

second place; That the moral wants of the emigrants must be most severe as well as most keenly felt at their first settlement in the Colonies, and that if they are not supplied with Ministers and the means of religion at an early period of their emigration, they are in imminent danger of sinking down into a state of spiritual indifference, removed by a very few degrees from Paganism. In the third place; That however willing many of the settlers may be to supply themselves with teachers, their pecuniary circumstances put it out of their power, and that therefore they require the aid of their Christian brethren and Countrymen, at least for a certain period at first, till they are able to establish themselves on an independent footing.—In the last place; That in many instances where the settlers are both able and willing to support a Minister themselves, they are often at a loss to know how to proceed, or what measures it may be proper to adopt for this purpose; and therefore it seems desirable that a Society should be formed with the view of corresponding with our brethren in the Colonies, and of assisting them by advice and direction in their laudable endeavours to obtain for themselves the means of religious improvement.

When this paper has been duly circulated and considered, it is proposed to call a General Meeting in Glasgow of all who are friendly to the proposed measure, when it is expected that a Society on an extended scale will be duly organised.

It is earnestly requested that Gentlemen interested in the Colonies may be so kind as to intimate their sentiments regarding the subject of this paper, to either of the Interim Secretaries, at the Religious and Charitable Institution Rooms No. 3, South Frederick-street, Glasgow.

Glasgow, January 1, 1825.

[The following addenda were communicated by a Correspondent.] By a letter from one of the Secretaries, accompanying the Circular from which the above extracts are made, it appears that the 31st March, had been fixed on for a General Meeting at Glasgow, but that owing to the absence of the Lord Provost and the intended President, Kirkman Finlay, Esq. M. P. it was postponed for 10 days or a fortnight longer. The Earl of Dalhousie, Governor-in-Chief of the British North American Provinces, had taken a warm interest in the cause and had agreed to preside at the proposed General Meeting. Though from the title given to the Society, it appears to be limited in its objects to Scottish Settlers, yet its plans are intended to embrace all without distinction who adhere to the principles of the Scottish National Church, and it will therefore extend its benefits not only to those strictly belonging to that Establishment who are resident in these Colonies, but also to those who are of the Presbyterian Communion under whatever form or denomination. The only rule to which they will rigidly adhere, is that the Churches whose establishment they will promote, must be strictly in Communion with the Church of Scotland as by Law Established, and that the Clergy appointed by them must be regular bona-fide Scottish Churchmen.

It is desirable that this cause were taken up by the whole Church and connected with the General Assembly, as, in that case, not only would the powerful and wealthy of the land generally be embarked in the cause, but the aid of His Majesty's Government would be afforded, according to the statement of a writer in the Montreal Gazette, of the 16th ult. who says that in reply to a certain application from the General Assembly about 2 years ago, it was intimated that "His Majesty's Government had no objection to grant some assistance to the Clergy of the Church of Scotland in these Colonies thro' the medium of a Society for propagating the Gospel in Foreign parts (in the same manner as they assist the Clergy of the Church of England) wherever the General Assembly could shew that such a Society existed in connexion with them, and would point out the extent to which such Society were prepared to co-operate with them."

The Subscriber has been requested by the Society lately formed in Glasgow for promoting the moral and Religious interests of the Scottish Settlers in British North America, to make it known in this and the neighbouring Provinces, that they will be happy to open a correspondence with any body of Settlers, whose case is recognized in their plan and constitution, and that letters addressed to either of the Interim Secretaries at the Religious and Charitable Institutions Rooms No. 3, South Frederick Street, Glasgow, or at their own residences, will receive immediate attention. The Editors of Newspapers in the Colonies will oblige all concerned by inserting this Notice.
