Thanksgiving Tea
A successful Thanksgiving tea was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Spencer, Douglas avenue, by the members of the Tuckabatchee Circle of St. Matthew's church. The rooms were attractively decorated with yellow candles and chrysanthemums. The dining room was exceptionally pretty in the soft glow of the twilight. The beautifully appointed table was presided over by Miss Jennie and Miss Myrtle Daley. Miss Irene Hunter received tickets at the door. Those who assisted with the serving were: Miss Louise Schroeder,

COLORS BLAZE IN SEASON'S FROCKS

Some gowns this season seem veritable blazes of color. Figured wool broadens in self-tone or in two-color combinations, wool matchless, wool Jacquards, metallic velvets and gay gipsy-colored crepes are used for the smartest of costumes.

The new Jacquette, when it is made of Paisley or braid embroidered, could not be rivaled by the famous Jacob's coat of many colors.

Choose the brilliant primary colors, the most bizarre of design, and you have the raison d'être for any garment this season.

CASES HEARD IN DIVORCE COURT

Many Stories of Mismatched Couples Brought to Attention of Judge Crockett.

Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 8.—In the Divorce Court this afternoon, the case of George Murray Cusack vs. Margaret Cusack, evidence was completed. His Honor Judge Crockett stated that he was not satisfied with the evidence produced but on the application of E. Allison Mackay who appeared for Frank A. McCully, proctor, would let the case stand for further testimony next term. This case comes from Alward, Queen's County. The parties were married at Yarm, Scotland, while the husband was overseas. After coming to Canada the wife left her husband and went to live with her parents in Toronto.

In the case of Hugh J. Stairs vs. Mildred H. Stairs, G. Earle Logan appeared as proctor. The defendant, previous to marriage, was Mildred Fleming, residing in Woodstock. A respondent, named King, was named in this case. Witnesses examined were F. J. Twichell, W. W. Wakem, Gerald G. Anglin and plaintiff. The plaintiff told of infidelity on the part of his wife while he was overseas and of the birth of an illegitimate child in 1917 or 1918.

Application of G. Earl Logan for a commission to issue at Woodstock for the taking of the evidence of Rev. Mr. Gibson as to authority to perform marriage, was granted.

The case stands until January. In the case of Mary Richardson vs. William James Richardson, coming from St. John, J. H. F. Teed, appeared as proctor and opened the case before adjournment until Thursday was made. The defendant's husband was in New York at last account. The respondent is unknown to the plaintiff.

WOMEN MEET IN ST. PETER'S HALL

The regular monthly meeting of the Roman Catholic Women's League was held on Tuesday evening in St. Peter's hall, with the president, Miss M. H. McCloskey presiding. The league will assist with the Tag on Poppy Day, with the president convening, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Kennedy. They will also help with the Health Centre, and a drive is to be held for a larger membership for the league. Rev. George Coffin, C.S.S.R., addressed the members before the meeting closed.

McCarthy, Miss Winnifred Morrison, Miss Alberta Galbraith, Miss Jessie Miss Lillian Priddle, Miss Lillian Garrett, Miss Amy Chesley, Candy was sold by Miss Mae Brooks and Miss Margaret Keim. A satisfactory amount was realized for the building fund of the church.

Guest of Sister
Mrs. Douglas Atkinson, of Toronto, is to have with her this week, her sister, Miss Elizabeth Ruel, of Westmount, who will stay with her for a few weeks.

Miss Mary Finnmore, of Fredericton, is visiting in Montreal, arriving on Monday of this week.

Residing in Winnipeg
Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Coleman (formerly Miss Florence Lynch) are in Winnipeg, where they will reside at the Royal Alexandra for a few months. They were married recently in Ottawa, the home of Mrs. Coleman, and have been on an extended honeymoon trip.

Returned to Ottawa
Mrs. F. B. Carvel and her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Fisher, have returned to Ottawa from Woodstock, Carleton Co., and will take up residence in the Roxborough Apartments for the season.

