Dream Firm Smashed When Venizelos And Zaharoff Lost

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

London, Nov. 6—Venizelos & Zaharoff, Wholesale Merchants of Dreams are broke. The firm is "busted." All their dreams are dissolved.

Venizelos, a bitterly disappointed man, is grieving his heart out. Zaharoff, an older man and more cynical, is smiling at his own credulity and is resuming his rich, soft life in Paris.

The Turks under Kemal Pasha, plus the Greeks under ex-King Tino did it. The whole thing constitutes a strange, mad, romantic chapter in world history.

Zaharoff Wealthy

Basil Zaharoff was born 72 years ago in Constantinople in the Phanar quarter, a sort of Ghetto for Greeks. His parents were wealthy. They sent their son to England to be educated. Then they lost their fortune and the young man sought riches in shipping ventures on the Black Sea. He failed.

He came to England and became an employe of a growing firm of gunmakers. His knowledge of languages and his fine manners won him a commission to represent the concern in South America. In that period war was the main business of the South American republics. Zaharoff made fat commissions from his sales there and bought a membership in the firm.

With riches came a desire to live in France. He bought a palace in Paris, furnished it in princely style, and became a French citizen. He was knighted by Great Britain's sovereign.

His investments were scattered all over Europe. He owns the noted Casino of Monte Carlo. An old man, he lived a quiet life, enjoying society, wines, pictures, luxury of all kinds, and avoiding publicity as a mole avoids daylight.

Venizelos Poor

Then one day he met a Greek who disturbed him. This man was Eleutherios Venizelos. Venizelos was a Cretan who had led and fought for the independence of his native island of Crete and who had carried his activities over from that place to Athens. Unlike Zaharoff, he was not an aristocrat. He was of peasant farmer stock.

Zaharoff was rich. Venizelos was poor. Zaharoff had fought in the world of finance. Venizelos, forsaking the law, had fought in the fields of war and politics.

He had a great idea and he wanted to sell it to Zaharoff. It was nothing less than the founding of a great Greek state which should comprehend within its borders most of the lands where Greeks lived—the great city of Salonica, the plains of Thrace, the seacoast of Asia Minor, the great cities of Adrianople and Smyrna and possibly even Constantinople itself.

Zaharoff sneered at him. Then he laughed at him. Then he argued with him. Finally he became a convert.

It was Zaharoff who helped Venizelos form a Venizelist army at Salonica when King Constantine ditched the allies and helped Germany by being neutral. It was Zaharoff who helped Venizelos when Tino lost his throne and Venizelos came to Athens once more as premier. It was Zaharoff who encouraged Venizelos to put Greece into the war finally on the allied side. And it was Zaharoff, with Venizelos, who got the allied statesmen at their peace conferences to give Greece practically everything they wanted except Constantinople.

Now all this has been lost by ex-King Tino. And the firm of dreamers lived to see themselves savagely denounced.

Obituary

John Purvis.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Morison received a telegram yesterday afternoon from S. U. Purvis, of Victoria, B. C., conveying the information that his father, John Purvis, had passed away on Sunday at 6 p.m. The funeral will be conducted on Wednesday at 2 p.m. under the auspices of the Masonic Order, of which Mr. Purvis was a prominent member. The late Mr. Purvis had been for a great number of years an elder of the First Presbyterian church of West St. John. He had also served for a long period as superintendent of the Sunday school. He was well known for his activities in many circles, and had won the respect and admiration of all who knew him.

H. V. Hillcoat, V. S.

Amherst Nov. 5—Amherst citizens received a shock yesterday in the announcement of the death of Dr. H. V. Hillcoat, V. S., at an early hour in the morning. The deceased had not been in very good health during the past few months, but had attended to his duties as usual and had not made any complaint of feeling ill before retiring for the night. His death from heart failure occurred at 3 o'clock in the morning. The deceased was 69 years of age and was one of the best known veterinaries in this part of the province. His practice embraced Cumberland and Westmorland counties and he was greatly esteemed, not only for his skilful treatment, but for his wise counsel to stock breeders and his big-hearted sympathy for both men and animals. He did not work for money only. He is survived by a widow and two sons, Louis and Hedley, both in Amherst, and two daughters, Annie, of Camp Hill Hospital Halifax, and Mrs. C. H. MacNutt, of New Glasgow. There is also a brother, H. A. Hillcoat, of this town, one sister, in Australia, and a half-brother Cecil MacManus of Moncton.

