Social Notes

Rothesay is gay with visitors, attending the Provincial Tennis Tournament, which is always an occasion for social functions of an informal nature, the game itself lending a vast amount of enjoyment to those who are in love with the skill of the various plays that go to make up a good artist at the game. Exercise produces hunger, so one of the very important matters that occupy the attention of the hostesses, while the tournament is in progress, is the refreshment problem. The ladies in charge yesterday were: Mrs. W. A. Henderson, Mrs. W. B. Tennant, assisted by Misses Ruth Robinson, Margaret Henderson and Miss Rand. Sandwiches and cake, with coffee were in abundance and readily disposed of, the young men acting as waiters on their partners and other guests. Each day will see its regular hour of social intercourse after the strenuous afternoon's playing is ended.

The Riverside Club House is very much alive these days with informal gatherings for the visiting teams of tennis players, last evening being well patronized by hosts and hostesses and guests in good numbers, young feet never being too tired to dance, no matter how far they have travelled through the day. Holder's orchestra was in attendance and made their present felt with the best of music, Mrs. Walter Foster, Pres. of the Ladies' Association, acting as hostess informally for the visitors. The music sounded very alluring over the telephone, and one could easily fancy how very happy everybody must be, with so much of summer in the air and of youth in the surroundings.

Dinner parties were given at the Riverside Golf Club House yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Keator, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Caldow, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mortimer. Sir Douglas Hazen was host to a Stag party of twelve covers at noon yesterday. Those who were at dinner, remained for the dance in the evening.

Miss Elizabeth Cotter, of Sussex, formerly of the staff of the D. S. C. R. here, was in the city yesterday, where she will be for her holiday, alternating with time spent at her home in Sussex. Miss Cotter is now in a responsible position as secretary of the Swift Pork Packing concern, Montreal, and is very much pleased with her work. She will be home for two weeks.

W. J. S. Myles, principal of the High School, has bought the Dr. Daye cottage at Brown's Flats and is living there this season, with Mrs. Myles and family. Every year sees this resort becoming more popular, the homes being gradually improved and new places being put up. It is decidedly the style for residents to own their own homes, greatly enhancing the value of the properties, and encouraging constant renovations.

When "Woodside" at Brown's Flats, has a flag in evidence, one can well believe that guests are in possession of this hospitable abode, which breathes the friendly spirit of the owner, Wm. Brodie. Last week-end a party of ten from Fredericton enjoyed themselves, with chicken for dinner, and all the good things that a select country home can supply. One who was there remarked, "that those chickens did not die in vain," which is conclusive and needs no further comment. The fortunate guests were: Mr. and Mrs. George Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Morrison, and Miss Betty, their daughter, Miss Margaret Chestnut, the Messrs. Gunter and Winstone Reid, all of Fredericton and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Armstrong of St. John. One might add that the flag is still flying, though only some guests remain.

While on the subject of Brown's Flats, one might be allowed to state that the guests are pouring in from all parts of the Province, Fredericton being most largely represented, the Dormitory being taxed to the limit. Among the visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Morrison, are Mr. Morrison's mother, Mrs. Frank Morrison and Mrs. Atherton, of Fredericton.

Rupert and Mrs. Wigmore at their summer residence at 241 Prince St. W. E. Dr. Marshall has been visiting his former home in Bridgetown, and with Mrs. Marshall has been enjoying a well-earned rest.

Miss Grace O. Robertson, superintendent of the Associated Charities, King St. East, has gone to visit her sister, Mrs. J. W. Clawson, Collegeville, Pennsylvania. Those who know the inestimable amount of work that this energetic woman accomplishes will be delighted to think that she is having a real holiday, and those who lean upon her for assistance and guidance will appreciate the great need she has of a change of scene and freedom from other people's worries, quite apart from what she may have of her own. She will be away for three or four weeks and will notify those who may need her help as soon as she returns.

