Why The Harvesters
Were Out of Work

Many Refused to Remain
Where Needed—Those Going
Next Week Assured of Work.

The papers of Nova Scotia, have recently issued statements to the effect that, of the Harvesters who left for Winnipeg 800 are reported to be without employment, this report, which to say the least is groundless, has in any local paper, and for the sake of those intending to make the next trip the Journal is given the correct version of the above report.

If there are any harvesters in the West jobless, they have themselves to blame. The majority of men who left the Maritime Provinces on the first excursion train refused to remain where they were most needed, which was Manitoba, but insisted on

SAY IT WITH FLOWERS BUT SAY IT RIGHT!

BY MARIAN HALE.

Say it with flowers, urge all the florists.

That's all very well, of course, but if you made a pilgrimage to the average flower dealer and said:

"Give me a bouquet that will say, 'I'm terribly sorry, darling—it's all my fault—you are an angel,' now how many of those promoting this universal language propaganda could help you out?"

I know of one. Irene Hayes. But she is not an average dealer. She's most unusual.

If you asked her such a question, she'd immediately do up a box of violets for you. That's the message of the violet.

Miss Hayes makes a specialty of knowing what the flowers she sells say after they leave her. That's why this very pretty Kansas City girl owns her own florist shop in the exclusive Park Avenue section, New York.

The right flowers are more delicate than words and less dangerous than letters that are likely to be saved," she explains.

"If a man wants to tell a girl he loves her, that she is the only woman in his life—at that time—he can subtly imply that by sending her a single rose. It is much more eloquent than a basketful.

"If he is interested in a girl, loves to take her to the theater and enjoys her companionship but has no thought of more than a pleasant flirtation, he should send her daisies, marigolds or any of the yellow garden flowers—she will undoubtedly understand his intentions.

"When buying for the debutante, he should not make the mistake of sending her the orchid, the divorcee's flower. She may select it for herself, but she presumes upon her sophistication if she picks it. Sweet peas, rose buds and forget-me-nots are for the debby.

"But the language of flowers needs not only to be mastered by the man but by the woman. A wife can save lots of friction in the house if she uses the proper flowers on the dinner table.

"Suppose she has a small confession to make. Try to have the decorations in pastel colors and use simple flowers—mignonettes, pansies or violets. These will inspire confidence as she unfolds the news about the hat she had to have or the allowance that has reached the breaking point.

Definite Plans
Not Formulated

Maritime Board of Trade
Convention Will Be Held
Here During Exhibition
Week.

Definite plans in connection with the programme for the meeting of the Maritime Board of Trade, to be held here during the week of the exhibition, have not yet been formulated, although action will likely be taken in this regard, within the week. The local board are awaiting word from President Holman of Charlottetown, regarding the outcome of the meeting being held at Souris, P. E. I. At the meeting in September, questions of interest to the people of the Maritime Provinces will be discussed, and there will be present, in addition to others, members of the legislatures of the provinces and some from the Dominion government.

One of the big features of the coming sessions will be a revival of the discussion of the problems, dealt with at the joint conference of the St. John and Halifax boards, some time ago, at Halifax. It is confidently expected that the Maritime conference will prove one of the biggest of its kind ever held, and interesting developments will likely be evident. Action in connection with the matter of certifying the visiting delegates, during their stay in St. John, will be taken up shortly by the local organization.

Almost two hundred of the Millidgeville Summer Club members gathered at the R. K. Y. Club House last evening for the weekly dance, many going out from the city to enjoy the good time that is sure to occur where Jones' Orchestra is the inspiration. Bridge was played, at which Mrs. Alex. W. Rowan won the highest score and the prize. Delightful refreshments were served, and all enjoyed themselves happily, taking advantage of every minute, as the cool evening brought visions of passing summer, and the end of its delights. As usual the dance was concluded at twelve.

going further West to Saskatchewan and Alberta, but by doing so, those who arrived last week not needed, because the harvest season of those provinces is a matter of three weeks behind that of Manitoba.

The reason why the harvest trains are not all sent out on the same date, is because of the difference in the seasons. Next week 10,000 men will be required in Saskatchewan, and any man can insure for himself a job before leaving, by applying to the local employment office in this city where his name will be forwarded to Winnipeg, and on arrival he will find employment waiting him, otherwise, men are advised to report to the representative at Winnipeg, who will direct them to points in Saskatchewan.

The local employment office reports that it can handle numbers for general labor, and that there is a cry for men for pulp wood cutting. The Women's Department report that it has vacancies for domestics in the summer cottages and hotels.

Miss Hayes also does more pretentious things, as decorating churches for weddings, and dinner and luncheon tables to match the temperament of hostess and guest.

Recently she went to Paris to get the latest styles in flowers, but she found while there that the styles in frocks, it is way behind us in the use of flowers.

Returning From Visit
To His Birthplace

Lemuel Brehaut, M. D., of
White Plains, N. Y., Visited
Aged Mother at Murray
Harbor, P. E. I.