The funeral takes place from the the residence tomorrow afternoon with interment in the Church of England cemetery.

MONTREAL PORT NEEDS MORE PILOTS

Pilots Find Their Task Becoming Steadily Heavier With Ever Increasing Traffic on the St. Lawrence River.

The pilots of Montreal find their task becoming steadily heavier, with the ever increasing traffic on the St. Lawrence river, and they hold that if more apprentices are not put into training, and other steps taken to lighten the burden of the pilots labor, it will ultimately become impossible to carry out the work.

The number of apprentices that may be trained in pilotage is regulated by the Federal pilotage authorities, and up to now representations made to the Federal authorities have failed to produce an increase in the number. C. B. Hamelin, secretary of the United Pilots of Montreal, declared in an interview that pilots had been known recently to have to stay at their post as long as sixty hours without a break.

It was essential, he said, that more apprentices be trained to keep a sufficient supply. It was also necessary to take other steps to lighten the pilots burden. There should be a relief between Quebec and Montreal. The journey often took 36 hours, and that was too long to keep a pilot on duty, with his reavy responsibility. For want of apprentices it was often necessary for the pilot to stand at the wheel himself instead of being free to concentrate on his normal duties.

Aviator Near Death Flying Over Enfield

Spark from Pipe Sets Coat Afire; Succeeds in Making Descent.

Dexter, Nov. 6.—Lieut. George W. Maxim, ex-army flier, was near death this afternoon while flying from Enfield to this town. Lieut. Maxim was smoking a pipe when he ascended into the air at Enfield and whe the machine was several hundred feet up a spark from the pipe flew into the sheepskin collar of his coat.

The wind fanned the spark into flames and before he could land the entire right shoulder of the coat

Terrible Headaches And Dizziness

Miss S. Raphel, 237 Kenilworth Ave. N., Hamilton, Ont., writes:—"I used to suffer from terrible headaches and dizziness. Last Summer, while I was walking up a side street, I got a dizzy spell and fell in the middle of the road. An old gentleman helped me to get where I was going and told me to get a box of Milburn's Laxa-Liver pills. Well, I did, and they did wonders for me. I don't know how to thank you, as I don't get headaches or dizzy spells any more."

When your liver gets sluggish and inactive your whole health suffers, and the only way to keep well is to keep the liver active and performint itsoper functions by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills.

DEAF BOY NOTED SONG WRITER

Chicago, Nov. 6—Twenty years ago—a deaf scullery boy kicked and cuffed about the cattle ranches of the southwest.

Today—a successful song writer and musical composer earning an envious income.

HENDERSON

Such has been the career of Leroy Henderson here who can't distinguish one note from another, and who hasn't heard a sound since he lost his hearing when he was 6.

For years Henderson, an orphan, wandered over the western plains picking up any sort of odd job, and living with friendly Indians.

In spare moments he composed poems and lyrics, one a Miltonic epic, "The Sorrows of a World Grown Old."

Later, in company with a wounded soldier who played the piano and sang he sold his songs on Mississippi River excursion steamboats, until stray dime contributions enabled him to come to Chicago.

Henderson's greatest dream was realized when he placed his finers to the throat of Cyrena Van Gordon, Chicago grand opera star, and through them "heard" her render his latest composition, "Love of the Ages," which musical critics have pronounced a masterpiece.

Negro Narrowly Escapes Lynching

Bent on Attack Upon Girl He Was Chased by Mob and Captured.

New York, Nov. 6.—Throngs of worshippers joined in the chase of a young negro who finally escaped lynching this morning through the intrepidity of a handful of police when he was captured brandishing a knife and heavy wrench on the roof of an apartment building on the West Side.