'Prentice Boys Will Celebrate

On Saturday next, the Protestant Association of 'Prentice Boys will hold a celebration at Fredericton, and an outdoor picnic also on that day. A large church parade will be held on Sunday, when representatives will be there from all parts of this province, and the parade will be led by the 71st Regimental band. The service will be held in the Devon Baptist church, Rev. David Jones, Grand Chaplain of the Loyal Orange Association, officiating. King Edward Lodge No. 30, of West St. John, with representatives from Fairville, Grand Bay, and Lorneville, and the Union Jack Lodge of the city proper, will accompany the Grand Master to the capital on Saturday, August 12th. The Grand Master of the P. A. P. B., R. J. Anderson and the Grand Lecturer, W. J. Filmore, will also be present at the celebration

King Edward Lodge No. 30 has postponed their decoration day from the thirteenth of this month, to the twentieth. On that day there will be a parade accompanied by a band. The graves of departed brethren will be decorated with flowers, the service taking place at Cedar Hill. Committees have been appointed to visit various places other than Cedar Hill where the bodies of brethren have been buried, and decorate their graves. At this parade delegates from Fredericton are expected to be present.

"THE TIME AND THE PLACE."

The trail cuts clean across the hills,
It curls and dips and climbs again,
The sky burns blue, the wind blows free,
There's not a trace of towns or men!

Up, up, yon craggy, soaring steep—
And then the glory of the Sea!—
Beyond the dipping purple moon
Blue deeps that rest and welcome me.

The sky a tilted turquoise cup
That shades to iridescent pearl;
And the wind's wild kiss against my lips,
And clouds that race and swing and whirl.

And quiet—God—the joy of it!
No clanging horn nor rasping wheel:
No fierce staccato hammer-beat,
The ceaseless riveting of steel:

All night the swinging silver stars,
The moor that lies beside the sea,
With fireflies flitting o'er the grass,
Young Earth's embroidered canopy.

The scent of pine upon the wind,
The chirping cricket's monologue,
The Sleep, who weighs my eyelids down,
Soft-footed, smiling, stealing rogue!

For I had meant to lie and watch
The frosty stars and one tall pine.
To count each moment's toil of joy,
Each wildwood, tameless beauty mine!

But Sleep slips down, and Night slips by,
And morning, tip-toe, laughing, lays
Soft fingers on my eyelids till
I wake and stare in swift amaze.

The sky is one great golden flame
Above the sleeping sapphire sea,
But oh, the longing you might share
This sunrise miracle with me!

Returned From Delightful Trip

Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Broderick Visited Montreal, Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Broderick, Orange St., returned yesterday from a most enjoyable trip to Montreal, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and Atlantic City, each step of the journey freighted with glorious good times, and happy associations. At Montreal, the Doctor attended the fourth degree of the Knights of Columbus sessions, which included between times, considerable entertainment, one event of special mention being the drive around the city in the old-fashioned but very comfortable victorias, a large number of the delegates availing themselves of this excellent method of seeing Montreal in a general way. They were taken to Dominion Park, and had the pleasure of hearing Sousa and seeing him direct his wonderful band. A banquet was held at the Queen Hotel, at which three very fine speakers gave addresses and in answer to the toasts offered the ladies, Mrs. Broderick was called upon to respond, which she did with honor to her sex, and credit to St. John.

Dr. and Mrs. Broderick and Miss Clare, were joined at Montreal by J. D. Byrne of Vancouver and Miss M. F. Reardon who travelled with them to Atlantic City, where life was one giddy whirl, outside of the sessions of the supreme convention of the Knights of Columbus, where grand work was done, some of the meetings being solemn and impressive, one occasion of the High Mass celebration especially notable for its dignity and spiritual effect upon all who were in attendance.

The party were registered at the Ambassador and were in all the gay times that such a luxury affords. The experience on the Board Walk was rather unique, and just here the unwary traveler is warned that seventy-five cents an hour is quite a sum to pay, if the man who drives the chair in the chair parade decides that it is well to go very slowly on the ten mile journey! There are other things that were mentioned, but this will set one alert for similar dangers, to the pocket book, within the law. The grand ball was one of the gatherings that gave great pleasure to the friends from St. John, the gowns and whole scene one of grandeur. Mrs. Broderick wore a black satin, heavily trimmed with jet and diamond ornaments, while Miss Clare Broderick wore white silk with French effect of touches of pink and blue in rosebuds. Mrs. Byrne was gowned in black satin and Miss Reardon made a decided hit in a superb creation of yellow satin and lace, carrying a flame colored fan. The handsome yellow satin gown of Miss Beatrice Gosnell and fawn canton crepe of Miss Helen Harrington from our own city were much admired and altogether the representation from St. John was a very interesting and fashionable party able to stand favorable comparison with the elaborate brilliancy of this very large social event.

