WHAT A PITY.

Fredericton Deaf and Dumb School Building

ENTIRELY CONSUMED BY FIRE

The Fredericton Deaf and Dumb School building situated a mile below the city on Forest hill, was entirely destroyed by fire Monday night.

The fire broke out in the store room in the basement shortly after 7 o'clock, and before 10 o'clock nothing remained of the splendid structure but the north and south walls and the tall chimney, mute but expressive witnesses of the terrible work of destruction which had almost leveled to the ground a public institution of which the whole province was proud.

The first alarm was given in the city about 8 o'clock, the whistle at the water works and the bells arousing the citizens to the fact that a fire was in progress somewhere within the city's limits. Word soon got around of its location, but the firemen were powerless to render assistance, the school being outside the fire protection limits. In the meantime, fighting men by the hundreds from the mills and many from the city, were battling with the flames, but to no purpose. There were absolutely no appliances with which to fight the fire, and the progress was steady and rapid until 8.30 the flames were leaping through the windows and breaking through the roof. By this time there must have been a thousand people on the spot, and the sight of the beautiful building wrapped in flames "from turret to foundation stone," was at once

Indescribably mournful and magnificent. The vicinity for miles around was illuminated by the blazing structure which looked like a huge bonfire lighted on a hill to celebrate some great victory. The light shone clear across the river, and the burning embers dropped dangerously near many of the wooden buildings near at hand. Soon the roof fell in with a crash, then the rear and front walls followed suit, while the hungry flames licked up every sign of consumable substance, leaving only the two side walls and the chimney, of a building that but three hours before was the home of a happy family, an institution which was doing a grand work for one of the most unfortunate classes of our population.

The only property saved from the conflagration was some of Principal Woodbridge's furniture, and that in a badly shattered condition. All the school furnishings and apparatus, all the pupils' books, much of their clothing and personal effects, as well as those of the principal and his family went up in the fire. The pupils were all in the school room, getting their evening lessons which are given every night from 7 to 8 o'clock, when a loud explosion was heard in the basement. One of the boys ran down, and returned

With the startling information, that the store room was all ablaze, and the excitement of the moment can readily be imagined. The alarm was then given to the neighborhood and men and women came rushing from all directions to the scene. What could be saved was speedily got out, but such rapid headway did the flames take that there was little time to save much beyond the young lives in jeopardy and their immediate belongings.

Principal Woodbridge's son Norman and one or two of the boys were absent from home; they had gone down river in a steam launch and up the Oromocto a few miles for a couple of days outing. What news for the principal, that result of his patient toil of more than a decade had been destroyed in a few hours! He was sent him that night but it was 4 o'clock next morning when he got the information that his home and the institution created by his industry was in ruins. He came home at once reaching the scene of desolation shortly after 7 o'clock and met morning and evening by the reporter shortly afterwards viewing the ruins, with a downcast heart. However, while discouraged he was not despondent. "We must find temporary quarters in the meantime," said he, "and build again. The institution must go on, and the friends who have been so kind in the past will rally to our help."

So also spoke G. T. Whelpley, one of the leading directors of the school, who has taken the Warmest Possible Interest in the success of the institution.

The Principal's family and the pupils are being kindly cared for by the warm-hearted people at the Mills. John A. Morrison, Alonzo Hale, the Ryans, Mr. McKendrick and many others opened their hospitable doors to the unfortunate victims of the fire, until they can be settled in other quarters. The work property and old Government House have been suggested as suitable temporary quarters for the school until a new building can be erected, but nothing definite to that end has been arranged.

The building was insured for $50,000 in the Lancashire company, represented here by A. J. Gregory. It was erected in 1880 at a cost of $13,000, and there was a mortgage on it for $4,000. The government in 1888 made a grant of $1,000 for twelve years, which was expended in this way, was capitalized, a gentleman of means advancing the money and taking the grant, the trustees realizing between $8,000 and $9,000 cash to commence the erection of the building. The government also contribute $500 a year towards the current expenses of the institution and for the rest it depends upon public subscriptions. The school re-opened after the holidays on Sept. 1st with 22 pupils and more were expected within the next few days. It is managed by a board of trustees as follows: Chairman, Sir John Allen; H. C. Cress, Rev. J. McLeod, D. D. H. W. Spurgeon, Rev. Willard McDonald, Charles H. B. Fisher, G. F. Gregory, C. C. Rev. J. D. Freeman, G. T. Whelpley, J. G. McNally, Dr. Crocker, Arthur R. Slipp, Rev. F. C. Hartley, Rev. J. J. Teasdale, Treasurer, Henry Chestnut; Secretary, Rev. Canon Roberts.

