Killed in Automobile Accident Near Mars Hill, Me.

Mrs. W. H. Wright, of Fort Fairfield, Me., was fatally injured and died in the Fort Fairfield Hospital three hours after an automobile party returning from the horse races at Saint John crashed into a small culvert a quarter of a mile north of Mars Hill, Thursday night, July 31.

Echo Hill Will Be Improved

More Rock to be Cut Away and Car-
Proof Fence to be Erected at Danger
Spot on Andover-Aroostook Highway

In a letter from the District Highway Engineer, F. W. C. Wetmore, read before the Aroostook Women's Institute last night (Wednesday), Mr. Wetmore stated that extensive improvements are anticipated with regard to Echo Hill (on the road between Andover and Aroostook) both as to cutting out rock and fencing, and that when the new work is done the road would be considerably improved and a fence put up that will be car-proof.

Mr. Wetmore said that this work would not be done for a few weeks as it is not possible to do with the present heavy traffic, but that the work would be done this year or soon as circumstances permitted. The highway engineer also said in his letter extensive improvements will be made at Aroostook bridge and near it this year, but did not say what these would be.

The Echo Hill curve and hill is still a dangerous spot, automobiles having to proceed at a careful rate. There have been several accidents and near accidents at this place, and part of the present wood fence and railing has been torn away by automobiles.

GRAND FALLS VISITED BY TERRIFIC GALE

A terrific gale of wind and rain, lightning and thunder struck Grand Falls on Monday night at a few minutes before nine o'clock. The wind lasted only about five minutes, but much damage was done. Great trees were uprooted and many broken off in all parts of the town and surrounding country. Gardens were badly damaged. Among those who lost great shade trees were, F. W. Olmstead, Fred Hennigar, Everett McCluskey, Arthur Long, Dr. Claude Guy, one in front of the Town Hall, and many others. The telephone lines were also badly damaged.

It was the worse wind storm ever experienced in this section for many years.

FIRE AT GRAND FALLS

Fire broke out in the home of George Warnock, on Price Road, near Grand Falls, on Saturday morning last, about 11 o'clock. Mr. Warnock was in town and Miss Laura Forbes and Miss Mary Warnock were alone at the house. Forbes Warnock and the hired man were in the fields, some distance from the house. Mrs. Warnock discovered the fire and the alarm was given in town immediately. Carloads of men were rushed out and the fire was soon checked; the summer kitchen was burned and the main house damaged to some extent by the water. Fortunately there was a full cistern of water in the basement and the whole building would have burned. Much credit is due the men of Grand Falls for the assistance they gave in fighting the fire.

GRETA GARBO
Wild Orchids

YOU

Will discover the answer when you see smouldering, languorous Greta Garbo and dashing Nils Asther in their latest picture, "Wild Orchids." The words themselves reek with the mystic perfumes of far-off places and secret, sacred Javanese rituals. The picture will transport you on a magic screen to the hidden depths of a jungle kingdom. There, fidelity to her husband struggles furiously against the pulsing, hot breath of Eastern romanticism, a struggle that does not end until the deadly claws of a night-prowling tiger hasten the stirring climax. See the new starring team of Greta Garbo and Nils Asther, with Lewis Stone.
