GIRLS WANTED FOR HOME USE

Emigration of Children to Canada is Discussed.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—At the woman workers' conference in Birmingham, Mary Mills read a paper on the emigration of children to Canada. She described the methods adopted by the government inspector, who had assured her that 95 per cent. of the young emigrants turned out well. The placing of children was conducted most business-like and in accordance with legislation; the demand was so greatly in excess of the supply that it was easy to select only the best homes.

J. T. Middlemore, M. P., in the discussion which followed the reading of the papers, said that the movement had been particularly well treated inasmuch as they had sent 4,000 children to Canada. They did not send them to rich establishments where they would drop to the level of the kitchen.

Mrs. Sheldon Amos urged that they should not be in too great a hurry to send away girls and young children. Are we, she asked, going to have celibate bishops telling us to bear more children and then have to send them off in shiploads to Canada?

A London engineer of high standing in his profession, who has just returned from Canada, speaks highly of the efficiency of the iron work mills at Sydney, and Sault Ste. Marie. They, he says, equal anything in the same class in this country or the United States.

Diseases of Women OFTEN DUE TO Deranged Kidneys

When the Kidneys are Weak it is Impossible for Any Woman to be Happy or Healthy.

If the girls and women who are silently suffering with what they suppose is "female trouble," would look to their kidneys they would soon find the source of their ill-health.

The kidneys are very closely allied with the female organs, and if the vitality of the kidneys is in any way impaired, great suffering is sure to occur.

No better medicine is known for the kidneys than Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut; they stimulate and strengthen the kidneys and thereby assist the other organs to do nature's work. Instant benefit and certain cure are guaranteed in every case.

Sufferer, don't wait, begin treatment with Dr. Hamilton's Pills at once; they will cure you as they did Mrs. A. B. Coburn, a well-known resident of the town of Portland. Read her experience:

"For two years past I have been sickly and weak. My color was dull and sallow, and I felt exhausted and weary, as if all my strength were being eaten up with some hidden trouble. I heard of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and decided to use them. The change in a few days was surprising. They regulated my kidneys and bowels and cured all my suffering; today I am perfectly well."

Every woman can take Dr. Hamilton's Pills with safety and benefit. Their occasional use keeps the system in healthy, well regulated order. No medicine more gentle or more prompt in results. Now is the time to get Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

REV. A. H. LAVERS DEAD IN MILLTOWN, ME.

He Was One of the Best Known Baptist Clergymen in the Provinces.

Rev. Alfred H. Lavers, pastor of the Baptist church at Milltown, Maine, and very well known in the maritime provinces, where he spent nearly all his life, died at his home in Milltown on Monday night. He had at times complained of feeling unwell, but was not suffering from any serious illness, and his rather sudden death came as a great shock to his friends.

Rev. Mr. Lavers came of a famous old Baptist family, being the grandson of Rev. Harris Harding, or Father Harding, as he was known, one of the most prominent clergymen of the denomination during the earlier half of last century. He was a son of the late Henry and Mehitabele Lavers, and was born at Yarmouth, N. S., upwards of sixty years ago. When a young man Mr. Lavers spent a few years in teaching, and was ordained at Port Medway, N. S., in 1876. He took charge of that circuit, and since then in the course of his ministry had been stationed at Arcadia, N. S., North River, P. E. I., Port Elgin, Sackville, and St. George, N. B., and finally at Milltown, Me. In all these places he carried on a most successful work.

Rev. Mr. Lavers leaves a widow and two daughters. He is also survived by three brothers: Thomas B. Lavers of St. John, H. H. Lavers and Charles W. Lavers of Boston. Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Lavers went last evening to Milltown to attend the funeral, which will be held there on Thursday.

HUNTERS STALK MATING DEER.

Love Season of Dainty Antlered Creatures Brings Record Travel to Maine to Get Surer Shots.

(Boston Herald.)