The building destroyed was a handsome and substantial brick structure two stories high with mansard roof, and most conveniently fitted up. It had a sewerage and water system, and indeed met all the requirements of the case. The grounds include 100 acres the property of the local government which had also the largest interest in the building.

The outbuildings were unharmed by the fire. Principal Woodbridge's furniture was covered by insurance of $1,000 in the Quebec Co., R. W. L. Tibbitts agent.

A meeting of the directors of the Fredericton Deaf and Dumb Institution was held at the rectory Tuesday afternoon. Those present included Rev. Canon Roberts, T. Whelpley, A. R. Slipp, C. H. B. Fisher, J. W. Spurgeon, Rev. W. Macdonald, Rev.

Mr. Teasdale and Prof. Woodbridge. Rev. Dr. McLeod presided and Canon Roberts was Secretary. The meeting was called to consider the advisability of presenting temporary quarters where the work of the school might be carried on until such time as a new building could be erected. Those present were unanimously of the opinion that a new building should be constructed, but there appeared to be some doubt as to whether or not it would be good policy to build on the site occupied by the old one on account of its being outside of the fire district. All were agreed that temporary quarters should at once be procured, and a committee composed of G. T. Whelpley, H. C. Cress, and Rev. Dr. McLeod, was appointed to interview the chief commissioner regarding old government house, and also the owners of the Wark project at Salamanca. There is some objection to the latter place, on account of its close proximity to the railway track, so it is likely Government house will be selected provided it can be procured.

The committee of the Deaf and Dumb directors appointed to interview the local government regarding the possibility of securing old Government house for the school, met Hon. Mr. Emmerson Wednesday, and were very courteously received by that gentleman, who, however, was not able to give them a definite answer, but promised to lay the matter before his colleagues at the earliest possible moment.

AGAIN UNDER CANVAS.

71st Batt. Go Into Camp for Their Annual Drill.

It looked Monday night as if the gallant 71sters would have had weather Tuesday for the commencement of their annual drill on Forest Square but the morning opened fine, and the little canvas village which has sprung up on the beautiful grounds was erected under the most favorable circumstances, bright sunshine tempered by a friendly breeze. The officers marched were the first up Tuesday morning, Major Lippett, Q. M., and his assistants followed, to this duty, the other tents were erected by the men who are to sleep under them, immediately after their arrival on the grounds.

The two Fredericton companies and St. Mary's company formed up at the drill shed at 10 a.m., and headed by the 1st Battalion band and led by Major Loggie, marched to the canvas grounds via the Queen and St. John streets. The other staff officers with the division were Major Cropley, Surgeon Bridges and Adj. Fisher, and conspicuous among the company officers were the martial figures of Capt. Hawthorn, and Lieuts. Messie and McLeod.

The St. Stephen, Stanley and Fredericton Junction companies reached the grounds at 1.30, Major Loggie and the band also arriving there in.

The Staff.

Following are the staff officers and non-coms. of the battalion under canvas: Commandant, Col. Alexander. Majors, Loggie and Cropley. Paymaster, Major Beckwith. Quarter Master, Major Lippett. Sgt. Major, Springle. Quartermaster Sgt., C. J. Wilson. Paymaster's Clerk, Arthur Fisher. Orderly Room Clerk, R. B. Rossborough. Hospital Sergeant, T. Blaine. Bugle Major, H. Winter.

The Companies and Officers.

The companies and their officers are: No. 1 Co., St. Mary's—Major R. Boone, Lieut. McLeod and Cropley.

No. 2 Co., Keswick—Capt. Burt, Lieuts. Christy and Murray.

No. 3 Co., Stanley—Capt. J. Sanson, Lieut. Howe.

No. 4 Co., Fredericton—Capt. J. H. Hawthorn, Lieuts. Blair and Messie.

No. 5 Co., Fredericton Junction—Major Hartt, Lieut. Thomas.

No. 6 Co., St. Stephen—Capt. Chipman, Lieut. Ryder.

No. 7 Co., Fredericton—Capt. Perkins, Lieuts. McLeod and Lemont.