To Doctor Broderick, the visit to his Alma Mater in Philadelphia was a momentous occurrence, fraught with significant recollections of the days when he was making his start for the later period of a prosperous life, but which fact was then not revealed to him. Here the party was given a drive along the Schuylkill River, and around Fairmount Park. In relating the story one fancied a series of beautiful pictures through which our party passed, not only here but in the day journey to New York, from Montreal, when they travelled along the Lake Champlain and the Hudson River. Though seen many times before, those who told of the trip were as enthusiastic as if it were all new, and one could almost see the wonders of nature and the various pleasure points from the vivid description given. The Misses Gosnell and Harrington will not return for some days, as they have stopped over in Boston for a short visit. Perhaps when they get home, there will be a chance to add something more about Steeplechase Pier and other show parts that are almost too numerous to mention, the illustrious people met and many, many things that will recur as time lends vividness to details that are now in shadow, because of the kaledioscopic memories that are so fresh after such a rapid change of scene.

First Aid Classes Pass Examinations

The classes in First Aid that were instructed by Dr. T. D. McGregor, who lectured most acceptably throughout the course, passed under the examinations conducted by Dr. E. S. Bridges and Dr. Stewart Skinner as follows: For certificates—Mrs. Eleanor Barber, Mrs. Grace Fleming, Misses Edna Borroughs, Mary Boyle, Robina Clark, Jennie Dunlop, Catherine Higgins, Mildred McAloon, M. Clare McGrath, Eileen Morrison, Mary Robertson, Clarice Sparks, Elizabeth Stanley, Pearly Taylor. For Medallion: Miss Sarah Carleton. For Label: Misses Beatrice Gosnell, Alicia Heales, Etta V. Law.

To Miss Irene E. Barber is due much of the success of the students, and there was added assistance that was invaluable given by the Boy Scouts, who allowed themselves to be models for bandaging, thereby enabling the class to become more proficient in this branch of the work than could have been possible, without their willingness to give their services. Miss Irene Barber is Provincial Secretary for the Association.

Final Arrangements For Coming Tag Day

Various Districts Divided Among the Workers to Gather Funds for Health Centre.

The final arrangements for the Health Centre tag day next Tuesday are being completed by the local health authorities and under the direction of Miss Jessie Meiklejohn. The various districts have all been divided among the workers, and a convener has been appointed to see that every person has the opportunity to contribute towards this great undertaking, that is hoped will mean so much to the coming generations in this part of Canada, as it has done in almost every other part, and more particularly in Quebec, and in the City of Montreal, where there are hospitals and summer outing spots in the city, while many automobiles are at the services of the clinic, as well as those owned by the Children's Memorial Hospital there.

The wards, districts, and the conveners appointed to handle them, are listed as follows:— Guys and Brooks Wards, Mrs. E. A. Young; Lorne Ward Mrs. J. A. Mowry; Landsdowne, Mrs. Usher Miller; Stanley and Millidgeville, Mrs. J. Fraser Gregory; Dufferin still undecided; Kings, Daughters of Israel, Mrs. L. Isaacs; Queens, Mrs. A.C.D. Wilson; Dukes, Catholic Women's League. Mrs. Richard O'Brien; Sydney, Mrs. F. E. Holman; Victoria, Salvation Army; Wellington, Pythian Sisters, Mrs. G. C. Amland; Prince, Ladies of the Orange Lodge, Mrs. Kerr; East St. John, Mrs. Arthur Burditt; Fairville, Coldbrook and Brookville, Mrs. G. F. Cuthbertson; Kingston, Mrs. Carter; Hampton, Quispamsis and Nauwiguwauk to be taken by ladies from St. John city; Torryburn, Mrs. Eustace Barnes; St. Martins, Mrs. Bentley; Renforth, Miss Pearl Clark; Fair Vale, Mrs. George Bishop; Red Head, Mrs. F. E. Holman, Rothesay, Kinghurst and Riverside, Mrs. J. H. McIntyre; Loch Lomond, Mrs. L. Harris; Ketepec and Martinon, Mrs. James Evans; Acamac, Mrs. S. E. Elkin; Grand Bay, Mrs. T. H. Somerville; Pamdenec, Mrs. Ralph Fales; Ingleside, Mrs. R. Arscott; Onenette, Mrs. W. E. Golding; Hillandale, Mrs. E. R. Machum; Westfield and Woodman's Point, Mrs. Fielding Rankine; Lingley, Miss Peters; Sea wa, Mrs Brittain.

