George Murphy, Rockland road, marking as it did, the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day, which event took place on July 29, 1872, at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Father Michaud.

Saturday morning at 8.15 a high mass was celebrated at Holy Trinity church, by Rev. Simon Oram, a relative of the family, after which a family re-union was held at the home. One of the gifts received was a special picture from Rome, with the signature and seal of the Pope.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will be at home to their friends tomorrow from 4 until 10 p.m.

Before her marriage Mrs. Murphy was Miss Kelly, sister of John Kelly of the Marine and Fisheries department. Their children are: Dr. E. F. Murphy and Dr. George A. Murphy, of Boston, Mass.; Dr. H. A. Murphy, of Jamaica Plain, Mass.; Anna F. Murphy, R. N., of Newton; Mrs. R. J. Murphy and Miss Marie Lillian Murphy, of this city. They have three grandchildren, Cathleen, Adele and Constance Murphy.

Too Many Dead Ones

If Lisbon grows in the next one hundred years in the same proportion it has the last, it will not make a great deal of difference. But if the town should take a spurt and grow, where will it go? About one-fourth of the available ground not now in use is taken up with the fair grounds and cemetery. The latter is encroaching more and more each year and is growing faster than the town apparently. It is high time a new cemetery site was selected and purchased. If the Lisbon cemetery continues to grow at the present rate and the town remains about as it is, it will not be many years until it will be mostly cemetery.

DIARRHOEA IS DANGEROUS To Teething Babies DURING HOT WEATHER

Hot weather is a dangerous time for the babies when cutting their teeth, and all mothers should watch very closely for any sign of diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum or any other bowel trouble.

There is no remedy so safe and effectual for diarrhoea as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and all mothers who have used it speak of it with the greatest of confidence.

Mrs. James E. Green, Vermilion, Alta., writes under date of Aug. 18th, 1921, as follows:—"A week ago my baby boy, just one year and four months old, started cutting two stomach teeth, and was so sick he couldn't eat or sleep, and had the diarrhoea most terribly bad; his rectum was raw and bleeding, but after giving him Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry regularly for three days he was as well as any boy could be. I wouldn't be without your grand remedy for untold gold."

"Dr. Fowler's" is for sale at all dealers; price 50c. a bottle; but up by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

LOOK WHAT THEY IN PARIS DO, LADIES' EARS BARED TO VIEW!

New York, July 30.—Oh, look who's here! The female ear is all exposed to view. From out its lair of ambush hair it has emerged anew. So long concealed when now revealed all naked, nude and bare, it seems to shrink from public gaze and from the rush of air. Like captives taken from their cells, unused to light of day, the just-emancipated ears most likely feel that way and so to temper their release, on being liberated, they're quickly hung with ball and chain of ear rings, heavily weighted.

'Twas Irene Castle brought the news of freedom of the ear. They turned them loose in Paris first. They'll soon be showing here. She wears hers flaunting in the breeze and prophesies this fall will be the era of the ear with ears worn out by all.

The National Hairdressers here with her do not agree and Mr. Miller, who's their head, says ears will covered be. He thinks at first the ears may peep from out their nest of hair, but that they'll soon shrink in again and keep within their lair. He also says bobbed hair is doomed, while Irene says "Not so." Abroad, she says, as many bob as let their hair to grow.

But whether hair be long or bobbed, it must be peeled away to show the aural organs off, exposed to light of day, if you would do as Paris says, which is the smartest way.

Short skirts revealed some tragedies—knock knees, bow legs and such—and now exposure of the ears sure promises as much. For though 'tis true that "ears is ears" it's true, too, some are tin and some are fan and some are bat and some are just a sin.

But be they large or be they small or be they good or bad, your best ear foremost you must put. It is the latest fad. "Lend me your ears' was asked of folks one ancient Roman day. What Paris now bids done with ears is quite a give-away.

When skirts are short and legs were long then ears were covered quite. But now that skirts are coming down and legs are out of sight, it sort of seems to balance things and make proportions right that ears should be unveiled and pushed right into the light.

But ears so long have coddled been, like mushrooms under glass, it's horrible to contemplate what's bound to come to pass when first the frosts of winter come to give a fiendish nip to each exposed defenseless ear, uncovered lobe to tip.

There seems but one alternative—to boom the earmuff trade. 'Twere best to order earmuffs now to match your tailormade. With earmuffs on each dainty ear, goloshes on her feet, the 1923 girl will sure look mighty sweet. And be they muffled or all exposed, uncovered to the light, the new discovered female ears will be an eerie sight.

VEGETABLE SALAD

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH

Cooking Authority for Nea Service and Columbia University.

One of the reasons that many people do not serve salad is that the family does not like oil. Another reason is that one does not always have lettuce, and most recipes for salad call for lettuce.