The noble 71sters, who went under canvas in Forest square Tuesday for the period of twelve days, appear to be getting into their work in good shape, and faithfully discharging the duties required of them by the government. All ranks were astir at an early hour this morning, and ready to fall in for drill at the appointed hour. The non-commissioned officers and men paraded for medical inspection at 7 o'clock, and were given a pretty thorough overhauling by Surgeon Major Bridges. Only one man was found to be under size, and he was ordered to return home.

Wednesday afternoon as the troops were marching in from drill headed by the band, Col. Alexander's horse chided madly, throwing its rider to the ground. Fortunately he was uninjured by the fall.

The sergeants and staff sergeants, who formerly mess with the rank and file, are now allowed to have a mess of their own, and are allowed a marquee for the purpose. One has been organized in Camp Fredericton, and has 30 dining members. Orderly Room Sgt. Rossborough is discharging the duties of caterer. The boys appreciate the change very much.

Fifty Years Ago. President Polk in the White House chair, while Dr. Ayer was Doctor Ayer's Pills, were the only remedy for human weakness. One of the greatest powers of will found in Ayer's Pills I took for my liver, 50 years ago.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills were designed to supply a most purgative to people who had so long injured themselves with other medicines. Being carefully prepared and their ingredients adjusted to the exact needs of the bowels and liver, their popularity was increasing. That this popularity has been maintained is well marked in the medals awarded these pills at the World's Fair 1893.

SEPTEMBER WEDDING.

The Trials of Miss Annie J. Sharkey and M. A. Quigley Celebrated.

St. Dunstan's church was the scene of a very pretty wedding at eight o'clock Thursday, the contracting parties being Miss Josephine, daughter of Owen Sharkey, the veteran dry goods merchant, and M. A. Quigley, B. A., of Athol, Kansas, formerly of Newswank, N. B., and a student of the University of New Brunswick. It was a perfect morning for a wedding, the sun shone clear and bright, and naturally there was a large turnout of people to witness the tying of the sacred knot. Punctually at eight o'clock the bride entered the church, wearing a dress of light blue, and the groom followed in a suit of dark cloth. The bride's veil was of white tulle looped with orange blossoms and osprey. She carried a magnificent shower bouquet of white roses.

Miss Rosa B. Sharkey, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She looked very pretty in a dress of cream colored silk, and wore a hat trimmed with chiffon and white ribbon and lilies of the valley. Her bridal veil was of white tulle looped with orange blossoms and osprey. She carried a magnificent shower bouquet of white roses.

Dr. Howard Fritz, B. A., of St. John, a classmate of the bridegroom at the U. N. B., acted as best man. He discharged the duties of best man.

The channel of the church was very beautifully decorated with natural flowers for the occasion and presented a very attractive appearance. After the wedding ceremony had been performed a nuptial mass was celebrated, and the happy couple were then seated at a table laden with a sumptuous repast.

The bride and party wedding guests, who attended only immediate relatives of the bride and groom, after leaving the church at once repaired to the residence of the bride's father and partook of luncheon.

The bride was the recipient of a magnificent array of costly wedding presents, among which was an Etruscan vase, the gift of the groomsmen. Her present from the bridegroom was a beautiful pendant set with diamonds and pearls. The bridegroom also presented the bridesmaid with a handsome old chain bracelet, and to his best man he gave a scarf pin set with opals.

Mr. and Mrs. Quigley took their departure by the ten o'clock train for St. John followed by the hearty good wishes of a host of friends for their happy journey, and for visiting friends in that city. They will proceed to Newswank, the groom's former home, and thence to Montreal, Niagara Falls, Chicago and other western cities enroute to their new home in Athol.

When they put a man in jail he cannot follow his natural inclinations. He cannot eat what he wants to—he is limited to a very dry diet. Is it not equally true of a dyspeptic? For all of the real enjoyment he gets out of life, he makes up for it in jail. He cannot eat what he likes, he cannot sleep, he suffers much, gets little sympathy. At first, perhaps a little nervousness in the stomach, a little soreness, a little belching and heartburn; headach and biliousness and a foul taste in the mouth in the morning. Chronic constipation is almost inevitable, and means that the body is holding poisons, and the matter that should be gotten rid of is being resorbed into the blood and the whole body. Impurities in the blood may lead to almost any disease. Constipation is the start of it all. Hood's Pile Cure cures constipation, cure it so it stays cured. No other remedy in the world will do that.