Many were present at the afternoon meeting yesterday held in the Board of Health Inspection Room at 50 Princess, including Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts and all took a very keen interest in the proceedings, the gentlemen present even tying tags all through the session, and during this interval tied over two thousand, ready for use on tag day. The committee present was representative of every endeavor interested in this great work.

So far, the Organization has every help that could be offered, and only hope that there will be many of those in a position to do so, that will lend their cars, and help in this way the day of the great drive for so deserving an effort to benefit the younger ones throughout New Brunswick.

This is only the beginning of this great movement, which it is hoped will be able to carry on successfully in the future, after this one great start, without the help or introduction of any more drives or tag days for finances for this work.

The Committee in charge, and especially Miss Meiklejohn is very confident as she is enthusiastic, that it will prove more of a success than is even hoped for, by the most optimistic.

There are many thousands of tags being made ready for the drive, and all will have an opportunity to take a share of the credit of helping to make St. John what other cities have made themselves, in the establishing of these health centres, which have done so much good everywhere they have made their appearances, and in most cases, with some effort on the part of those most interested.

For any persons wishing to donate the services of their automobiles for the benefit of the work in hand, the Organization telephone number Main 4111 will get the proper persons, who will sincerely appreciate any such kindnesses offered the Committee.

Twenty Years The Principal

Miss Clara Bridges Is Severing Her Connection With Sunnyside School in Pretoria.

Miss Clara Bridges, sister of Dr. H. S. Bridges of this city, who has been in South Africa since 1902, is severing her connection with the Sunnyside school in Pretoria, where she has been principal for twenty years. Her departure is causing a great stir in educational circles, because of her rare gifts that make for efficiency as an instructor of the young. So great has been the trust in her judgment, firmness, discretion and kindness, that the leading people from all around that section of the country have sent their children to receive instruction from her, five of the Premier's family having been under her tuition, besides the grandchildren of General Botha and the only son of the Administrator. She was the teacher of Lieut. Holthouse, who flew to Rhodesia to meet Colonel van Ryneveld and Colonel Brand, on their transcontinental flight to England, and who is considered one of the most skilful pilots in the Union air force. The great feature of Miss Bridges art is the fact that she develops the characters of her pupils, and has a wonderful influence over them for higher ideals and nobler aspirations. Her strength of character, tempered with sweetness, has permeated her work and the effect of her efforts is not only affecting a small district of that great continent, but is felt in the very government of the land, her pupils having been drawn from the homes of the most influential people of Africa. Every inducement was put before her to persuade her to remain, but Miss Bridges had made up her mind to return to Canada, and she could not change her plans.

It is a long story of achievement that is to the credit of our Canadian teacher, who developed a little tin shanty into a scholastic building in twenty years, containing 426 pupils, with a staff of fourteen teachers, and is declared to be the premier primary school of the whole district of Pretoria. Miss Bessie Bridges, another sister has been the vocal instructor in the Normal school and is accompanying Miss Bridges, who will spend some months on the European continent, not arriving in Canada, before the late autumn, or at Chistmas time.

A large gathering of parents and pupils presented an illuminated address, Mrs. Smuts making the presentation of that and a beautiful diamond brooch. Bouquets were also given both the sisters, and the infant class sang a farewell song, especially prepared for the occasion of their departure. It might not be out of place to here state that this remarkable family has a similar record here in its representatives, Dr. H. V. Bridges, Fredericton and Dr. H. S. Bridges of this city, not to speak of the next generation that is already taking a high place in the professional and literary world. To spend a few minutes in the office of Dr. H. S. Bridges and see the young men and women who approach him with a confidence that he will be sympathetic and understanding is a revelation of the inner nature of the rather austere, reserved man, who has withal a kindly expression in his grave eyes that is most impelling and assuring to those who would seek his counsel and aid. Conservative! Well someone has to be, to keep things balanced. In the years to come, all that makes for difference in opinion will have faded and only the firm, kind earnest soul will stand out to give a fine memory of one who has conscientiously stood by what he felt was the right thing to do.