The negro said he is Alfonso Mayo of Memphis, Tenn., and according to the police, admitted that he was bent upon attacking eight year old Helen Ryan. He was prevented, his captors declared, when Mrs. Pauline Wentzel, the building janitress, stepped into the doorway to go out as he started inside.

Grabbing Mrs. Wentzel while the little girl screamed, Mayo kissed her and then fled upstairs, the woman said. Her son chased the negro to the third floor but ws beaten away by a blow from the wrench. Mayo ran to the street pursued by a rapidly gathering crowd led by Wentzel and his mother.

Mayo saw the mob gathering and dove into a hallway and climbed to the roof where pursuers found him crouching behind a chimney. Patrolmen rescued him as his captors were dragging him to the crowd on the sidewalk below which began shouting "Get a rope."

A neighbor telephoned for more police and when detectives arived, they found an infuriated mob of 2,000 clamoring for the negro to be lynched. Drawing their guns the detectives fought their way through and warning that they would shoot if interfered with, hustled their prisoner to jail.

Magistrate Frothingham held Mayo in $500 bonds for a hearing Wednesday.

GEORGEIAN FORCES SOMEWHAT BRUISED BUT STILL FIGHTING

Former Premier Has Efficient Organization But Local Machinery Is Weak.

London, Nov. 6—(Canadian Press cable)—Nomination day has by no means finally sorted out the election color scheme. Lloyd Georgeian headquarters claim many candidates who, however, are down in their constituencies—at any rate have announced themselves—as Liberals pure and simple without the prefix "National." So while Bonar Law's supporters declare that only 147 Lloyd Georgeian candidates are opposed to them, the Lloyd Georgeians themselves announce that their full strength in the field is 178 candidates.

Evidence accumulates that the Lloyd Georgeian forces will feel a draught in the local organization for the storm burst prematurely and, in matters of detail, there has hardly been time for them to adapt themselves to the altered circumstances. The former premier's headquarters organization is efficient enough but the party's local machinery is weak. Lloyd George himself is still in the doctor's hands but he hopes to go to Wales on Thursday for four days of speech-making.

CRERAR PROBABLY WILL RESIGN HIS PARTY LEADERSHIP

Expressed Desire to Devote All His Time to Affairs of United Grain Growers.

(Canadian Press)

Winnipeg, Nov. 6—It is expected that there will be a fairly representative attendance of Progressive members of parliament at the conference called by Hon. T. A. Crerar, Progressive leader, to be held here on Friday next, Nov. 10, to discuss the political situation. Political circles are discussing the report that has been widely circulated that Mr. Crerar will submit his esignation fom the leadership to devote all his attention to the affairs of the United Grain Growers' Ltd., of which he is president, but Mr. Crerar himself maintains strict silence as to his intentions. The prophets differ widely in their predictions of Mr. Crerar's successor, should he quit public life, but there are many who believe that R. A. Hoey, member for Springfield, will be entrusted with the task should the necessity arise of making a new appointment.

HEAVY DAMAGE BY VIOLENT GALES ON NOVA SCOTIA COAST

Sydney, N. S., Nov. 6—Damage amounting to may thousands of dollars was suffered by North Shore fishermen during the violent gales of last week, according to advices reaching this city from isolated points. Nine gasoline fishing craft were reported washed away. These were lost at Wreck Cove, along with boat houses owned by John Donaghue, Joseph T. Burton and John W. Capstick. While working in the latter house, John Capstick and his brother Thomas, were caught by a huge comber, which drove them through the roof of the building and left them stranded in a pool beyond. A third man, John Kanary, who saw the big wave comin, saved himself a ducking by grasping a rope and hauling himself up to the rafters. Hugh McEachern, Paul MacLean and Simon MacLean owned the motor boat lost at Wreck Cove.

At Ingonish the old government pier, repaired this summer, was totally destroyed, and Joseph R. McNeil lost his boat house.