NORCROSS, Me., Oct. 30.—It is when the jack deer seek their mates that the huntsmen anticipate the best shooting of the Maine open season. That period comes when the frost touches up the dead leaves with a fringe of white, and the morning and evening breezes tinge the huntsmen's noses and cheeks with a flare of scarlet, while an occasional flurry of snow sprinkles a thin powder over the prostrate logs. Usually the symptoms are observed before Nov. 1, but this year the cloudless skies have permitted the sun to keep back for a while the first indications of winter's prowess. Therefore the love season of the dainty antlered creatures has been delayed and the sportsmen have been somewhat at a disadvantage, for when a healthy buck finds the doe of his choice he is prepared to defend her against all comers, and the approach of a gunner will not start him from her side, as is the case earlier in the season before affection gives additional courage.

The more enthusiastic sportsmen prefer by far to have a nip from frosty air, with the improved opportunities of a shot, than to accept more comfortable conditions earlier in October, when the deer are anxious to get away, and the consequence is that not only better results accrue, but bigger animals with better antlers are brought down. There have been several severe frosts in the woods already.

During the mating season the bucks are very pugnacious, and stories have frequently been told of how they lock their horns until one or the other, or perhaps both, die from exhaustion or a neck is broken. As a matter of fact, however, when two bucks are engaged in mortal combat they do more than lock their horns. They fight with their feet and plunge and kick, until a well directed blow from one has silenced his adversary.

An old-time guide told a representative of the Boston Herald that he frequently had found bodies of bucks with their hides punctured in dozens of places, and it is quite common for hunters to locate on deer they have shot the wicked looking marks made by the hoofs of a rival.

Last year up in the Allagash county the carcasses of two moose were found with the antlers locked and with both necks broken. That must have been a battle royal, indeed, as it is seldom that both contestants die.

The moose mating season is about at an end when the November frosts chill the air, but that of the deers is then just beginning, so the combination of events make the 11th month the best of the year from the gunners' standpoint.

SUSSEX NEARLY HAD A SERIOUS FIRE.

House and Barn at Sussex Corner Destroyed—Other Residents Narrowly Escaped—Horse Burned.

SUSSEX, N. B., Nov. 1.—What might have been a serious fire occurred at Sussex Corner at an early hour this morning. The house and barn owned by Mrs. T. C. Howard and known as the old Howard property, were completely destroyed by fire. The house had been occupied for some years by Roland Brewing, who with his family moved to Picadilly yesterday. A horse and pig owned by Mr. Brewing were burned with the barn. It is supposed the fire caught from hot ashes left in the woodshed. Fortunately no wind was blowing, but as there is no water supply at the Corner it was feared at one time that the residence of Thomas Kyle and the parsonage of the Reformed Episcopal church would be destroyed. Mrs. Howard's loss is partly insured.

The property was insured for $1,000 in the National of Ireland.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S MESSAGE TO PRINCE.

OTTAWA, Oct. 31.—The governor general received the following message by Marconi wireless from Admiral Prince Louis on board H. M. S. Drake, now at sea:

"Before the shores of Canada disappear from view I desire, on behalf of the captains, officers and men of the second cruiser squadron, to thank our Canadian fellows of all classes, through your excellency, for their hearty and hospitable welcome during the last three months and a half, and which makes us leave these shores with genuine regret, and a hope that it may be our good fortune to be sent once more across the Atlantic.

"LOUIS BATTENBERG,
"Rear Admiral."

OTTAWA, Nov. 1.—The Governor General telegraphed from Kippewa the following message to Prince Louis of Battenberg, addressed to him at Annapolis, Md.: I will have much pleasure in conveying direct to Sir Wilfred Laurier and to the people of Canada, through the press, your message, which they will much appreciate, in common with all our Canadian fellow subjects, who have been so fortunate as to meet you, your officers and men. I cordially reciprocate your hope that duty may cause you soon to return to Canadian waters.

OTTAWA, Oct. 30.—Smart Yankees are endeavoring to secure advantage of the preference given to Canadian products in South Africa by marking their goods "made in Canada." It did not take the South African colonies long to discover the fraud, and the customs union of the colonies, according to a report received by the trade deparent from Agent Kittson at Cape Town, has promulgated strict regulations which will put a stop to the practice.