Lemuel Brehaut, M. D., of White Plains, New York, was in the city yesterday, en route to his home, after a brief visit to P. E. I., his birthplace, where his mother still lives at the age of eighty-five, at Murray Harbor. In his boyhood days the Doctor was aided in his tuition at school by the late Rev. J. C. Barrie, who was the pastor at Murray Harbor, and his brother Arthur lived with Mr. and Mrs. Barrie until he reached manhood. Owing to the kindly influence of Mr. Barrie, both boys received the start in life that has made them successful in their chosen work. Arthur being a most successful architect in Vancouver, and Dr. Brehaut, an established general medical practitioner in White Plains, New York. His wife was Miss Mary J. Murdock, of P. E. I., and they have four daughters, two of whom are Registered Nurses, and one a secretary for one of the leading lawyers in her home city, the other is a High School graduate, without a profession. Dr. Brehaut left this morning by boat for Boston. While here he was the guest for part of the time of J. Charlton Berrie and Mrs. M. H. Good.

SCALLOPED FRESH TOMATOES

BY BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH.

Cooking Authority for NEA Service and Columbia University.

There are certain meats which seem to need always a vegetable like the tomato, and fish is especially good in combination with tomatoes, cooked or raw.

Scalloped tomatoes, like scalloped oysters, may be good, or equally poor, due to a careless use of the bread crumbs and too little seasoning. The following recipe is good:

6 tomatoes peeled and cut into thin slices.
1 cup fine bread crumbs (soft stale bread is better than the over-dry)
3 tablespoons chopped onion
3 tablespoons butter or bacon fat
1 tablespoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
A little pepper.

Fry the onion in the butter or bacon fat for five minutes, but do not let it brown. Add crumbs and mix until crumbs are well coated with fat.

In a buttered baking dish place a layer of tomatoes, sprinkle with sugar, salt and pepper. Cover with crumbs and repeat until material is used, having crumbs on top.

Bake twenty minutes.

(Cut this out and paste it in your cook book.)

Will Probated

The will of Miss Laura Burns, lately deceased in Calais, Me., is worthy of earnest attention to those who may have means to leave, and who have not many dependents, giving as it does to the lasting good of Washington County, as well as the immediate vicinity of Calais.

The George Blodgett Burns Scholarship of $2000, for the benefit of students who are graduates of the Academy at Calais, Me., is one benefaction that will be of great assistance to those who wish to pursue attending the Dartmouth College, the other scholarship for the same amount not being given any special name.

Three thousand dollars is granted to the Diocesan Funds, State of Maine, and will be called the Laura Burns Fund, and will be used for the purpose of the Dartmouth College, the other scholarship for the same amount not being given any special name.

A trained nurse to visit the poor in Calais or St. Stephen, the order for such to be signed by the Rector of St. Anne's, and one doctor in Calais. A single nurse to visit the poor in St. Anne's parish, to be paid from a fund known as the Kate Armstrong and Laura Burns, the income being used for the nurse to go freely among all the poor of the city, should the work of St. Anne's not be sufficient for the occupation of her time. The amount of this fund is ten thousand dollars, and was given to the Bishop in trust.

Her homestead is given for the use of the nurse, or to sell, that the proceeds may be added to the fund, and all money left over, when her estate is finally settled is to go to the Laura Burns and Kate Armstrong Fund. Some personal effects were left to her friends. The executors are Attorney James M. Beckett, of Calais and Attorney Guy Murchie of Boston. Weddings

Smith-Mallan.

Announcements have been received of the marriage of Miss Lily Jane, Mount Vernon, N. Y., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Smith, Sackville, N. B., to Wilford Smith, of Havana, Cuba. The young couple are now traveling in Ontario, and will visit the former home of the bride, before returning to their home in Havana.

Alward-Blizard

Craig Nichols, rector of St. James church, Westfield, where the ceremony was performed, officiating. Arrive Home After
Visit To England

Mrs. E. M. Robertson, daughter of William Hawker, who has just returned from England with her sister, Mrs. J. B. Thompson, Charlotte St., left for Digby this morning, after spending the night of yesterday and last night with Mr. and Mrs. Thompson. Mr. Hawker and his other two daughters are remaining over in Montreal for a few days, visiting J. T. Hawker, another brother. The ladies do not wish to say anything about their trip, except that the half of the beauties have never been sufficiently told by those who have returned from there. They wish to leave any story of what they saw to their good father, who has come to relate of his visit to the old home, with comparative impressions that will be very full of interest to his friends, after his long absence from the familiar scenes of his native land. Mr. Hawker is well and had a thoroughly delightful time all during the tour. He is another of those young old people that are so often referred to in these columns and is an example of vigorous living, constant activity and earnest purposes withal.

Daily Fashion Hint

DECIDEDLY DIFFERENT
SLIP-ON

Just enough different from most slip-on frocks to attract attention is this one of figured foulard trimmed with hem-stitched organdy. Gathered with the skirt and stitched under the belt are side-panels of self-material, with pointed lower edges. The sleeves are attached to the sides of a front-closing underbody. Medium size requires 6 1/2 yards 36-inch material for the dress, 1/2 yard lining for the underbody and 1/2 yard organdy for the vest. Slip-ons are to be the vogue as much for fall wear as they have ever been, giving, as they do, the so-much desired straight lines that are the very latest for the autumn. Willow figures are to have the stage for the present in the fashion world, so the round, full figure will have to resort to the subterfuge of plain materials, in stripes, if possible, and falling in softest of straight lines. The deep pointed yoke is a great help to the effect, and the long panels at the side are another aid. The small pattern of the design here shown would not be unsuitable, even for the stout form.