The following recipe uses very little oil and no lettuce:

1 cup shredded cabbage.
1 cup celery cut in small pieces.
2 cucumbers, pared and cut in very small pieces (or they may be chopped)
3 tomatoes, chopped.
1 red pepper, fresh or canned.
2 green peppers cut in small pieces.
1 teaspoon salt.
1. teaspoon paprika.
1 tablespoon sugar.
1 tablespoon vinegar.
2 tablespoons oil.

Mix all the ingredients in a bowl thoroughly, and serve very cold.

If you do not have celery use twice as much cabbage and add one-fourth teaspoon celery salt.

This salad is especially good served with fried or boiled fish and with cold meat.

Weddings

Mitchell-Watson.

A very pretty summer wedding took place on Wednesday, July 26, at Kirkfield, Ontario, when Miss Irene Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mitchell, of Kirkfield, and niece of Sir William Mackenzie, of Toronto, was married to Mr. W. Hubblestone Watson, of Toronto. The ceremony took place in the morning at the Catholic church, Rev. Father Kelly officiating. The church was decorated with a profusion of Columbia roses, masses of sword ferns and ropes of smilax, and the guests' pews were tied white satin ribbons and Columbia roses Miss Warner, of Cobourg, played the wedding music. The bride who was given away by her father, looked very smart in a white crepe meteor trimmed with white ribbons and silver. Her hat was of white with heron's feathers, and she wore the gift of the bridegroom, a diamond bar pin, and carried an ivory prayer book. She was attended by Mrs. Gordon Finch, who wore a becoming frock of pink Georgette with fathered hat and old fashioned posy of pink roses and achillias. Her sister, Miss K. Mitchell, was her bridesmaid, and was gowned in a pale pink organdie with hat of the same shade, bouquet of Columbia roses and achillia. Mr. C. Mitchell was the best man. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Mitchell was gowned in a navy canton crepe with cape lined with navy and grey feathered hat with corsage of orchids. The drawingroom was beautifully decorated with white hydrangea, roses, and the reception hall with yellow chrysanthemums, gladiola and asters. The bride's table was done with Columbia roses and gypophlia with the big wedding cake at one end. Rev. Father Kelly proposed the health of the bride, to which the bridegroom responded. Master Gilbert Scott Griffin and a pipe major made jolly music on the bagpipes. The bride's going away gown was of periwinkle blue canton crepe trimmed with grey with grey hat, grey suede shoes. Mr. and Mrs. Watson left to spend the honeymoon at the summer home of the bride's mother, and will later live in Toronto at Hawthorne avenue. Some of the out-of-town guests included: Sir William Mackenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Griffin.

Tomilson-Boulter.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Boulter, Currieburg, was the scene of an interesting event on Wednesday, July 19th, at 9 a.m., when their daughter, Eudora Estelle, was united in the bonds of holy matrimony to Laurence Tomilson of the same place The Rev. H. P. Leard was the officiating clergyman.

The only witnesses were the bride and groom's immediate family, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Holehan, from Boston, a sister of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Goodman from New York, uncle and aunt of the bride, Master Lloyd Clinch from St. Stephen, Master Arthur Tomilson from Nashwaaksis, nephews of the groom.

The bride wore a travelling suit of navy point twill with a gage hat of blue and silver to match.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple motored to St. Stephen to visit the groom's sister, then to Houlton to visit the sisters of the bride. On their return a reception was held. About fifty guests were present and spent a very pleasant evening in music and games.

The presents were numerous and beautiful.

MacWilliam-Bannister.

A quiet wedding took place at 2.30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon last at the Parsonage of the Highfield Baptist church, when Dorothy A. only daughter of Vernon Bannister, and the late Mrs. Bannister, of Petitcodiac, became the bride of Albert Edward MacWilliams, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. MacWilliams, of Salisbury. Rev. E. H. Cochrane, M. A., pastor of Highfield Baptist church, was the officiating clergyman

After a brief honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. MacWilliams will reside in Salisbury, where the groom is a member of the teaching staff at the Salisbury Superior school.

McMackin-Brown.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place in St. Martins on July 26 when Rev. H. L. Coughlan united in marriage Miss Dora S. Brown of Upham, Kings county, and Joseph P. McMackin, of Hammond. The bride wore a fawn suit with hat to match and carried a white prayer book of opal rosary. Miss Dometil Gallant acted as bridesmaid and wore a sand colored suit with hat to match, and also carried a white prayer book. Basil McMackin, brother of the groom was groomsman. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold pendant set with pearls; to the bridesmaid a white prayer book and to the groomsman a fountain pen. After a short stay in St. John Mr. and Mrs. McMackin will leave next week for their future home in Portland, Maine.

Time for Frank Speech.

Let us approach France frankly with the proposal of a permanent and reasonable reparation settlement in consideration of our remission of France's war debts to us. That the business men would do that if the matter were left to them no one seriously doubts. The politicians are hesitating on grounds of electoral expediency, and even in that region there is reason to believe they are seriously misapprehending the spirit of the country.—London Daily News.
