Showing Proper Start And Finish

Aileen Riggin, Olympic Fancy Diving Champion, Gives Valuable Advice to St. John Divers.

By Aileen Riggin
Olympic Fancy Diving Champion

The smart diver is the glory of the bathing beach. Swimming is twice as much fun if you can dive, too. Diving isn't as hard as it seems. All you need is nerve, and determination, and practice.

There are ten points every diver should commit to memory. These are:—

First—Do not exhibit any timidity or hesitation when about to dive.

Second—Always stand for an instant at attention, head erect, body upright, arms straight at side, with fingers closely clinched and thumbs forward, and heels touching, before making a standing dive or starting to run for a running dive.

Third—Put all your strength into any dive that you are attempting.

Fourth—Always get as high in the air as possible when diving.

Fifth—Keep the line of the body naturally straight when entering the water.

Sixth—Always keep the fingers together.

Seventh—Keep the head up and balanced naturally.

Eighth—In running dives, run naturally and quickly, and spring from both feet.

Ninth—The spring should be made with the body vertical, and the arms should be put in the proper position as you spring.

Tenth—Just before executing a standing dive, the arms may be raised in front of and at right angles to the body, fingers being straight with the forefingers and the palms down.

Always keeping these points in mind, we can go with the method of executing some dives.

The above lesson is given by the champion who arrived in the city yesterday from New York, and who will be seen in action during the Mammoth Water Carnival in Lily Lake tomorrow.

Champion Swimmers And Divers Arrive

Party Visited Lily Lake and Are All Ready for the Competitions There Tomorrow.

The champion lady swimmers and divers arrived in the city yesterday from New York and are registered at the Victoria Hotel The lady swimmers are in charge of Miss Charlotte Epstein of the famous Women's Swimming Association. The party visited Lily Lake where they are to compete tomorrow afternoon and were delighted with the surroundings, although they spoke of the weather being so cool in St. John and so different to that in New York where it is rather hot.

The lady swimmers were:—Mrs. Charlotte Boyle Clune, holder of many records and internationally known for years as one of the fastest lady sprinters in the world; Miss Aileen Riggin, who, in 1919, as a fourteen-year-old miss, won the Olympic diving championship; Miss Helen Meany, United States national diving champion; Miss Gertrude Ederie, one of the season's swimming sensations; Miss Doris O'Hara and Miss Ethel Baker.

Split Heats On Woodstock Track

Greatest Racing in History—San Verona Threw Driver—Six Heats to Finish 2.12 Trot.

Special to The Journal

Woodstock, N. B., July 13—The consensus of opinion is that the races this afternoon, were the best ever held on the parlor track. The starters were numerous. In the 2.23 class there were eleven starters, the largest number ever started in a race on this track. This race did not finish until after 7.30 o'clock. The winners today were Zom Q., Jennie H., The Manor, and the Finisher.

Every class was a hard race, with the exception of 2.16 trot, where Jennie H., had a little more speed than Major Frisco. College Swift driven by a local man, McRae, trotted well, and McRae received great applause, as the three drivers against him, Gerow, Utton and Burrill, are Grand Circuit drivers.

In the first heat of the 2.21 race, San Verona, threw Driver Fox, who rolled safe from the other horses, but his horse continued to run away carrying the sulky which finally was broken to pieces. The driver was not hurt badly and San Verona with Fox came out the next heat and won fourth position.

The lottery for the Oldsmobile car, conducted by the Woodstock Band, was drawn, the winner being William Gough of Lower Woodstock, now employed in Fredericton.

Five Thousand At Caribou Races

John R. Braden Won Free-for-All—Bad Mix-Up in 14 Class—Rain Stopped Racing.

Special to The Journal.

Caribou, July 13.—About five thousand people were on hand for the second day's racing. A thunderstorm broke out about one o'clock, rain falling heavy, making the track slow.

John R. Braden won the free-for-all in three straight heats. Nellie Pointer made a good showing, finishing third in each heat.

In the first heat of the 2.14 trot and pace, when the horses were scoring, the sulkies of Saccharos and Royal McKinney locked. Willard, driver of Saccharos, was thrown from his seat, the horse kept going on, ran around the track once at a good clip, and nearing the three quarter post slowed down, turned and came back. The horse was led past the grandstand, it was loudly cheered.

