fifty Years Ago in New Brunswick

By GEORGE I. HIGGINS

ST. ANDREWS

St. Andrews has longe been noted as one of the finest health resorts in North America and a summer spent amidst its delightful scenery—sailing on beautiful Passamaquoddy Bay, picnicing on the adjacent islands, roaming the forests in search of game, climbing Chamcook Mount, breathing the clear, pure air, is a "sure cure for hypochondria and hay fever."

St. Andrews is one of the best fishing stations of New Brunswick; the capital of Charlotte County; terminus of the New Brunswick Railway; and is well and regularly laid out.

Daily communication with Campobello, another Eastern Province summer resort—via Eastport, Maine, 15 miles distant.

"Tally" Winners

The $5 prize for No. 6 Tally goes to Harry G. Lapthorn, 52 Longworth Avenue, Charlottetown, P.E.I., with a total score of 681.5. The sentence — "Homogenizing manufacturers manufacture handkerchiefs throughout."

SPOTS OF SPORT

Alleys, Saint John, last week. After dropping their first game in the classic they went out and turned back every threat, winning 11 straight games. Ellsworth, Maine, finished second, losing two of their 12 matches. They had an exceptionally strong team with Ralph Porter, champion of Maine, as anchor man, and Scott, former champion, in fourth position. The Y.M.C.I. finished third, winning nine and losing three. Many of the games were well contested and the results were in doubt until the final frame. Owing to the record number of entries it required four days to run off the tournament, despite the fact that eight alleys were used.

LOYALTY

"Are you going to take gas to have your tooth pulled?"

"Of course not. You know my husband is president of an electric company."

THE BROADCASTER'S WEEKLY TALLY

$5 Each Week for Highest Tally

A FREE Contest For All Our Readers

SIMPLE FASCINATING YOU WILL ENJOY IT!

Make up a sentence of not more than five words using words that are to be found in advertisements in this paper. The words must be English words to be found in the dictionary. Proper names, hyphenated words and coined words are not eligible. The sentence must make sense as a proper sentence. For instance, to say "Maritime pickles are always superiority" would be disqualified as not being properly constructed. If instead of the word "superiority" the word "superior" was used it would be a proper sentence, or such a word even as "bituminous" would be a complete sentence. While the latter word would make the sentence rather ridiculous it would nevertheless be termed a complete or proper sentence. The sentence may be as ridiculous as you like to make it so long as it is a proper sentence. Below you will find a chart giving the value of each letter in the alphabet.

Contestants will use the blank chart below in filling in their answers; putting in the name of the advertiser from whose advertisement the word is taken and place the letters contained in the words in the squares, and the total tally in the last column. The object being to pick out words that will make a correct sentence whose letter values will total the highest score. Words taken from advertisements of Maritime manufacturers will carry a 15% bonus value.

Send your answers to TALLY, Maritime Broadcaster, 22 Canterbury Street, Saint John, N. B. Answers to this week's Tally must be in this office not later than FRIDAY, May 22, 1936. Decision of the judges must be accepted as final. Winner of this week's contest will be office not later than FRIDAY, May 29th, 1936.

KEY TO THIS WEEK'S LETTER VALUE

The accompanying table (on the right) shows the relative value in Tally points of the 26 letters of the alphabet. The number appearing under each letter is the point-value of that particular letter.

The value of each letter in points is changed occasionally. For that reason it is important that you check these values each week. For example: The value of the letter "A" is 8 points. The following week the same letter may be valued at only 2 points, and so on all through the alphabet.

UNPOPULAR

"Here's a fellow who has just patented a contrivance for preventing girls from falling out of dicky-seats. What do you think of the idea?"

"I don't like it at all. It's just another move to replace men with machinery."

STOP FOR LUNCH

"Harold, you naughty boy," exclaimed his mother, "you came home to dinner covered with dirt, and after all my tidying you up, off you went and had another fight."

"No, mother," said Harold. "It was the same fight. We only knocked off for dinner."

THE REMEDY

"Doctor," came a voice over the phone, "I can't sleep at night. Can you do anything?"

"Yes,' the doctor replied. "Hold the line while I sing a lullaby!"

IN SHORT

"How many seasons are there?" asked the teacher of the factory worker's daughter.

"Just two," answered Rachel.

"What are they?" inquired the puzzled instructor.

"Slack and busy," Rachel replied.

SMILES

"I'm afraid, Tommy, that you are asking Santa for too much this year."

"Well, it's a good bit, Mother, but with all the toys he's got he'll never miss 'em.

A REAL FROST

"The winter up in Gulch Pass was the coldest of them all," said the prospector. "The thermometer frequently registered 50 degrees below zero."

"That really was nothing," said the salesman. "Up in the North Country where I was making a call one winter, it was so cold in one of the hotels that the bellboys kept their hands in their pockets even after making a call."

WHERE COUNTING COUNTS

Rich Man—"There's no sense in teaching the boy to count over 100. He can hire accountants to do his bookkeeping."

Tutor—"Yes, sir, but he'll want to play his own game of golf, won't he?"

SLIPS

Through a typographical slip, a certain newspaper called an old soldier "a bottle-scarred veteran." In its subsequent apology, the paper described him as "a battle-scared veteran." Which is on par with the following correction which appeared in another paper. "In our last issue we stated that John Smith was a defective on the police force. Of course, that was a typographical error, John Smith is really a detective on the police farce."

Mr. Moneybags: How do you know Mills has lost money?

His Wife: Because Mrs. Mills has just had her dog's coat dyed to match her last season's furs.