Operation Successful
Mrs. Harry McLaughlin of Prospect Street, Fairville, who was taken to the General Public Hospital on Tuesday evening at eleven o'clock and operated upon at two in the morning, is resting very comfortably, considering the circumstances.

The girls of the Y. W. C. A. are planning a council supper, at which Miss Mary Allison, their beloved martime girls' secretary will be the guest of honor, and the President of the council board, Mrs. J. D. Hunter the chief hostess, assisted by the girls. Mrs. Hunter has been most faithful in her work with the Y. W. C. A. and is welcomed to the activities again as she was detained for a time, on account of the illness of her daughter.

Master Gordon McKillop, young son of Mr. and Mrs. James McKillop, at Milford, who was severely injured the night of the fire at the Stetson and Cutler mills by falling from a pile of lumber, has returned home from the Infirmary. The X-Ray was used and slight internal injuries discovered, which it is hoped will disappear with careful treatment.

MISS ETHEL WILSON ENTERTAINS W. M. S. OF FAIRVILLE

Miss Ethel Wilson entertained the W. M. S. of the Methodist church at Fairville, when it met in its regular session yesterday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Jabez M. Rice, presided over the meeting, and the devotional service was led by her husband's mother, Mrs. S. H. Rice, of Moncton, who is a guest at the parsonage. She took for her theme the 12th chapter of Romans, which she explained most inspiringly.

The messengers from the missionary Watch Tower gave short reports of the work going on in China by Mrs. Arthur Long; in Japan, by Mrs. S. A. Worrell, and the Italian work by Mrs. William Linton. A letter from the district organizer was read in which congratulations were extended to the W. M. S. for having enrolled this year two life members. A synopsis of the first chapter of the study book, "The World's Friend-ship," was given by Mrs. Rice, and a portion of the second chapter was read by Mrs. Stephen Shaw and Mrs. S. A. Worrell and Mrs. A. Long. A collection was taken for the Rest Fund.

A pleasant social hour was enjoyed in honor of Mrs. Rice, the guest of the day, Miss Wilson serving delicious refreshments from a daintily appointed table.

Mexican Ice Cream
Prepare a pint of thick boiled custard, well sweetened; cool and chill on the ice. Flavor with half a tablespoonful of vanilla extract and fold in half a pint of chilled double cream, whipped solid; half a cupful of chopped candied cherries, soaked in Maraschino cordial, and half a cupful of the following mixture: Caramelize one cupful of sugar and stir in half a cupful of chopped pecan meats. Turn into a buttered pan and when cold roll and crush to a fine powder. Freeze the cream slowly.

CORN MEAL BATTER BREAD

(By Bertha E. Shapleigh of Columbia University.)
1 cup white or yellow corn meal 2 cups hot milk
1 teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons butter or bacon fat
2 eggs 2 teaspoons baking powder
Pour the hot milk over the corn and salt. Let stand until cool. Add the butter or bacon fat, melted, the eggs, well-beaten and lastly sift in the baking powder.
Beat for a few seconds and turn into a well-greased, deep baking dish. Bake 30 minutes in a moderately hot oven. Serve from the dish in which it is baked.
This bread is very good with meat and gravy instead of potatoes or rice.

LATEST HINTS

Full Skirts

Jennie Lanvin is making many very long, very full, skirted gowns. One of her most lovely models is of white taffeta with five ruffles on the bottom of the skirt, each one edged with black velvet. A huge taffeta flower with black velvet leaves makes the corsage.

For Sports Wear

Smart sports blouses are made of striped or figured Shantung with mannish turnover collars and turn-back cuffs. The patterns are usually dark on a white background, giving a clear contrast.

Painted Velvets

Painted velvets are shown for evening wear and made into charming negligees for the house. Usually the velvets are delicate in tone and the colors applied are of the soft, pastel shades. Large flower patterns are most popular.