Owing to the lateness of starting the Free-for-All was the only race finished. The others will be finished tomorrow, Friday.

Two New Water Stunts

Disturbance At Baseball Game

Fans Disputed Umpire's Decision — St. Peter's Won from St. John's — Score 7 to 5.

St. Peter's and St. John's went six innings on St. Peter's Park last evening, the former winning by a score of seven to five. It was a pitcher's battle, Beatty being only found for three hits, and Hansen for four. The Saints managed to have six errors chalked up to them, and the St. John's three.

A large crowd of fans disputed the umpire's decision when Mooney scored, claiming that the player was out. Many run out on the field and delayed the game for a time until order was restored.

An old darkey sat at a window one evening ten years ago, reading his Bible. Said I, "Joe, it does me good to see you so fond of Scripture. What chapter are you reading, may I ask?"

'Well, boss," answered Joe, "dere's a grocer name of Lazarus advertises five quarts of gin for foah dollars, and I'm just lookin' up how to spell dat dere name Lazarus!"

City Amateur League Results

St. George's Handed 7 to 1 Defeat Over Portlands in Four Inning Game.

In the senior City Amateur League game on Queen Square diamond last evening, the St. George's handed out a seven to one defeat to the Portlands. The game only went four innings. Three runs in the first, and four in the third gave the winners their total. The one run made by the North Enders happened in the third inning.

The St. George players leaned hard on the ball, Connors hitting for three bases, while Wiley and Doherty swatted for home runs. Six hits were obtained off Anderson's delivery, while Maxwell was only found for two safe ones.

Imperial Oil Defeat Refinery

Winners Strengthened Their Hold on Second Place — Score Was 12 to 4.

The Imperial Oil team strengthened their hold on second place last evening in the South End League by winning an easy victory from the Sugar Refinery team. The game was featured by three sensational catches by Johnston, Lowe, and McCrossin. Both teams did a lot of base stealing, through the failure of the pitchers to keep the runners near their bases. The fielding of the Refinery men was poor, while the Imperials also did not measure up to their usual standard in that line.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

Supporters of the University of Washington take serious objection to the way Coach Wallis of California has explained the defeat of his crew by Washington.

◈ ◈ ◈

In the dual regatta, held on Lake Washington, California was defeated by some fifteen lengths. This easy victory of Washington over California, caused the eastern crew coaches to sit up and take notice. It caused Washington's varsity crew to gain instant respect.

◈ ◈ ◈

In the midst of much praise that was being bestowed on the Washington crew, Coach Wallis of California took all the joy out of life for that institution, by giving a version of the race that took much of the punch out of the victory.

◈ ◈ ◈

The California mentor made the statement that the victory of Washington to fifteen lengths was not as decisive as the margin of victory would make it seem. The claim was made that the California crew carried a dead load of one man the greater part of the way. Also it was claimed that the California crew stopped rowing under orders from Coach Wallis before the finish of the race.

◈ ◈ ◈

Washington supporters take decided issue with all these claims. From the victor's supporters comes the word that Howell at No. 5 rowed the entire race, that he was not a dead load. They say that Howell did not collapse until the Washington crew had crossed the finish line.

◈ ◈ ◈

The force of Howell's oar sticking in the water threw him out of his shell then, say the Washingtonians. Seeing the condition of Howell, the California coxswain threw up his hands and the men stopped rowing.

◈ ◈ ◈

Howell was picked up by a Washington launch and taken to shore. The doctors, who examined Howell found no injury and pronounced it complete exhaustion, the Washington backers say.

◈ ◈ ◈

In order to prove that Washington's big margin of victory was deserved, Washington supporters contend that the clerk of course, the referee and judges are a unit in saying Washington had crossed the line before California stopped rowing.

◈ ◈ ◈

There you have the Washington side of the much disoussed race in which California was so decisively beaten.

◈ ◈ ◈

Coach Wallis of California, while admitting Washington had a good crew, said the decisive defeat of his varsity was due to the collapse of one of his men, and the fact that he ordered his crew to stop rowing when a half mile from the finish.

◈ ◈ ◈

Take your choice. No draw decision goes.
